

Shifting Gears:

Collaborative Planning for Our Community's New Response to Families in Crisis

Provider Training

Wednesday, May 9, 2012 9am - 12pm
The Holiday Inn
1001 West Killarney Street Urbana, IL 61801

This training will be hands on and solution focused, designed to provide attendees with the tools they need to increase their effectiveness.

This free training will include:

- Ways to more effectively respond to families with youth in crisis in a trauma-informed way
- A unique opportunity to hear families describe what they wish law enforcement and social service providers would understand about the needs of families and how they define crisis
- Information used nationally about the best practices used in partnering with parents for more effective outcomes
- Ways that crisis can be used as a catalyst for families

Training will be provided by Kim Williams, Family Involvement Content Specialist with the National Technical Assistance Partnership

To register please RSVP to Karen Simms at ksimms@access-initiative.org
