Something I received from a friend; thought it would bring at least a smile to your day! Hope you enjoy as much as I did! Read on . . .

Maya Angelou was interviewed by Oprah one day. She really is a marvel who has led quite an interesting and exciting life.

She was asked by Oprah what she thought of growing older and there on television, she said it was exciting. There were so many things occurring everyday to marvel at...like her breasts. They seem to be in a race for her waist... and one day, one would be in the lead and another day, it would be the other in the lead. The entire audience laughed so hard they cried. She is such a simple and honest woman...with so much wisdom in her words.

by Maya Angelou

When I was in my younger days, I weighed a few pounds less, I needn't hold my tummy in to wear a belted dress. But now that I am older, I've set my body free; There's comfort of elastic where once my waist would be. Inventor of those high-heeled shoes, my feet have not forgiven; I have to wear a nine now, but used to wear a seven. And how about those pantyhose—they're sized by weight, you see, So how come when I put them on, the crotch is at my knee? I need to wear these glasses, as the print's been getting smaller; And it wasn't very long ago, I know that I was taller. Though my hair has turned to gray and my skin no longer fits, On the inside, I'm the same old me, It's the outside's changed a bit.

But, on a positive note...

l've learned that no matter what happens, or how bad it seems today, life does go on, and it will be better tomorrow. I've learned that you can tell a lot about a person by the way he/she handles these three things: a rainy day, lost luggage, and tangled! Christmas tree lights.

I've learned that regardless of your relationship with your parents, you'll miss them when they're gone from your life.

I've learned that making a "living" is not the same thing as making a "life."

I've learned that life sometimes gives you a second chance.

I've learned that you shouldn't go through life with a catcher's mitt on both hands.

You need to be able to throw something back.

I've learned that whenever I decide something with an open heart, I usually make the right decision.

I've learned that even when I have pains, I don't have to be one. I've learned that every day you should reach out and touch someone.

People love a warm hug, or just a friendly pat on the back.

I've learned that I still have a lot to learn.

I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel.

If you want to make their day and yours, send this to five phenomenal women today. If you do, something good will happen.......... You will boost another woman's self esteem. If you don't ... the elastic will break and your panty hose will fall down around your ankles.

TDO you forget where you parked and worry that it's early senility—or a more serious condition? You can have peace of mind:

How To Keep Your Memory Strong

Everyone's brain

ARSHA LYNCH'S FEARS grew with every passing day. "I'm 58 years old," says the owner of a safari company in La Jolla, Calif. "I couldn't remember, when I came out of a building, whether to go left or right, or where I parked my car. I panicked. I was scared it was Alzheimer's." Lynch's memory problems became so serious that she feared she might inadvertently cause harm to her clients—Americans who hire her to arrange their travel in Tanzania. "I was dealing with experiences normal people's lives," she says. "I was wear and tear, worried."

As Lynch discovered, such disorientation can be emotionally devastating. "One of the symptoms we often see in patients with memory problems is depression," says Dr. Gayatri Devi, a New York memory specialist. Although people often joke about so-called "senior moments," experts say they may secretly fear that something more sinister is happening.

In fact, everyone has minor memory lapses—and they do increase with age. The reason is simple: The brain experiences normal wear and tear, just as the rest of the body does. "Imagine you had an old set of stereo speakers," says Dr. Rudolph Tanzi, a geneticist at Massachusetts General Hospital. "Dust gets in them, the kids poke things into the grill, people drop them. Eventually, the circuitry starts to deteriorate. That's what goes on in the brain." But the normal brain has this marvelous ability called "compensatory regeneration": Cells in the neighborhood of injured cells send out new growth to take up the slack.

Most memory problems fall into a few common categories. Dr. Deborah Burke of California's Pomona College studies what psychologists call "tip of the tongue > experiences," or TOTs. These occur when you attempt to summon a word or name you know but just can't projust as the rest duce it. "The norof the body does. mal word-finding problem will be the name of a person you don't know very well or haven't seen for a while, or a rare word," says Dr. Burke. She stresses that such problems are transitory and no cause for concern; the word you're searching for will probably surface within a half hour, sometimes after you've heard or seen another word with the same sound or similar letters.

Burke's solution when she has trouble putting names to the faces of people she sees only infrequently: "I say to myself—out loud—the names of the people I'm likely to see at a party before I go. That makes it more likely that I'll remember them."

ON'T FORGET T

- PLAY MIND GAMES, Puzzles and games are a useful way to keep the mind agile and the memory strong. Do crosswords, anagrams and word games. Taking courses in unfamiliar subjects can help too.
- REPEAT, REPEAT, If you have consistent trouble remembering a word, name or concept, the solution is to say it aloud to yourself often.
- WRITE IT DOWN. Don't rely too much on your memory alone. Make lists, use Post-it Notes, leave voice-mail messages for yourself, establish as many routines as possible.

Exercise your brain with crossword puzzles.

Another experience everybody has is forgetting the whereabouts of objects, such as car keys or glasses. "This seems to be a different mechanism from TOTs," says Dr. Burke. "For example, with losing the keys, you may have been distracted when you set them down, so that you never formed an adequate memory trace in the first place."

Simply training yourself always to put your keys or glasses in the same place solves the problem of putting them down absent-mindedly and losing them. The late psychologist B.F. Skinner solved his chronic umbrellalosing problem by always hanging the umbrella on his doorknob.

In Marsha Lynch's case, the problem was more serious but treatable. "We see a lot of women patients with menopausal memory loss," says Dr. Devi. The hormone estrogen-which decreases in menopause—affects the hippocampus, a part of the brain involved with memory functions. The problem usually can be corrected by adjusting the level of estrogen. (Men who lose the hormone testosterone also may experience memory loss.) After beginning hormonereplacement therapy and undergoing a treatment that involved memorizing lists of words and numbers to sharpen her recall, Lynch reports that she's improving. "My confidence is back," she says.

This type of memory loss is unrelated to more severe problems, such as is in Alzheimer's or the form of confusion ;end sometimes related to stroke. The symp- &. toms of the early stages of serious mem-few ory loss are distinct. They may involve urke forgetting not just recent events, such as dies where you put your keys, but also facts igue and words that should be embedded deep in long-term memory. "The problem is cur not if you forget where your keys are," says Dr. Susan Kemper, a psychology professor at the University of Kansas, "it's if you forget what keys are for."

If you have persistent memory problems-serious enough to cause you concern—consult a specialist. Almost every university medical center in the U.S. has a memory clinic. If you don't have access to one, many family practitioners can perform a 10-minute test called an MMSE, which can isolate problems and guide further treatment.

Currently, medical treatment for memory loss is targeted primarily for Alzheimer's disease. But people suffering from minor memory problems coucan be helped by cognitive drills or a reofew simple practices (see box above).

Memory experts are upbeat about what 'the they can do for patients today—and what arty they'll be able to do in the future. "This cely sounds strange, but there has never been a better time to have a memory problem," ued says Devi. "It's like having pneumonia after the discovery of penicillin.

Conditions Governing Loans

Care. Preservation and Exhibition

- 1. The Museum will give to objects borrowed the same care it does comparable property of its own. It is understood by the Lender and Museum that all tangible objects are subject to gradual deterioration for which neither party is responsible.
- 2. Damage at the time of receipt or while in the Museum's custody will be reported immediately to the Lender.
- 3. The Museum will not repair, restore, or in any way alter an object without the Lender's written permission.
- 4. The Museum retains the right to determine when, if, and for how long objects borrowed will be exhibited. The Museum retains the right to cancel the loan upon reasonable notice to the Lender.

Transportation and Packaging:

- 1. The Lender certifies that the objects lent are in such condition to withstand ordinary strains of packing, transportation and handling. A written report of the condition of objects prior to shipment may be sent by the Lender to the Museum. Otherwise, it will be assumed that objects are received in the same condition as when leaving the Lender's possession. Condition records will be made at the Museum on arrival and departure.
- 2. Typically costs of transportation and packing will be borne by the Museum unless otherwise stated. The method of shipment must be agreed upon by both parties.
- 3. The Lender will assure that said objects are adequately and securely packed for the type of shipment agreed upon, including any special instructions for unpacking and repacking. Objects will be returned packed in the same or similar materials as received unless otherwise authorized by the Lender.

Insurance:

- 1. Objects will be insured for the amount specified herein by the Museum under its "all-risk" wall-to-wall policy subject to the standard exclusions. Insurance will be placed in the amount specified by the Lender herein which must reflect fair market value. If the Lender fails to indicate an amount, the Museum, with the implied concurrence of the Lender, will set a value for purposes of insurance. Said value is NOT to be considered an appraisal.
- 2. If Insurance is waived by the Lender, this waiver shall constitute the agreement of the Lender to release and hold harmless the Museum from any liability for damages to or loss of the loan property.
- 3. The amount payable by insurance secured in accordance with this loan agreement is the sole recovery available to the Lender from the Museum in the event of loss or damage.

Reproduction and Credit:

1. Unless otherwise indicated on the loan agreement, the Museum may photograph or reproduce the objects lent for educational, catalog and publicity purposes. Unless otherwise indicated, the Museum may continue to use images of loaned objects for publicity/promotional purposes after the loan period has expired. It is understood that objects on exhibit may be photographed by the general public. Unless otherwise specified in writing, the Museum will give credit to the Lender as specified on the face of this agreement in any publications. Whether individual labels are provided for objects on display is at the discretion of the Museum.

Change in Ownership and/or Address:

1. It is the responsibility of the Lender to notify the Museum promptly in writing if there is any change in ownership of the objects or if there is a change in the identity or address of the Lender. The Museum assumes no responsibility to search for a Lender (or Owner) who cannot be reached at the address of record.

Return of Loans

- 1. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, a loan terminates on the date specified on the face of this agreement. If no date is specified, the loans should be for a reasonable amount of time, but in no event to exceed three years. Upon termination of a loan the Lender is on notice that a return or renewal must be effected, or else a gift of objects will be inferred.
- 2. Objects will be returned only to the Lender or to a location mutually agreed upon in writing by the Museum and the Lender. In case of uncertainty, the Museum reserves the right to require a Lender/claimant to establish title.
- 3. When the loan is returned (if shipped), the Museum will send the Lender a receipt form. If this form is not signed and returned within thirty days after mailing, the Museum will not be responsible for any damage or loss.
- 4. If the Museum's efforts to return objects within a reasonable period following the termination of the loan are unsuccessful, then the objects will be maintained at the Lender's risk and expense. If the objects have not been claimed, then and in consideration for maintenance and safeguarding, the Lender/Owners shall be deemed to have made the objects an unrestricted gift to the Museum.
- 5. This loan agreement shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Illinois and the United States of America.

Dear Mrs Cheery!

On June 2nd, the Early American Museum will join with the National Council of Negro Women to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Champaign County Chapter of NCNW and together we will recognize the lasting contributions of Champaign County African American women. This pictorial tribute titled This Legacy Is Yours will recognize area women as church leaders, business owners, educators, musicians and artists, and social reformers past and present.

You have been identified as one of the women we must recognize and we respectfully request your participation in this very special exhibit. The "legacy wall" will feature both your photo and your biography. Won't you please consider sharing your story with the Champaign County community? We will need a photo that we can reproduce and a paragraph on your work in the community no later than May 9th. We will be pleased to pick up your material and we will copy your photo and return it to you once it has been reproduced. The museum will feature this exhibit through September 30th.

Please note also that a reception in honor of Mary McLeod Bethune, founder of the National Council of Negro Women has been scheduled for Saturday, July 7th from 1-3 p.m. with guest speaker, Anne Roosevelt, grand-daughter of Franklin Delano and Eleanor Roosevelt. Ms. Roosevelt will talk about Eleanor Roosevelt's friendship with Ms. Bethune and their efforts toward social reform.

We do look forward to hearing from you and the opportunity to share the many ways our community has benefitted from the work of area women such as you! Please call either Cheryl Kennedy, museum director at 586-2612 or Doris Hoskins, exhibit coordinator at 328-1987 to let us know when we might pick up your material.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Kennedy

Mary McLeod Bethune, a woman of faith and vision, recognized the need for women to work in unity in order to deal with complex problems. She founded the NCNW in 1935.

OUR PLEDGE

It is our pledge to make a lasting contribution to all that is finest and best in America, to cherish and enrich her heritage of freedom and progress by working for the integration of all her people regardless of race, creed, or national origin, into her spiritual, social, cultural, civic, and economic life, and thus aid her to achieve the glorious destiny of a true and unfettered democracy.

National Headquarters

633 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W. Washington, D.C. 20004

Membership Inquiries P.O. Box 90960 Washington, D.C. 20090-0960 Commitment, unity and self-reliance are underlying concepts as NCNW creates innovative vital human service programs to:

- Sustain a campaign against hunger and malnutrition;
- · Counsel and prepare youth for the world of work;
- Introduce and service Black and Hispanic youth and adults in health careers;
- Provide community-based alternatives to detention for young women in conflict with the law;
- · Inform women of their rights in housing and employment;
- Face not just the symptoms, but the causes and supports needed in teenage pregnancy and parenthood;
- Open doors for the advancement of women in education and management;
- · Develop unique programs in child care advocacy;
- Build the capacity to work in partnership with the poorest majority in Africa and other parts of the world; and
- Compile and preserve historical contributions of Black women individually and collectively.

NCNW affiliated national organizations are forging new patterns of unity by developing a national collaboration for children and youth. Through NCNW the needs and aspirations of Black women and their families are represented on Capitol Hill and the United Nations.

Dear Member:

Here is your new NCNW Membership Card. Thanks for taking an active part in a movement of women in all walks of life who seek to use their collective power to open doors of opportunity, to sustain growth, to extend service, and provide effective advocacy for equality and justice.

Dear Member.

We thank you for your continued support of America's largest organization for African American women, families and communities.

Your membership card is enclosed. Please carry it with you at all times as a personal reminder of your affirmed commitment to the NCNW mission.

There are many rewards to your membership in NCNW. Not the least of these is your satisfaction in knowing you are helping us improve the lives of African American women and their families all over America.

Through NCNW programs such as our African American Women's Health Initiative, the mentoring Program, and our Fannie Lou Hamer Day Care Center, you – and we – are providing real help for people who need it.

In addition, we are providing health, education, and economic development help to women in Africa through the NCNW International Development Center.

Of course, your membership also gives you some tangible personal benefits. You are entitled to all services and programs which NCNW sponsors, designed to save you many dollars in the years ahead. We will be notifying you of these benefits on a regular basis.

Your continued support of NCNW remains important to us, and we appreciate you very much.

Sincerely,

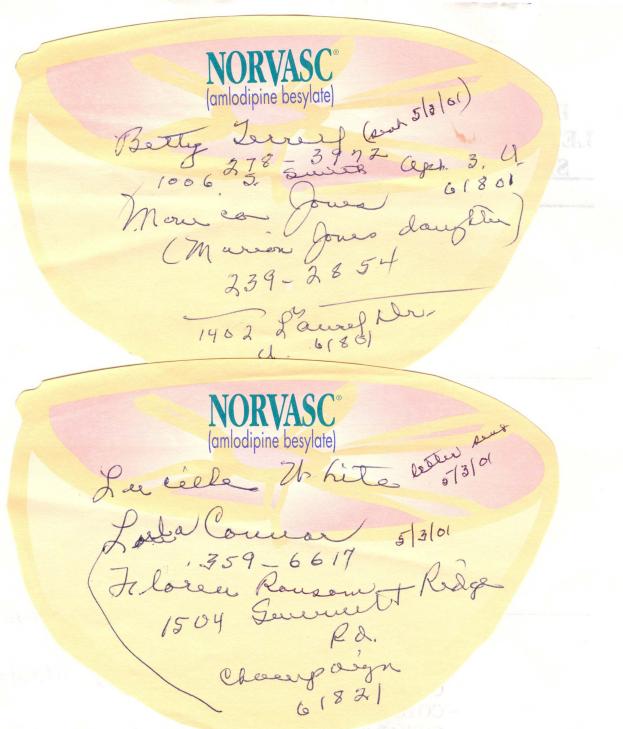

Dorothy I. Height

Chair

P.S. Please do not hesitate to call our membership services representatives toll free at 1(800) 808-4517, if you have any questions or suggestions regarding NCNW membership services. If you would like additional information on benefits, please call this toll free number 1(800) 808-4514.

Moving Forward . 20 Years Leave No One Behind 1981 - 2001

Founded in 1981 the National the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. observed it's Twentieh Year Anniversary July 2001.

A celebration was held at the Early American Museum, in Mahomet, Illinois honoring our founder Mary McLeod Bethune and African American women who have made a contribution in our community. We were honored to have Anne Roosevelt, the at grand daughter of President Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt as our guest speaker.

The local section of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. was organized by Mrs Odessa in 1981 with an idea in mind to pursue the goal to "Leave No One Behind" and strive to help improve the quality of life for African American women, children and their families.

Through the years we have contributed to the United NegroCollege Fund; The Martin Luther King, Jr. Scholarship Fund; The Sister Mary Gabriel Curby Fund at Provena Covenant Medical Center to help those in need of medical assistance; The Annual Cotillion Ball, sponsored by the Gamma Upsilon Psi, to help young ladies pursue a higher level of education; The Women's Safe House and the Women's Fund to name a few and when funds permit we respond to many request for financial aid from the community.

The times demand that we draw strength from our 20 years of struggle and engage ourselves in making a difference in the lives of African American women and their families. Strong families beget strong families.

Together we can make a lasting contribution to all that is finest and best in our community.

I call upon the elected officials of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women to come forward and pledge allegiance to the Organization, (The Officers assume their positions).

INSTALLER: To the newly elected Officers: Are you ready to assume the Office to which you have been elected; and to pledge your fidelity and service at the highest level?

(Answer: We Are)

Please repeat after me:

We, the elected Officers of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women fully assume the responsibilities entailed by the holding of Office in this Organization. Further, we promise to act together in harmony with each other and with those in authority.

INSTALLER: And now let me present the (newly) elected Treasurer.

The Office of Treasurer is an important one. It is the Treasurer who can best advise the President and other Officers of the Organization's financial resources.

I now install you as the Treasurer of this Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

INSTALLER: Now let me present to you the (newly) elected Recording Secretary.

You will be writing a most important document - the minutes of ALL meetings of the whole section's membership and of any special meetings called by the Executive Committee.

I now install you as the Recording Secretary of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

INSTALLER: Let me present to you the (newly) elected Financial Secretary.

To you is entrusted the duty of maintaining records of membership. And be ready to submit a complete and accurate account of dues. The services you render are vital to the life of this Organization.

I now install	you as Financial	Secretary of	the Champaign	County	Section of	the National Council of	NegroWomen.

INSTALLER: And now permit me to present the (newly) elected Second Vice-President.

To you is interested the duty of membership chairperson. You shall preside in the absence of the First Vice and President and assume other duties as designated by the President.

I now install you as Second Vice-President of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

And now permit me to present the (newly) elected First Vice-President.

You have been elected to the second highest office in the Organization, and you must be ready to assist the President in all of her endeavors. You must be prepared to assume the duties of the President when the need arises. Therefore, it is most important that you have thorough knowledge of our By-laws as well as Parliamentary Procedure.

I now install you as First Vice-president of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

I now have the honor of presenting the President of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

You have been elected to the highest Office of this Organization. ((The special character of this Office is that the President is the direct representative of the State and National President committed to carry out the programs in harmony with their directives.))

As President you shall preside at all of the meetings, enforce the rules of the local Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women. You must strive to preserve the important traditions of the National Council of Negro Women, but do not be afraid to venture into new areas that will add to the interest and progress of the Organization.

May the Spirit of God guide you and may you be blessed with loyalty, devotion and cooperation of ALL the members who have placed their confidence in you.

I now present you with this gavel and install you as the President of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

I congratulate all of you!

TO THE MEMBERS PRESENT: Please stand and pledge your support to the newly installed Officers.

Please repeat after me: We, the members of the Champaign County Section of the National Council of Negro Women pledge our allegiance to our newly installed Officers. We promise to do all we can for the good of our Organization by our support.

Let us conclude with this installation of Officers with a prayer by our Chaplain.

The Black National Anthem

Lift Every Voice and Sing

Lift every voice and sing till earth and heaven ring. Ring with the harmonies of liberty
Let our rejoicing rise, high as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us,
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod, bitter the chastening rod, Felt in the days when hope unborn had died, Yet with a steady beat, have not our weary feet, come to the place for which our fathers sighed? We have come over away that with tears have been watered. We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered Out from the gloomy past, till now we stand at last Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast. God of our weary years, God of our silent tears Thou who hast brought us thus far on the way; Thou who hast by Thy might led us into the light, Keep us forever in the path we pray. Lest, our heart's drunk with the wine of the world, We forget Thee Shadowed beneath Thy hand, May we forever stand True to our God True to our native land.

Council honors its founder, other black wor

Grandchild of former first lady speaks to group

By ERNST LAMOTHE JR. News-Gazette Staff Writer

MAHOMET — The lives of two former first ladies were the backdrop for honoring the achievements of black women.

The National Council of Negro Women and the Early American Museum in Mahomet Saturday highlighted Eleanor Roosevelt and Mary McLeod Bethune, founder of the organization.

Bethune, who would have celebrated a birthday on Saturday, was often called the first lady of the organization, and the council wanted to remember her lists of accomplishments.

As a political and social leader, Bethune fought for child welfare, women's rights and the plight of blacks during the 1900s.

She spanned the United States spreading her message, which also resulted in meetings with four different presidents in the White House.

Anne Roosevelt, the grand-daughter of President Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, spoke to more than 80 women about the friend-ship shared by her famous grandmother and Bethune.

"When they looked at each other, I envisioned a relationship where my grandmother saw herself in Mary (Bethune)," she said.

Roosevelt was invited to speak by Cheryl Kennedy, the director of the museum. Her speech mirrored the chapter's theme of "This Legacy is Yours."

Homemade quilts sewn by members from the organization and pictures sampling black female leaders in Champaign County served as colorful scenery for Roosevelt's speech.

A legacy wall was constructed in the museum to emphasize the stamp that these women placed on the community as role models for future generations.

"This legacy is mine as well and I claim these women as examples to show my children," said Roosevelt, who received a crystal jar and a red and white corsage after her speech.

The National Council of Negro Women had a birthday of its own as the Champaign County chapter celebrated 20 years in the area.

The group focuses on helping black women to improve the quality of life for themselves, families and their community.

Nationally, various chapters have reached and continued the message of empowerment to four million women. The nonprofit organization also raises money for several academic funds, such as the Martin Luther King Scholarship.

President Ruthie Hillsman recognized the dual significance of the event.

"It was time to recognize the lasting contribution and influence of many African-American women," said Hillsman. "The exposure in a community like Mahomet is important for creating diversity."

Organizers wanted the achievements of black women and the message of bridging racial gaps to be as intertwined as Eleanor Roosevelt and Mary McLeod Bethune.

As she closed her speech, Roosevelt went back to the two people who carried the torch of the women's movement well after suffrage was granted.

"It was just a pleasure to help honor these two great women as organizers, political activists and friends," she said.

Exhibit, This Legacy is Yours, opens at EAM

We have some stories of achievement to pass on! The missionary society of Bethel church is named for her. She became a mother figure to countless children throughout the community. She's always out in the community doing something for someone. Many children refer to her as "The Book Lady." She has worked hard to get drugs and violence out of her neighborhood. She has endeared herself to her students, some of whom are parents of her students today. These are but a few of the observations you will discover in the biographies of 80 African American women featured at the Early American Museum in Mahomet this summer, a mere sampling of the contributions made by all women in government, the arts, education and in the economic, cultural and political life of Champaign County.

This Legacy is Yours: Celebrating the Lasting Contributions of African American Women opened June 2nd and will remain on display through September 30th.

It is a joint project of the Early American Museum and the National Council of Negro

Women and marks the beginning of the 20th anniversary of the local chapter of NCNW.

In addition, this exhibit includes a number of quilts representing life experiences and memories shared.

I was reminded that it's not what you have, but what you do with what you have that makes a difference. Countless private decisions such as this one, framed the lives of these women and all who contribute to the life of the community. You will truly be amazed at what you will learn from those who have been willing to share their story and experiences with others.

The Early American Museum, a facility of the Champaign County Forest Preserve District, is located in Lake of the Woods, Mahomet, Illinois. The museum is open 10-5 daily. Admission is free. Due to park construction, you must take exit #172 on I-74 to reach the museum. For further information, please call 217-586-2612.

Anne Roosevelt Helps Early American Museum Celebrate

"I feel like I did as a child at Val-Kill, my grandmother's home . . . surrounded by friendly strangers, warmed by their welcome." That's what Anne Roosevelt, granddaughter of Franklin D. and Eleanor, said on a recent visit to the Early American Museum. Roosevelt came to speak to a reception for the National Council of Negro Women's local chapter on July 7th. Over 80 visitors sat rapt as Roosevelt spoke
