WEDDING OF G. H. NAGEL AND JESSIE HAMMOND DELAYED.

John A. Swanson and Miss Mabel Exton Merry—John L. Sprague and Miss Belle Anderson—Out of Town Couples United.

A marriage license issued August 9, 1910, to George H. Nagel of Columbus, O., and Miss Jessie Margaret Hammond of this city, was not utilized until Sunday afternoon when the couple were united by Justice T. W. McHugh. The latter did not notice the date on the license until his attention has been called to it by a newspaper reporter. Of course the document is perfectly good, but such delay is unusual.

Mr. Nagel is a clerk, twenty-four years old. His bride is a daughter of T. Hammond of this city. The wedding ceremony was witnessed by Miss Adella and Harry Hammond.

Swanson-Exton

Mr. John A. Swanson of Champaign and Miss Mabel A. Exton of this city were united in marriage at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Exton, 804 South Vine street, the ceremony being performed quietly by Dr. Charles B. Taylor, former superintendent of the Champaign district of the Illinois M. E. conference. The newly married couple are now on a trip to Michigan and will live in Champaign upon their return.

The groom is window trimmer for W. Lewis & Co. and the bride was formerly employed by that firm as a saleslady.

Sprague-Anderson.

A surprise wedding was that of Mr. John Lincoln Sprague of Champaign and Miss Belle Anderson of this city, solemnized at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. William M. Ealy, at the latter's home. The young people were attended by Mr. Raymond Campbell and Miss Nora Anderson, the latter sister of the bride.

The new Mrs. Sprague is a daughter of Mrs. Susie Anderson, and was born and reared in this city. She was formerly bookkeeper at W. J. Rock's electrical supply house.

The groom, formerly employed as blacksmith at the Big Four shops, now holds a similar position with the Illinois Central Railroad Co. in Champaign. The young people have gone to housekeeping at the corner of Edwin and Washington streets in that city.

Herrigan United Two Couples.

Mr. Walter Connard, aged 21, and Miss Ada Jones, 18, both of Elwin, Ill., were united in marriage late Saturday afternoon by Justice John W. Herrigan at the latter's office. The groom is a farmer.

On the same afternoon Justice Herrigan was called upon to marry Mr. Philip C. Wiegel and Miss Toste Saunders, both aged 30 and both of Danville. This groom is also a farmer.

Church Wedding Tuesday.

William A. Pfeffer, a prominent young farmer of the Seymour vicinity, was in Urbana today to secure a license to wed Miss Agnes M. Klein of Champaign. The ceremony will be performed at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. John's Catholic church, Rev. Father E. A. Jakob observing nuptial mass. The services will be largely attended and the ceremony elaborate.

Mrs. Robert Wallis will entertain the Urbana Cooking Club at her home 503 Indiana avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

Section No. 3 of the Eastern Star will entertain this evening in honor of Mrs. Gustafson and Miss Nelle Rough-ton.

The ladies of the Grand Army will hold a door yard picnic Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hendrick's 26 Healey Street.

Saturday-morning. The remains were taken to Sidney Sunday morning. Dared to drink whisky by men with whom he was employed, two years ago, the boy had since been a confirmed drunkard.

Excavate for Lagoon.
Excavation for a lagoon at Crystal lake park is in progress. The new body of water will be at the eastern foot of the hill, extending three hundred feet west of that elevation and about two hundred feet north of the stream at a point just east of the boat house. It has been suggested that the lagoon be fitted for a swimming pool, but Prof. J. C. Blair, member of the board of park commissioners, opposes the plan.

CALL ANOTHER MEETING TUESDAY

INTERURBAN DIRECTORS APPEAL TO PUBLIC SPIRIT.

Five Thousand Dollars Subscribed Since Thursday's Night's Meeting—Band Volunteers its Services.

A second mass meeting will be held at the court house Tuesday evening in the hope that by that time Urbana people shall have been brought to the realization that the chance of a lifetime to anchor this city to the map is slipping away. About $5,000 worth of stock in the Kankakee-Urbana Interurban Co. has been sold since the meeting Thursday night, raising the total subscription to $80,000—a large sum but not $150,000 by a long shot.

Band Donates Services.

The Commercial club band, with the permission of the musicians' union, has volunteered its services free of charge and will play at the court house entrance before the meeting. Every public spirited citizen is urged to come out, whether or not he is able to invest. Financial support is what counts but moral support helps and every man can boost if nothing else. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock. It was suggested that if held at the Illinois theatre, but the directors wish to make the meeting as informal as possible and this cannot be done by speaking from a stage. The circuit court room has been secured and the promoters want to see it packed.

Neighbors Have Trouble.

When Frank Ater's cow strayed into Mrs. Mary Gilmer's garden, Mathews avenue and Champaign streets, and returned home with the hair on half her body missing, he charged Mrs. Gilmer with having applied the hair remover and swore out a warrant charging his aged neighbor with cruelty to animals. Officer Linstrum served the warrant this afternoon and Mrs. Gilmer, being very feeble, was given a ride downtown in the patrol wagon. The hearing was in progress before Justice A. Fauley at the time of going to press.

FARMER CATCHES BOY HORSETHIEF

JAMES HUSKINSON, 14 YEARS OLD, IS PRISONER.

Horse and Buggy Was Stolen From B. E. Lynch of Sidney, is Recovered—Gets Lost Enroute to Kentucky.

James Huskinson, 14 years old, who recently came from Kentucky to visit his two brothers, employed on farms north of Sidney, is in jail because he had become confused as to the points of the compass and started west instead of south after stealing a horse and buggy from B. E. Lynch of Sidney.

The youngster drove into a lane leading to a farm house near Savoy, Saturday night, and being unable to get out, was captured by the farmer, named Baker, who suspected that something was wrong. Huskinson said that he was on his way to Kentucky and when informed that he was traveling west replied that he thought he was headed south and had figured on reaching his native state by Tuesday.

Is Made Prisoner.

Baker made the boy a prisoner in his house and Sunday morning brought him to Champaign and turned him over to the police. The stolen rig was returned to its owner. Huskinson was arraigned before Magistrate Young, who placed him under a bond of $1,000 to await the action of the grand jury.

Mr. Lynch discovered his loss soon after the boy's departure and within two hours time the police of nearly all surrounding towns knew of the theft. The Urbana department was on the look-out when word came that the youthful horsethief was in custody in Champaign.

EIGHTEEN HOUR FLYER IS WRECKED

Pennsylvania Special Jumps Track in Indiana.

FIREMAN IS BADLY INJURED

Engineer and Stoker Leap as Huge Locomotive Turns Turtle—Many of Passengers Are Severely Injured.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—While speeding along at seventy miles an hour the Pennsylvania eighteen-hour special for New York, was wrecked one mile east of Indiana Harbor. Sixty wealthy passengers, occupying the Pullman and observation cars were severely bruised and battered.

The accident occurred when the engine, tender and baggage car jumped the tracks. The reason so far has not been explained. The engine rolled down an embankment and overturned. When it left the track the engineer and stoker jumped from the cab, the latter seriously injuring himself.

Passenger Cars Skid on Tracks.

That the accident was not due to any fault of the rails is evidenced by the fact that the passenger cars did not leave the track, although they came to a stop with a jar that threw every one from their seats.

The tender was the first to jump the rails, and when Engineer Sommers applied the emergency brakes it and the engine broke loose from the train and, released from the load behind, sped ahead. When the coupling gave way the baggage car also left the track, but did not go over the embankment.

The accident happened when the train had gathered full momentum in going down the incline from the elevated track in Indiana Harbor. Without warning the tender left the rails and rolled along the ties with a deafening roar, careening from side to side and threatening momentarily to turn turtle.

Engine Man Jump Just in Time.

Sommers, calling to his fireman, ran to the opposite side, and both jumped. He escaped with slight bruises, but Fireman Hoy fell heavily, and aside from broken ribs and a fractured leg, may have been injured internally. They had just left the cab when the engine toppled over on its side down the embankment. The baggage coach impeded the speed of the heavy passenger cars behind, which stopped within fifty feet.

MAN HOLDS UP ELECTRIC CAR

Shots Fired, Several Injured, Passenger Grapples With Thief—Both Fall Off at Salt Lake.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 7.—A desperate hold up of an electric car crowded with excursionists from Salt Lake pavilion. Several shots were fired and a number of persons were injured, but the robber obtained comparatively little booty.

As the car slackened speed at the city limits, the highwayman sprang upon the running board and began shooting. One bullet shattered an off lamp. A second grazed the ear of Mrs. Thomas Hodder, who sat with her husband. The revolver was then thrust against Hodder's breast.

"Here you, get out on this board and gather in the shakles before I blow your head off!" shouted the robber.

Hodder climbed from his seat and became an unwilling accomplice. The two passed along the running board. Hodder went through the pockets of fifteen or twenty of his fellow passengers, handing the loot to the bandit. They collected several watches and about $35.

About midway of the car Hodder began the search of Cleveland Porter, a railway mail clerk from Ogden. Porter seized the opportunity and made a jump for the robber, grasping his gun. In the struggle Porter was shot through the right hand and he and the thief fell from the car. The latter escaped.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. TAFT ASKS JAPAN TO AID PEACE PLAN

Invites Union in Move for Arbitration.

TOGO IS GUEST IN CAPITAL

Reception, Following Dinner, at White House in Honor of Japanese Naval Hero, is Attended by Thousands.

Washington, Aug. 7.—President Taft extended to Japan through the nation's guest, Admiral Count Togo, at a dinner in the White House in honor of the Japanese naval hero, an invitation to join the United States, Great Britain and France in the great world movement for international peace.

Rising from his chair between Admiral Togo and Speaker Clark, the president offered a toast to the emperor of Japan. Then turning to Count Togo, he said:

"I would indeed fall in my duty and be untrue to my own deepest convictions did I not take this occasion of the first public welcome to you as our national guest to express my own appreciation, and that of the American people, of the broad and humanitarian view taken by his majesty, the emperor of Japan, and the imperial Japanese government in so readily and generously affirming, in the most positive and solemn manner, that no consideration of selfish interest should be permitted to obstruct the progress of the great world-movement for international peace, as exemplified in the general treaties of arbitration between the United States, Great Britain and France, signed on the day of your arrival in this country.

Lauds Japan's Stand.

"I gladly acknowledge this important part which Japan has played in facilitating this notable achievement by its prompt and unreserved recognition, in the recent Anglo-Japanese agreement, of the great moral principle of arbitration, and I entertain the hope, with confidence, that the time may be not far distant when Japan will see fit to join in the movement now so auspiciously inaugurated."

In toasting the emperor of Japan the president said:

"To one who has shown himself a great ruler, who has given all of his time, energy and intellect to the progress of his country and the preservation of the interests of the people, whose wonderful power in the selection of great men to accomplish great tasks has lifted Japan to a place among the first nations of the world, and whose sense of humanity and justice can be always counted on to contribute effectively to the peace of the world—his majesty the emperor of Japan."

The toast was drunk standing. Admiral Pleas'd With Honor.

Count Togo acknowledged the toast through Commander Tangichichi, his aide. He said:

"Mr. President: It is my pleasant duty and great honor to convey to his majesty the emperor, my august sovereign, the most kind words you have just said for him. As for me, words fail me to express what I feel deeply at heart. I can only say that I thank you most heartily for the honor you have done me."

The dinner was held in the state dining room and a magnificent gold service was used. The tables were decorated with red gladioli. Following the dinner a reception was held in the east room, at which several thousand people were present to honor the Japanese admiral.

NINE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Four Women, Four Children and Chauffeur Are Victims in Road Accident.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Four women, four little children and a chauffeur were seriously injured at a bend in the road near Fox Lake, Ill., when a large touring car in which they were riding jumped into the "rough" and turned turtle in a ditch. One of the children is expected to die.

Three of the women were pinned under the tonneau of the overturned automobile and were taken out with difficulty.

The injured are Mrs. Julia Butler and her five-months-old baby, Mrs. Maud Sweetman and her little son and daughter, Mrs. Mary Bellman, Mrs. Edna St. Clair, Julia Bradenberg, Mrs. St. Clair's daughter and Clifford Clark, chauffeur.

The machine is said to have been going at a rate of about thirty miles an hour when the accident occurred. Clark was unfamiliar with the road, and did not see the turn until it was too late to apply his brakes.

LINER HITS ICEBERG

NINE PASSENGERS AND SAILORS SEVERELY HURT.

Steamer Columbia Reaches New York in Badly Damaged Condition as Result of the Collision.

New York, Aug. 7.—The smashed bow and torn decks of the anchor liner Columbia, in port from Glasgow, bore silent testimony to the collision of the steamer with a huge iceberg in mid-ocean last Wednesday.

Nine passengers and sailors were injured, but despite their cuts, bruises, broken arms and dislocated collar bones, all praised the captain and Heaven that the damage was no worse.

So dense was the fog at the time and so high was the berg out of water that no one saw its top. Those who were brave enough to tumble out on deck estimate the height of the berg as being 150 feet out of water and describe it of cuts formation.

As the bow of the liner wedged its way twelve feet into the berg tons and tons of ice broke and fell on the deck, burying the lookout man, Tom Murray, under it. Nine men worked for five hours ridding the deck of its icy cargo.

The stem of the Columbia was badly damaged both above and below the water line. The port anchor was carried away and the starboard anchor was so tightly wedged by the twisting of the stem that it was useless. Water rushed in and out of the forepeak as though a sieve and pumps had to be kept going night and day since the collision happened.

When the liner reached her pier there was nine feet of water in the forehold and the bulkheads had been reinforced by cement, timber and old mattresses. Until the liner is put in dry dock no estimate of the damage can be made, but it was said that a new bow will have to be fitted before the liner will be fit for sea.

COL. WILLIAM C. GREENE DEAD

Former Copper Magnate Succumbs to Acute Pneumonia Which Develops as Result of Accident.

Cananea, Mex., Aug. 7.—Col. William Cornell Greene, the former copper magnate, is dead from acute pneumonia, which developed as a result of injuries he sustained when he was thrown from his carriage. His collar bone and two ribs were fractured.

Colonel Greene was one of the most picturesque figures of the group of copper men who have operated in the southwest. His rise from a penniless prospector to directing genius of the Cananea copper camp was meteoric. From the time he assumed ownership here until he encountered reverses in the panic year of 1907 Greene was one of the dominant figures in the copper industry.

He was born August 26, 1853, at Duck Creek, Wis.

Secretary Stimson and his party were the guests of President Gomez today. In view of the predictions that the secretary was to advise intervention his aloofness made a deep impression. The Gomez administration was plainly gratified and the agitators as plainly discouraged.

COURT ENDS STRIKE

EMPLOYERS AND MEN AT DES MOINES OBEY INJUNCTION.

Judge's Action Forges New Labor Trouble Weapon—Cause of Dispute is at Work.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 7.—After lasting nearly forty-eight hours the Des Moines street car strike, which was marked by scenes of violence, is terminated, for the present at least.

An injunction issued by Judge De Graff of the district court was the means of halting what threatened to be a long and bitter labor struggle.

The court's order to the street car company and its employees to resume the service in effect before the inauguration of the strike was promptly obeyed. The order is the first of its kind ever issued by a court in the history of labor troubles in this country.

The first man to take out his car was Benjamin J. Hiatt, whose discharge for alleged dishonesty was the cause of the strike. J. R. Harrigan, manager of the City Railway company, refused to reinstate Hiatt on the demand of the union. He was permitted to return to work, however, with the other men under the court's order. Hiatt was cheered by crowds along the streets.

That a new method of handling labor difficulties had been discovered, was the statement made by N. T. Guernsey, attorney for the street car company, following the acquiescence of the company in Judge De Graff's order. At the same time, he said, his clients were by no means satisfied that the court was within its jurisdiction in issuing the mandatory injunction and proposed later to bring an action to test the validity of the proceeding.

"We hope we are wrong and the city is right with regard to this order," he said. "If this order stands, it means that a public service corporation having a contract with a labor union has a right to go into court and obtain a mandatory injunction prohibiting the labor union from striking and requiring it, in case a strike has been called, to rescind the order calling the strike."

RIOTS IN BROOKLYN STRIKE

Twenty Miles of Police Guard New York Cars—Many Persons Hit by Missiles.

New York, Aug. 7.—The Coney Island & Brooklyn Railroad company ran half empty cars between 20-mile lines of 1,200 policemen. As a result of the attendant riots four persons are in the hospital, one of them probably mortally hurt, 40 are suffering from being hit by stones and brickbats, and 25 strikers and sympathizers are under lock and key.

As the day advanced the crowds became uglier, and double crews were placed upon all cars on the three lines affected by the strike. A policeman stood beside the two motemen and plain clothes men riding in threes and fours over the system stood ready to repel attacks upon crews and passengers.

Nothing to Quarrel About.

There are a few men who are foolish enough to quarrel about where they would go to, if they only had enough money to go some.

GETTING AT THE FACTS.

Intelligent Answers Are Sometimes Given to the Census Taker.

The census-taker rapped at the door of the little farmhouse and opened his long book. A plump girl of about eighteen came to the door and blinked at him stupidly.

"How many people live here?" he began.

"Nobody lives here. We are only staying through the hop season."

"How many of you are there here?"

"I'm here. Father's in the woodshed, and Bill is—"

"See here, my girl, I want to know how many inmates there are in this house. How many people slept here last night?"

"Nobody slept here, sir. I had the toothache dreadful, and my little brother had the stomach ache, and the new hand that's helping us got sunburned so on his back that he has blisters the size of eggs; and we all took on so that nobody slept a wink all night long."—Exchange.

Never Mind.

Chuckers—Everybody says my boy looks like me.

Aunt May—Well, some people always will be little.

Place for Valuables.

They were on their honeymoon. The big bridegroom was so proud of his little wife that he could not resist the temptation to take the hotel clerk into his confidence.

"Say," he whispered, leaning over the desk, "my wife is a jewel."

"In that case, sir," chuckled the hotel clerk, "I really cannot allow her to go up to the bridal suite."

The bridegroom gasped in astonishment.

"What? Can't let her go up into the bridal suite? Why not?"

"Because I will have to put her in the place for jewels."

Rivers was looking over the obituary column in the morning paper.

"Well," he said, "I see my old friend Flutterby has joined the great majority."

"Why, has he been getting mixed up in some of the bribery cases?" inquired Mrs. Rivers, who never had heard of Flutterby.

He had been reading headlines of the Express. "Do you know," he said to his temporary beloved over the teatable at Slater's, "I almost shrink with horror at the thought of a vamps wife. You don't vamp, do you?"

AMUSEMENTS

Carl W. Cook and his company of high class players open their engagement at the Walker this evening in the comedy drama, "The Man and the Girl". It tells a pretty story of the southwest in which there are several budding romances, plenty of comedy and strong heart interest.
Mr. Cook, in the principal role has a happy part full of action and demanding plenty of work. This company carries all their own scenery and electrical effects and guarantee a first class production. The Cook company will be at the Walker all this week at popular prices. Every indication at this time points to a packed house this evening.

He Didn't Mind
THE LITTLE BOY was carrying home the empty bowl that had contained his father's dinner, when a big bully appeared.
"Do you mind if I kick that bowl?" inquired the bully.
"Not a bit," said the small boy.
"You mean that? Do you mind if I kick that bowl?"
"Not a bit."
"For the last time. Do you mind if I kick that bowl?"
"No. I should like you to."
"Oh, would you? Then watch me!" exclaimed the bully as he shattered the bowl to atoms.
"Do you mind now?"
"Not a bit," replied the small boy, edging away. "My mother borrowed the bowl from your mother this morning. You'll hear all about it when you get home!"

CURTAIN.
"I am, then, really the first woman you ever loved?" There were tones of deep affection in her voice.
"I swear most solemnly that you are the first woman I have spoken to of love, Mary—the only one."
"In that case I will grant your request to meet you in the park at 2 o'clock," she replied softly.
He clasped his hands in an ecstasy of bliss. "Heavens! What joy!" he cried.
"You will surely be there, my only love?" she cooed.
Eustace gazed into her eyes. "You can count on my being there," he replied. "I never missed keeping an appointment of that kind yet."

Thirty Years Ago.
Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stand out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for thirty years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can not pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. TWINS WIN 13 INNING GAME

THRILLER TAKEN FROM THE TAYLORS.

Cellar Champions Cling Desperately to Sunday's Game But are Shaken Off by C. Fleming-New Management For Visitors.

Team Percentages table with columns for Teams, W, L, Pct.

Sunday's Results. Twins, 3; Taylorville, 2—13 innings. Pekin, 2-7; Canton, 10-3. Clinton, 2-2; Lincoln, 1-0.

Games Today. Taylorville at Urbana. Clinton at Lincoln. Pekin at Canton.

The cellar champions from Christian county who have humiliated the Twins on our own grounds more than any other team, came over Saturday and again started to do their Saturday destruction, following with a strenuous attempt on Sunday. However, they did not count on the fact that the longer he goes the stronger our old college chum Marshall gets and they telegraphed back home that we "done 'em dirt." Saturday it was a bunch of cripples meeting with a party of professionals. Thornton literally ran away with the Twins and Witte, who was kept in to the finish was badly battered.

J. Fleming, the outfielder whom the doctors said had a broken ligament, proved the mistake by appearing on one leg and hopping about in the outfield, making a two base hit and doing more than a cripple's share to win the game. Murphy, with half a dozen ossified fingers, rested in the right garden and Mathews was at first base. Lane at short and Sullivan at second where he always works in mortal terror. Beeson had not recovered from his injury, but was in the grandstand. He was in the game Sunday, however.

On Sunday it was a water-tight, hide-bound, long distance thriller and those who believe squeals of delight from the ladies, shouts of joy from the men when victorious and howls of agony when losing are Sabbath desecration, had no business being within listening distance. And yet the decorum was what would have been called excellent if the game had been part of a chautauqua program on Sunday.

With the score tied in the ninth and two men on bases, Donovan sent in Murphy to bat for Beeson, not knowing the game was only two-thirds through. Chenoweth was foxed and walked the reliable hitter, now of the Cincinnati Nationals, and Donovan flew out to right field.

After that it was "all but," until the last half of the 13th, when Chuck Fleming, who had been hitting only 750 up to that time, fattened his day's average by a two-bagger, after Pease flew out. J. Fleming failed to land at first and Lane drove in the winning hit. It was some game.

New Management For Tailors. Taylorville arrived with a new management, Joe Adams, the Pana bench manager, having been released, as was also "Nig" Langdon, the former Bloomington phenom. First Baseman Denny, formerly of Bloomington, now carries the ball grip for the Tailors.

PLAN LECTURE COURSE FOR FAIR

UNIVERSITY APPLIES FOR ADDITIONAL SPACE.

Program Giving Time and Place of Each Day's Events is New Feature—Negotiations For Air Flights Close Thursday.

The college of agriculture of the University of Illinois today made application for 80x100 additional space upon which to maintain an exhibit tent during the Champaign county fair. The University already has a commodious building for this purpose, but it has been found inadequate to accommodate this year's exhibits. Secretary Oldham immediately notified the University that a site will be reserved.

The college of agriculture is arranging for a series of lectures by heads of that department during the fair, one or more to be given each day. The program for the series probably will be announced Tuesday.

Program of Events. Secretary Oldham has conceived the idea of compiling a program for each day of the fair, giving the time and place of each event. This is a new feature which no doubt will prove popular with patrons.

About Aeroplane Flights. The fair association will know by Thursday whether it will be able to give a series of aeroplane flights during this year's fair. It will cost $2,000 for a flight each day, but the management hopes to get a reduction by pooling interests with Kankakee, whose fair follows ours.

The Greater United Show Co. which sends one of its aggregations here for the fair has set Tuesday, August 29 as the date for its first big street parade. The other parade probably will occur Thursday, August 31, although no date has been set.

The idea of traveling occurred when after their first annual barbecue, the ranch men were told that the entertainment they gave to the people of Oklahoma and neighboring states was better than any of the traveling and high priced shows could afford. The ranch itself embraces many thousands of acres and is literally peopled with all classes of Indians, cowboys and plainsmen. The show has added to the original collection celebrities from other parts of the United States, the best of the cavalry and infantry soldiery to be had from the army, historic wagons and train supplies, the worst of the looted or bucking bronchos and in fact a show which is a thriller from the first grand entry to the firing of the last shot. It will be at the Champaign show grounds on Thursday and the parade will be brought to Urbana if it is possible to do so.

PLAN LECTURE COURSE FOR FAIR

UNIVERSITY APPLIES FOR ADDITIONAL SPACE.

Program Giving Time and Place of Each Day's Events is New Feature—Negotiations For Air Flights Close Thursday.

The college of agriculture of the University of Illinois today made application for 80x100 additional space upon which to maintain an exhibit tent during the Champaign county fair. The University already has a commodious building for this purpose, but it has been found inadequate to accommodate this year's exhibits. Secretary Oldham immediately notified the University that a site will be reserved.

The college of agriculture is arranging for a series of lectures by heads of that department during the fair, one or more to be given each day. The program for the series probably will be announced Tuesday.

Program of Events. Secretary Oldham has conceived the idea of compiling a program for each day of the fair, giving the time and place of each event. This is a new feature which no doubt will prove popular with patrons.

THORNTON SLUGGED; NOT STRUCK BY TRAIN

Urbana Man Found Unconscious on Wabash Tracks Was Victim of Footpads.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 7.—That George Thornton, the Urbana brick mason, found on the Wabash tracks about 8 o'clock Thursday night was the victim of a slugger and was not hit by a train, is the belief of the local brickmasons' union, which looked after the unfortunate man's welfare at the St. Elizabeth hospital.

The place where Thornton was found, 300 feet north of the viaduct over Stoney creek, is not far from as tough a part of the city as can be found and it would have been only a short run for him to have gotten there, from some of these houses before he was overtaken and struck down.

Thornton's jaw was terribly broken and it will result in his disfigurement when he leaves the hospital.

HOW ASPARAGUS IS GROWN FOR PROFIT

BY JOHN W. LLOYD,
University of Illinois.

An asparagus plantation is started by the planting of roots. These may be either one or two years old. The one-year roots are preferable. They may be either grown from seed by the prospective planter, or purchased from a seedsman. If a person decides to grow his own roots, the seed should be sown in drills about one and a half feet apart, early in the spring. Since the seed germinates very slowly, it is wise to sow a few radish seeds with it mark the rows so that cultivation may be started before the asparagus plants appear. Otherwise it may be difficult to find the asparagus on account of weeds. An additional precaution is to hasten germination by soaking the seed in warm water for 24 hours before planting. The care of the asparagus seedlings consists in cultivating, weeding and thinning, the same as onions or any similar crop grown in drills. The plants should stand about three inches apart in the row.

Whether grown from seed or purchased from a seedsman, the plants are usually set in their permanent location in the spring. Planting should take place as early as the ground can be worked to advantage. If the plants are grown on the premises they should be dug as needed for planting; if they have been shipped in from a distance, they should be heeled-in upon arrival, to prevent their drying out, and taken out only as needed.

New Growth of Asparagus.

The soil for asparagus should be rich. Land that has been heavily manured the preceding year is preferred. If this cannot be secured, the land selected should be manured and plowed in the fall preparatory to spring planting.

The field should be laid out for planting by making furrows either four or five feet apart, and from eight to ten inches deep. The roots are set two feet apart in the bottom of the furrow at such a depth that the crowns will be five or six inches below the level of the ground, after the furrows are filled. However, at the time of planting, the furrows are not completely filled, only enough dirt being put into cover the crowns about two inches. If covered more deeply at this time the plants may fail to grow.

As soon as the plants start growth the cultivation should begin. A cultivator is used on the ridge between the furrows, and a hoe is employed in stirring the soil close to the plants and shaving off any weeds that appear in the furrow. At each cultivation and hoeing, the soil is worked toward the plants. Thus, the furrows are gradually filled, so that by the end of the growing season there will be no furrows, but the field will present a level appearance.

When the season's growth is over, the tops are mowed and removed from the field. A dressing of manure may be applied broadcast at this time or early in the spring. In either case, the spring treatment of the field consists in disking this manure thoroughly into the soil before the asparagus starts to grow. Following this early spring treatment, cultivation between the rows is begun as soon as the shoots appear above ground. The cultivation is continued until the tops have grown so large that they make it inconvenient to get between the rows with a horse. Late in the fall, the tops are removed and a dressing of manure applied, either at that time or in the spring, the same as in the preceding year.

In the spring of the third year, that is, two full years after the asparagus is planted, a light crop of shoots may be cut, but under no consideration should the cutting continue for more than three weeks, for excessive cutting from a plantation of this age would seriously weaken the plants and might result in the permanent injury of the plantation.

The principal cultivation of an asparagus field the third year, and each succeeding year, consists of a thorough disking before growth starts in the spring, and another equally thorough disking or very shallow plowing at the close of the cutting season. As soon as the shoots start after this treatment, the cultivator is run between the rows. Usually the plantation can be cultivated two or three times before the tops become so large as to prevent further tillage.

To maintain an asparagus plantation in full productiveness through a series of years, it is essential that it receive a top dressing of manure every year. The manure may be applied at such a time that it can be worked into the soil before growth starts following its application. If applied in the fall, it is disked into the ground the following spring. It may be applied in the spring immediately before the early disking, or at the close of the cutting season. All three methods are successfully employed in this state.

As already intimated, an asparagus plantation may be seriously injured by continuing cutting too late in the season. This applies to an old plantation as well as a new one, although the cutting in a well established plantation in full vigor may continue for six weeks without seriously impairing the vigor of the plants. If cutting is continued for eight weeks, as is the practice with some growers, the shoots in the last cuttings are likely to be small, indicating the impaired vigor of the plants; and if cutting is continued after the small shoots become numerous, the bad-effect of this late cutting is likely to be evident in the small size of the shoots during the entire cutting season the next year. The plants must be given time after the close of the cutting season to make a vigorous growth of top, and store up food in their roots for the production of the next year's crop. The most serious mistake made by commercial asparagus growers is in cutting their plantations too late.

SERUM TREATMENT FOR HOG CHOLERA

BY PROF. WM. DIETRICH,
University of Illinois.

Hog cholera is a disease due to filterable virus. It has been shown that blood serum from a cholera hog will retain its infectiousness after being passed through a porcelain filter. This seems to show that the germ, if such it be, which causes hog cholera is exceedingly small. Besides being a germ disease, hog cholera is very infectious as well as contagious. This disease has also been called a corn belt disease. It is a well known fact that many sections of the country outside of the corn belt have never been known to have hog cholera. Furthermore, it is believed that hogs in a high state of vitality in the corn belt will not contract cholera except they be very young, very fat, or temporarily off in condition.

The reason that hogs outside of the corn belt are not usually affected with cholera is believed to be due to the fact that the grains other than corn which are used largely usually contain more protein and more mineral matter than does corn. Furthermore, a greater variety is produced. All this helps to make a better and more evenly balanced ration for swine and keeps these animals in a better state of health, consequently a higher degree of vitality. In this condition they are more resistant to disease.

Such being the indications, it seems that the ultimate means of prevention of hog cholera will be proper feeding. This, of course, means not only proper feeding for the time being, but for a sufficient number of generations so as to build up a race of strong and vigorous swine. Since this cannot be done immediately it emphasizes the necessity and importance of the government hog cholera serum which has recently been developed for the prevention of this disease.

As is quite generally known, the state of Illinois, through the Illinois live stock commission at Springfield, is manufacturing and distributing this serum to the citizens of Illinois for the prevention of cholera. This work was started within the last two years and during the past winter not enough serum was available to treat all the hogs that were thus affected.

There are two methods of using this serum—the serum alone method and the serum simultaneous method. By the former the pig is injected with a given quantity of this serum, depending upon its size. In order to get the best results the experts who have developed this serum say it should be used prior to and at least within four days after the time the hog has been exposed to the disease. In practice there seems to be some evidence pointing to the fact that it might be effective if used later than at this time. Such vaccination is supposed to render hogs immune to cholera for a period of from two to six weeks. In view of this it can readily be seen that the serum alone method is not always effective. The vaccination may be done too late or after the time the hogs have been exposed sufficiently long so that it will have no material effect. Furthermore, the hogs may be vaccinated properly, which will render them immune for the time being and the disease germs may be on the farm longer and cause an outbreak of the disease after the effects of this vaccination will have passed over. In such a case the herd should be vaccinated a second time.

With the serum simultaneous method, the serum is injected into the hog along with a given quantity of virulent hog cholera serum. By this means the hog is rendered immune for a much longer time, presumably from eight months to a year, and possibly even for life. Since this method presupposes the use of some virulent hog cholera serum it must necessarily be used with a great deal of care and by an experienced operator. In the process of vaccination the serum is usually injected directly into the fleshy part of the ham on the inside, well up toward the body.

With further appropriations by the state legislature the Illinois live stock commission will be able to produce serum enough to combat this disease properly and help to exterminate it from the land.

In the Present.
With the wise man it is always true.

Johnny's Revenge

Johnny's mother bought him a fire engine. He wanted to see how how it worked, and of course in a very short time the wheels were off.
She was naturally very angry with him and punished him severely. When daddy came home he found his small son sitting in the nursery with very red eyes.
"Why, my poor little man," he inquired, "what is the matter?"
"Nuffing," sniffed the small boy.
"But something must be wrong," persisted daddy. "Do tell me."
"Oh, well if you want to know," said the little boy, "I have just been having an awful row with your wife."

WHY LEARN MUSIC.

Because, of all the different sciences, professions, or businesses, there is none that pays so large a salary when one has really mastered it. Think of it; Mlle. Adaline Patti receives $2,500 for 12 to 15 minutes in song. It pays to be most excellent. Paderewski is paid $2,000 and up per night to play a few pieces on the piano, and many others are earning hundreds of dollars each night they play. It is HOW one plays, not WHAT one plays, that wins.

Because, of all employments, there is not one that has so few competitors for these fabulous earnings.

Because, of all businesses, there is none so entirely free and open to your own efforts, ambition and success.

Because, no other calling can give one so great a name or fame. Kings, queens and presidents all bow the head and do homage to the great musician. Honor, prestige, social and financial power are alike, common awards to the great in music.

Because, no other calling can be at once so pleasant and profitable and render life so generally happy.

Inspiring. Music is the most popular subject throughout the world.

Because, of all vocations, there is none that requires so little time and expense to learn, nor so easy and pleasant to acquire as an education in music, by America's system, Short-hand music.

Because Short-hand music educates you easier, quicker and cheaper than the note system can, and makes a better musician of you. You can be ready for the stage in a year at a cost of only $50. Can any college do as well by you?

Each bidder must submit, with his bid, a satisfactory bond to the amount of one-half his bid, securing the University in the event that an allotment is made him.

ON THE TRAIL.

"I'm no thief! I'm a respectable workingman!" Sherlock Holmes raised his half-closed eyes. "But your hands," he said, musingly, "your hands" do not seem to be calloused."

"That's because I'm a foreman—I give orders," the suspected man explained.

The great detective sighed softly. "Will you please let me see your tongue?" he begged.

WOULD TAKE NO CHANCES.

Four-year-old-Elinor took dinner at her grandparents' home. There were warm biscuits on the table, and she took the last biscuit. Grandpa, wishing to tease her, said: "Elinor, give me that biscuit. I want it to tease grandpa." Elinor's reply came in a firm tone. "Oh, tease her with a cracker; I want this biscuit to eat."

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Knowlton & Bennetts.

Points for Mothers

The Shy Girl.

Only those who have themselves passed through the same experience can appreciate the trials of the really shy girl. Some girls are shy when first entering a room or on being introduced to a stranger, but recover their self possession within a short time, but that is not the kind of shyness to which reference here is made. The really shy girl is a victim of nerves. She may be an exceedingly capable young lady, but she shrinks within herself at the bare idea of publicity, even the limited publicity of a drawing room. Such a girl needs sympathetic treatment, but unfortunately she does not always receive it. Some people laugh at her and make her worse, whereas others bestow upon her a kindly, encouraging smile, and thus assist her wonderfully in passing through a trying ordeal. It too frequently happens that such a girl is pushed forward—thrust into the full glare of the light, so to say—for the purpose of making her accustomed to a crowd of strangers. The idea is that she will have the bashfulness knocked out of her very quickly and be transformed into a cool, collected young woman. That is a great mistake. A truly shy girl suffers agonies under such an infliction, and she is more determined than ever to keep in retirement.

Children Like Flowers.

"Children are the flowers of life and the mother a gardener who trains them into beautiful blossoms or useless weeds."

When Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the world famous prima donna, gave voice to this interesting opinion she smiled in pardonable appreciation of the garden which she had raised. It is a product of which any woman might well be proud, consisting of six sturdy boys and two lovely girls.

"A little baby is like a delicate flower," continued the singer. "We mothers are only gardeners raising either blossoms or weeds."

"What are the rules for human gardening?" she was asked.

"The same as apply to nature," she smiled in response. "Plenty of sunshine and fresh air are needed in the successful rearing of children and flowers. My boys, and the girls, too, have lived out of doors almost entirely. In the winter the windows of their bedrooms are opened wide, no matter how cold it is. In the summer those who are still here at home with me are out in the open air all day. They ride their ponies, play tennis and croquet, and George Washington plays baseball! They have been brought up on the simplest foods—good milk, fresh eggs, juicy meats and few sweets."

Little Travelers' Toys.

A lady while traveling about Europe with three small children devised a plan for their entertainment which proved successful, says Good Housekeeping. A selection of their favorite toys was made, and these were packed together in one of the strong small straw suit cases. This was left in the exclusive care of the largest child. In this way the playthings were all together, and the children themselves were responsible for their safe keeping. When they grew tired of traveling they could open the suit case and take out what they desired without a long and wearisome hunt through various articles of clothing. If any of the toys were broken new ones were added to the collection. For such a scheme it is convenient to include one of the flat folding backgammon boards, not only to play backgammon or cards upon, but because it can be used as a small table.

Country Entertaining.

While in the country the children will need some entertainment, as even the novelty of gathering wild flowers and running "wild" will wear off after awhile. One excellent way of entertaining them, or, rather, of teaching them to entertain themselves, is to have them make a bathing place for birds. This may be done by placing a shallow trough partially in the ground and keeping it filled with fresh water. It is astonishing how soon the feathered people will find this luxury and how merrily they will enjoy it. One seems to tell another, and soon the birds' pool will afford entertainment for many hours each day to the children who watch the happy bathers. They will thus become acquainted with the air folk and will be more eager to learn of their lives and their haunts.

The Child's Plate.

Thin white oiled paper spread under the child's plate at the table and extending a little way beyond will protect the tablecloth. This will not be noticeable, especially if it is bought in sheets and the pieces are cut and laid smoothly on the cloth. When a piece of paper is soiled it may be thrown away or burned and a fresh piece substituted.

Children's Faults.

Don't keep on harping about a child's faults; don't keep on telling him how naughty and stupid he is; it doesn't do any real good, for it will awaken resentment in his heart. Use love and patience, and never lose your belief in a child.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE AVERTED PANIC

Asserts He Did Duty in Permitting Tennessee Deal.

MAKES A TALK ON TRUSTS

Colonel Before Steel Committee Advocates Strong Measures, Such as Germany Used With Potash Industry.

New York, Aug. 7.—Theodore Roosevelt came before the house of representatives committee of inquiry into the United States Steel corporation here and voluntarily told how his action in consenting to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the steel corporation in 1907 averted a disastrous panic.

The former chief executive's action in submitting to a congressional review of acts of his own administration was almost unprecedented in the history of the United States.

Takes All Responsibility.
First and foremost he placed upon himself responsibility for approving the absorption to save a perilous financial disaster in Wall street, and condemned any man who would be so weak as not to act as he did in that crisis. Not to have done as he did, he said, would have been criminal.

The chapter he contributed not only dealt with his part in the momentous events of that threatening time, but he gave the committee some interesting opinions on the trust question that loomed up in their report even more than his recital of facts in the Tennessee Coal and Iron transaction.

Situation Was Critical.
After declaring that his object in approving the sale of the Tennessee

DR. ROBERT S. DICKERSON
Grand Recorder, Prince Hall Grand Commandery, Illinois

company was to restore confidence the former president, in response to inquiries by Representative Littleton relating to the case as presented to him by Judge Gary and H. C. Frick at the memorable White House conference in November, 1907, said:

"The situation was so critical that it was liable to break at any moment until the action was taken, and the instant it was taken an enormous improvement for the better occurred, and, as said in the poem of Mr. Emerson, with which you all are so well acquainted:

"If the red slayer thinks he slays,
Or if the slain thinks he is slain, it matters not."

"I should have proved an unworthy public officer, if I had not done as I did," he continued.

"If I had not acted at once in that extraordinary crisis I should have been a mere titlle. In every such crisis the temptation to indecision, to non-action, always exists. There is always excuse for non-action. If a man is worth his salt he will give people in trouble the benefit of the doubt and act as the situation demands if the law is not violated.

"Every step I took was as open as the day."

Then Mr. Roosevelt launched into a general discussion with Chairman Stanley of the general trust question, saying that the United States had something to learn from Germany.

Practically No Opposition.
The vote on the proposition to annex territory to the Urbana park district carried 31 to 1, at the city building Saturday and there was practically no opposition at the polls at F. C. Hubbard's home.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Knowlton & Bennett.

MAHOMET PEOPLE WILL HAVE HEARING TUESDAY

Many Objectors to Petition to Increase Assessments in Newly Annexed Territory Are Expected.

Residents of Mahomet whose assessments should be increased, according to statements made to the board of review, will be given a hearing before that body on Tuesday. There are forty-two of them and they oppose increased taxation on the grounds of alleged illegality of the recent annexation of territory to the village.

On Saturday the board ordered the valuation on lot 8, block 1, Vredenburg's subdivision, Champaign, reduced from $702 to $552.

Personal schedules now total 274. Those docketed today are:

Frank Mullin and Bunk McCormick, arrested Saturday night by Acting Chief of Police Lindstrom, pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication when arraigned before Magistrate Snyder this morning. Mullin drew $3 and costs and McCormick $5 and costs. Neither could pay.

James Newton, 207 West Nevada street, complains to the police of obnoxious weeds in the vacant lot adjoining his property on the west. The owners will be notified to clear the place.

Finds Umbrella Lost Four Years.
Four years ago William Niccum of Tolono left his umbrella hanging behind the door in a small hotel at San Marcos, Tex. Returning a few days ago he was surprised to find the rain-stick still there. He recognized it by a sassafras handle. It reposed in the same place in which he had left it and upon making inquiries he learned from the clerk that the umbrella had been there longer than the latter could remember.

COLORED WOMAN ACCUSES WHITE OF PURLOINING FOWL

Reversing tradition, Mrs. Mary Banks, colored, 211 North First street, Champaign, had Mrs. Amanda Strew, white, 209 North First street, arrested on a charge of having the former's chickens in her possession.

The case was tried before Magistrate George James, but the decision was postponed until 5 o'clock this evening.

About the middle of September Mrs. Strew went to Rock Island on a visit. At about the same time Mrs. Banks missed four white hens, four Plymouth Rock hens, one black rooster and one white-rooster.

Some time after Mrs. Strew returned from her visit, Mrs. Banks thought she heard chickens cackling in Mrs. Strew's yard.

Mrs. Banks waited until she was sure, and then got out a search warrant. Constable V. C. Baldwin searched Mrs. Strew's house and found three Plymouth Rock hens, two white hens and a red rooster. As he held up each hen, Mrs. Banks exclaimed, "That's my chicken," according to Baldwin. The red rooster she did not claim.

Mrs. Strew declared that her daughter had given her the chickens, some time about the middle of last September.

Pauline Nesbitt

In 1920, when she was seven years old, Mrs. Nesbitt came to Champaign from her home in Homer, Illinois, "because we wanted to live where there were other Black people. We were the only Black people in Homer."

For many years her husband worked at the Inman Hotel. They raised ten children (five boys and five girls).

When she came to Champaign, Mrs. Nesbitt recalls, most streets were unpaved and the North End was all white - mostly German.

Reverend James R. Wilson

During his lifetime Reverend Wilson has done "janitor work everywhere."

In 1930 he went to school in New York City and became a minister for the Church of God and Saints of Christ.

Now 85 years old, he came to Champaign when he was sixteen "because there was work here." But he also found "restriction on where colored people could live."

His wife, Ida Octavia Wilson, now deceased, was the first Black woman to run for the Champaign School Board.

Mr. Wilson is both proud and thankful "that the Lord let me live this long."

Reverend William H. Donaldson

Reverend Donaldson first came to Champaign in 1934 when he became minister of Salem Baptist Church. He is especially pleased by "the multitude of Black churches" in the community.

Born and raised in DeValls, Arkansas, he first worked at General Motors in Detroit before becoming a minister in Michigan in 1931.

He notes the growth of Champaign-Urbana and "the opening of doors for Black people" that has occurred in recent years. There was a time, he recalls, when the University of Illinois did not allow Black students to live on campus.

He is "most proud of my ministry. It has been my life - serving people and being called to Salem Baptist Church."

Rosie L. Williams

During her lifetime, Mrs. Williams "worked in everything, worked night and day. I worked in the laundry for civil service for 21 years and 7 months." She also worked as a domestic. "I worked hard for nothing."

She is a member of Salem Baptist Church and several organizations including Eastern Star, Daughters of the Sphinx, and Daughters of the Elks.

Born in 1896 in Tiptonville, Tennessee, she came to Champaign in 1946 after her mother died. "I started out in the Ozark Mountains, then to St. Louis, then here."

In the nearly forty years she has lived in north Champaign, she has seen "houses torn down" and the neighborhood dramatically changed.

Sarah Scott

Now 91 years old, Sarah "Muddy" Scott came to Champaign in 1911. "My dad died and I went to live with my aunt while my mother came here to find work. Then she sent for me." Her fondest memory is of meeting Alice Lee Pope with her mother at the train station when she first arrived in Champaign.

For nearly fifty years Mrs. Scott did housework. "I raised my two children when it was very hard to do so. They grew up and had children and raised my grandchildren well. My grandsons are famous jazz people."

She was dubbed "Muddy" when her son couldn't quite pronounce "mama." She is now affectionately known by the nickname not only to her family, but her many friends in the community.

When she first came to Champaign, she recalls, "There was a lot of segregation. You couldn't eat anywhere in town but the Illinois Central railroad station. They had a cafe, but Blacks had to stand or sit at a bar. They couldn't sit at a table."
