

ECONOMIC LIBERATION

Sentiments for the occupants of City Hall and One Police Plaza.

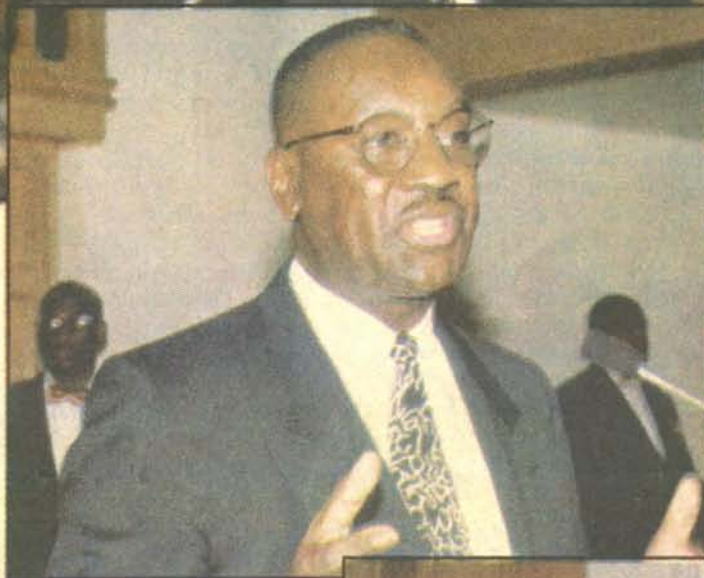

Ever defiant in the name of justice, Carol Taylor raises clenched fist.

A MOVE TOWARDS TRUE

Rev. Al Sharpton and Nation of Islam representative Minister Khallid Muhammad spoke recently of the lack of understanding, encouragement and communication in the Black community regarding economic empowerment and freedom. The duo addressed a recent meeting at Brooklyn's Bethany Baptist Church called to discuss Black economic development. Out of the session, a council was named to organize further discussions designed to "water the seed of our economic survival."
— Text: Marco Sainte; Photos: Lem Peterkin

Top: Rev. Dennis Dillon;

Top: Rev. Dennis Dillon;
(c)Rev. Watkins welcoming crowd to Bethany Baptist Church; and, at right, Min.
Kevin Muhammad.

Revs. Sharpston, Dillon and Norris.

Community resident Marco Sainte makes a point on economic strategies.

Questions from the floor.

Bob Law

Bishop Cecil Riley

Mark Griffith

"I got a plan," says this community resident.

Rev. Al Sharpton

Minister Kevin Muhammad

The Action Network Singers, led by Rev. Kennedy.