

DOCUMENTING A FAMILY:
THE GREEN-DEROUSSE-LEWIS
FAMILY IN CHAMPAIGN
COUNTY, 1858-1900

COMPILED BY MICHELE MCNABB

This project started with the discovery of an obituary for a man named E. A. Green in an 1870 Champaign newspaper. In those days only a few deaths were reported in the newspaper; those that did get printed were usually only brief statements giving limited information about the date and circumstances of the individual's death. But this obituary was different. Besides the bare facts, additional information was given about the deceased so that one could see that he was a respected man who enjoyed a good reputation among his peers. What made this obituary exceptional is the fact that Mr. Green was a man of color. Prior to the 1880s very few blacks lived in Champaign Urbana. This obituary is almost certainly the first printed for a black resident of the community.

I became curious about E. A. Green. Who was this seemingly exceptional man? I decided to try to discover something about him and his family. What was discovered is shown in the form of a timeline of events. Each event is illustrated by a document, accompanied by some comments and conclusions. At the end I show what is known about this family using family group sheets.

All the research was done using materials found in the Champaign County Historical Archives. Similar documentation will exist for other individuals and families and in them other stories that are waiting to be discovered and told.

DIED.

GREEN—In this city, on the morning of the 28th ult., of consumption, Mr. E. A. Green, aged 53 years.

The deceased was one of the first colored men who settled in this city, having located here in 1857. He was a man of much more than ordinary intelligence and information, few being better posted upon the political and historical events of this country: He was a good neighbor, a skillful and industrious mechanic, and an honest man. His works were for good among his own people, whom he taught many practical lessons, ever urging them to acquire knowledge and so deport themselves as to become good citizens.

1. From this obituary, published in the "Champaign County Gazette" of May 4, 1870, we learn a few facts about Mr. Green: that he died on April 27 of consumption at the age of 53, and that he first came to the County in 1857. This provides some clues for looking for him in other sources.

2. The earliest records found for E.A. Green indicate that he purchased several parcels of land in West Urbana (as Champaign was then named) and Urbana beginning in 1858. From these records we find out that his first name was Edward and that he must have come to Champaign County with some financial resources.

3. The 1860 census had no listing for an Edward Green; however, a carpenter named Edwin Green was listed as head of a household in the city of Champaign. Besides his occupation, we also learn here that Green was born in North Carolina around 1820. Also living in the household are three females, Anna (age 12) and Florence (age 10), both born in Ohio, and Julia (age 19), who, like Green, was also born in North Carolina. These 4 individuals are listed as being 'mulatto,' i.e., of mixed blood. Also living in the household is 24-year-old laborer John Benton, born in North Carolina. It is unclear whether he too is a person of color.

Relationships were not given in the 1860 census, but we can make some tentative guesses: Edwin Green apparently moved at some time from his home state to Ohio, where he probably married an unknown woman some time before 1848 (the year Anna was born). Since Florence was also born in Ohio, the family should be listed in the 1850 census of that state. Julia is too young to be the girls' mother; possibly she is Edward's younger sister. No other record of her has been found.

4. In the 1860s Edward A. Green continued to buy and sell land. Some of these (starred entries in the grantee index) were located in what is known as the Seminary addition to Urbana, and will figure later in this story. From one of these deeds we can see that Green paid cash for the land. The map shows where some of these parcels of land were located.

EMANCIPATION CELEBRATION.

On the 20th of August, 1833, an act passed the British Parliament which liberated and set free the slaves of the West India Islands on the 1st day of August, 1834. By this single act of legislation the shackles were struck from the limbs of 800,000 African slaves.— Since then it has been the custom of the free colored people in the Northern States to celebrate this event in an appropriate manner. In accordance with this custom of long standing, last Monday the colored folks of Champaign, Urbana, and vicinity, celebrated the 35th anniversary of the British Emancipation.
 The appropriateness of such a proceeding now, seems lost since the liberation of over four millions of slaves in America, but the custom has been observed since the Emancipation Proclamation, not so much in remembrance of the humane act of the British Government as by way of an annual reminder of the fact that the sons and daughters of Africa were, but recently in bonds as slaves. It can readily be seen that close upon the heels of such reminders must come feelings of thankfulness for the deliverance and feelings of deepest gratitude to the party and to the men who were the de-liverers.
 The celebration of which we now write, transpired last Monday. After forming in procession and moving through some of the main streets.

 Teachers say that in two years they have never heard a single complaint of cold feet—
 the floors are always warm. 2d. The rooms are always equally heated in all parts—chi-dren in the rear of the room are as comfortable as though they were seated near the stove.
 3d. The air in the room is always much purer than that of any other kind of heating. It has a fresh, clean, and healthy odor to the children. It has taken thirty tons of coal and about eight cords of wood to thorough-heat the building, including halls, for each of the past two years. You can estimate expense from this. The only objection we have found to the use of the furnace is a disposition of the fire-boxes to burn out prematurely
 and thus make the repairs costly.

We are now making some repairs on an old brick building, and will probably heat it with a ventilating stove manufactured by Benson Bros., Cincinnati, Ohio. I find they are extensively used in the Cincinnati Schools, and give good satisfaction. They certainly are great improvement over the old style. They cost $25 each, boxed ready for shipping.

You may see this as you see it. I will cheerfully answer any other questions you may wish to ask. I would advise you to run over and see our buildings before you do anything with yours. Yours truly,

 I concur to the foregoing.

 Schools.

By reference to the records of the Urbana Graded School, for the year just closed that there was consumed about fifty-nine tons of coal and the average daily attendance of the pupils.

 Since the above has been in type we learn that the Board of Education have resolved to introduce the Kuttan heater and ventilator and probably before our paper is published the same will be

6. As we have seen, Edward A. Green died in the spring of 1870. The federal census for that year, taken on June 29th, two months after Edward's death, finds the Green household living in Champaign. It now consists of the following individuals:

household #238
family #24

GREEN, Evvy, 22 yrs, female, black, keeping house, b. IL
 , Anna, 21 yrs, female, black, at home, b. OH
 , Florance, 20 yrs, female, mulatto, teaching school, b. OH
 , Leopold, 9 yrs, male, mulatto, at home, b. IL
 , Gertrude, 8 mos, female, mulatto, at home, b. IL

Evvy Green was in possession of $2000 worth of real estate and $400 worth of personal property.

This census tells us that Edward Green apparently married a much younger woman. His two daughters, not yet married, remain in the household. One is a schoolteacher. Eva Derousse Green was apparently born around 1848 in Illinois. In the 1850 census index a number of Derousse families are listed in the Randolph County area, bordering the Mississippi River, but so far no links have been made between Eva and these families. -- Edward and Eva have an infant daughter. The relationship of the young male in the household, Leopold Green, is uncertain. He would appear to be Edward's son, but is too old to be Eva's child, and no other marriage for Edward has been found in Champaign County. Possibly he might be the son of Julia Green from the 1860 census.

7. In the 1870-71 Champaign County directory we find Mrs. Eva Green listed as residing on Neil Street, and working as a hairdresser.

8. Edward A. Green died without leaving a will, but because he owned substantial property, his estate was probated and an administrator had to be appointed. Eva Green chose Thos. A. Reed to act in this capacity. The initial petition for letters of administration shows the date and place of Green's death, lists his property, and names his heirs: his widow Eva, and daughters Anna A., Florence E., and Gertrude L. Note that Leopold is not mentioned; hence, he was not Edward's son. As part of the probate procedure Green's property had to be itemized and appraised. This document showing the personal property selected by the widow included furniture, carpentry equipment and 'one lot of books.'

Petition of J. A. Reed
In the matter of the Estate of E. A. Green
deceased, for Letters of Administration

To the Hon. W. M. Ayres Judge of the County Court
of Champaign County, in the State of Illinois.

9. Green died leaving a number of outstanding bills to local merchants unpaid. Since there was not enough ready cash, part of his land had to be sold to settle these debts. In late 1871 Green's daughters Anna and Florence petitioned that this be done. By this time they had moved to Fayette County, Ohio. Since they were born in that state, this locality might provide a clue for locating the family's whereabouts prior to coming to Champaign County and the identity of their mother.

12. In 1874 Eva Lewis, formerly Eva Green, applied to become the legal guardian of her daughter Gertrude, age 4. From this document we learn the exact birthdate of the little girl, and that the family still owns property in which she has a one-third interest.

13. In 1876, Green's two eldest daughters petition for a partitioning of the remaining property (consisting of four lots) in which they each have a one-third share. The lots are assessed at $100 each. By this time daughter Florence, now calling herself Flora, has married a man named Anderson. It is not specified where the two women were living, other than that they were not residents of Champaign County. An appraiser gave the opinion that the property could not be divided 3 ways without it being detrimental to the heirs. This case drags out over several years, during which time the value of the land is reduced to $25 per lot. Finally the case is stricken from the court calendar.

14. In June 1878 Eva Lewis gives birth to a stillborn son. The record of this event states that she was born in Iowa and gives a spelling variant of her last name. The attendant at this birth was Dr. H.C. Howard, for whom a Champaign school is named.

15. The 1880 census gives valuable information about the Charles Lewis household. The birthplace of barber Charles and his parents is given as North Carolina. Eva, still a hairdresser, has only aged 8 years since the last census. Her father is listed as having been born in France, which is consistent with her surname; her mother's birthplace is given as South Carolina. The couple has 2 young sons, in addition to 10-year-old Gertrude. Note that in this census Eva and Gertrude are listed as mulattoes, whereas in 1870 they were designated as blacks. Leopold also remains in the household, but his origins remain clouded. Listed as Charles' stepson, his father's place of birth is given as North Carolina, which fits Edward A. Green's birthplace, but we know he wasn't Edward's son. His mother was supposedly born in France, which deepens the mystery.

19. In November 1890 Charles Lewis suffers a stroke and dies. His obituary too sheds some light on his background and affiliations.

Charles Lewis Dead.

Charles Lewis, the barber, who had a stroke of paralysis, as was stated in THE GAZETTE a few days ago, died at his home at the corner of University avenue and Third street, Saturday at 5 o'clock a. m. The news of his death was a shock to his many friends. He was forty-three years old, and was born in Goldsboro, North Carolina, but had been a resident of Champaign for a great many years. His funeral occurred on Monday afternoon at one o'clock from the African M. E. church, and was conducted by the A. F. and A. M. lodge, of which order he was a member of high standing.

20. When Charles Lewis' estate is probated, his widow, Eva, is named administrator. She, Leonard and Frank are named as heirs. Charles' property is much more modest than that of his predecessor, mainly consisting of barbershop furnishings, and his widow is granted everything in the estate to cover her dower rights. Charles Lewis and E.A. Green died before death certificates were mandatory. Their resting places are unknown.

Petition of Eva Lewis
In the matter of the Estate of Charles Lewis
deceased, for Letters of Administration

To the Hon. W. C. Staley Judge of the County Court
of Champaign County, in the State of Illinois.

The petition of the undersigned, Eva Lewis respectfully represents that Charles Lewis late of the County of Champaign aforesaid, departed this life at Champaign
in said County, on or about the Twentieth day of November

A. D. 1890 leaving no last will and testament as far as your petitioner knows or believes,

And this Petition further shows that the said Charles Lewis died, seized and possessed of ~~the~~ Personal Estate, consisting chiefly of *One Barber Shop containing four Barber Chairs and other necessary fixtures all contained in premises rented of H. B. Mc Kinley situated on the corner of Wash & Walnut Streets

all of said personal estate being estimated to be worth about Two Hundred Fifty dollars. That said deceased left surviving him

Eva Lewis his widow, and Leonard Lewis, aged seventeen years and Frank Lewis, aged fifteen years
his children, as heirs. That your petitioner (being the widow of said deceased, and) believing that the said estate should be immediately administered, as well for the proper management of said personal estate

as for the prompt collection of the assets, by virtue of her right under the Statute she therefore prays that your honor will grant Letters of Administration to her the said Eva Lewis in the premises, upon her taking the oath prescribed by the Statute, and entering into bond in such sum, and with securities, as may be approved by your honor. Eva Lewis

Did you notice the earth shake yesterday? John L. Sullivan was in town. Not that real, genuine John, but a man who looks exactly like him, walks like him and talks like him. Curious people hung around the Carter house all day, trying to get a look at him, and when he went to the train he was followed by quite a crowd. The correct image of the great slugger was F. H. Bunny, a traveling salesman from Philadelphia. He said to a reporter: "Everywhere I go where I am not known, I am taken for Sullivan. Just the other day I made the town of Litchfield, in the southern part of the state, and in about an hour after my arrival the news flew like dust on a windy day, that the great Bostonian was in town. Crowds began to swarm around the hotel where I was stopping, and when I had to go out to see my customers I was followed by scores of people, and when I went to leave the town I think there were two hundred people at the train to see me off."

Chicago has a Big 4, engaged in the hog business; and now behold Urbana had developed a Big 4, composed of Wright, Besore, Oall and Heller, who not only are using their best efforts to keep down improvements in Urbana, but have taken it upon themselves to dictate that Champaign shall have neither electric railway nor electric lights. Fortunately, these men are not representative men of Urbana, and their only power is a little brief authority given some of them in the city council.

A BOARDER'S TROUBLES.

Mistaken for a Burglar, He is Pounded Upon by Twoirate Females.

Last night about nine o'clock a GAZETTE man was walking on a principal avenue, and was startled to hear the cries of "Murder, murder, fire, burglars, police, police," by a woman, or rather two women, but from the noise anyone would have been led to believe that it was a dozen women. Immediately the newspaper man ran back, not because there was some show of an item in it, but thinking that his services might be of assistance. The house was soon located, and the reporter started around the side when a man came darting towards him. The pencil-pusher was rather excited at first, but through the habit of grabbing onto rapidly moving things, he found himself in an instant tightly clutching the supposed robber and both were struggling to the ground. In hot pursuit came the women who had a few seconds before made the night hideous by their screams, one armed with an old hatchet, the other having a fine specimen of a poker. "Kill him," one cried, but the other suggested that he be held until she could run and bring a policeman. She hurried off down the street, and the reporter and remaining female both sat on the supposed burglar, the latter holding her implement of warfare—the hatchet—over the unfortunate fellow's head, and informing him the first move he made his brains would be forcibly removed, as she was somewhat on pounding beef-steak. After a few minutes the poor mortal, who thought his last hour had come, had regained sufficient wind to speak, and his would-be slayer immediately recognized his voice. She dropped her weapon and

This morning Charles Lewis, the barber, had a stroke of paralysis at his shop. He felt in as good health when he arose from bed, and got to his shop about seven o'clock. Just as he entered the door he was taken by a pain in the left side of his head, which extended to his foot. He hallowed, and one of his barbers ran to his side just in time to keep him from falling to the floor. He was carried to a chair and a carriage called, which took him to his home. A physician was called, who did all he could for the man. He is perfectly helpless, but has no pain.

Following is what the Omaha Herald says of Miss Stevens: "Her playing is marked by that grand breadth and dignity and majestic repose so characteristic of the Liszt school. She possesses the fire, brilliancy and daring that is not usually found in so young an artist." This talented lady will be at the Congregational church on next Monday evening.

The Ogden, Utah, Commercial says: "Mr. C. H. Nicolet, auditor of the Bear Lake and River Water-works and Irrigation company, and wife are rejoicing over the advent of a daughter of the average weight. The young lady arrived Thursday at 11 p. m." Mr. Nicolet is a son of City Clerk Nicolet.

J. D. Madden went to Chicago yesterday to meet his wife, who has been visiting the family of her son, J. F. Bradley, in Oregon, for several weeks. Mrs. Madden was accompanied home by Mr. Bradley

CARNIVAL OF THE MONTHS.

Additional Notes Regarding It—A Most Gratifying Success.

The ladies of the First Methodist Episcopal church are quite pleased over the result of their entertainment on Tuesday evening. A partial notice of the result was given yesterday, but the ladies find, as they gather up the fragments, that their receipts are even greater than reported yesterday.

Nearly five hundred dollars was taken in, and over four hundred dollars will be cleared. This fund is for the use of the parsonage committee. Mrs. F. J. Smith, who is chairman of this committee, managed the entertainment, together with Mrs. H. J. Pepper. These ladies, of course, had the co-operation of many other members of the society, both men and women.

The city orchestra, which rendered the good music, gave their services free to the society, and have their grateful thanks.

Mr. W. P. Lockwood, as Santa Claus, deserves especial mention. His headquarters were in the December booth, which was most beautifully arranged, and universally admired. It was presided over by Mrs. Pepper.

Santa Claus distinguished himself in leading the grand march. Following in his train were: the parties from the different booths; Uncle Sam, with his gorgeous suit; the Goddess of Liberty, carrying the flag; Mr. Fred Hessel and Mr. H. J. Pepper, representing the longest and

ANOTHER BIG INDUSTRY.

The Gullick Tailoring Establishment, and The Hands Employed.

Everyone knows where the Gullick Tailoring company carries on business, and but few people know the number of hands that flock into the factory every morning as the whistles are blowing for seven o'clock; and as the GAZETTE has commenced a "write-up" of Champaign's leading industries, this concern was chosen as the next following the Empire Cordage company. Mr. Gulick, the manager, has for many years carried on the same kind of business in Rantoul, but the fast growth of trade made it inconvenient for him in so small a town. He therefore decided to move to Urbana, which he did over a year ago, where he remained until he saw that he could do a larger business if he would move his factory to this city, and he at once began the search for a piece of ground on which to erect a suitable building for his business. This he got on Main street, just east of and adjoining the Behrens block, where he erected a brick store and factory 48x100 feet. The building was so planned that he could use it as a factory and also a retail house. The front is of plate glass, giving him two entrances and four large show windows. His sales-room is in front, where he has a floor space of 48x56 feet, and immediately in the rear of this is the cutting department, where all garments are cut, which occupies a space of 16x48 feet. Directly back of this is the work-room, where the

22. Although the family disappeared from Champaign County records, it was possible to find out where they were living at the time of the next census. Using the index to the 1900 census, we find Eva Lewis living in Springfield, Illinois, with her 'foster-son' Leopold H., 'foster-daughter' Gertrude L., and a niece, Dora A. Williams. This census gives the month and year of birth of each individual listed. From here it would be possible to go to the actual census listing for additional information on household members. Using the census index it was also possible to learn that Leonard W. Lewis (and most likely his brother Frank as well) had migrated to Chicago. So it would be in Sangamon and Cook Counties where the thread for this family would be taken up for further research.
