DR. E. H. MELLON
Superintendent of Schools

Although he is a vital part of the Unit IV school system, Dr. E. H. Mellon, superintendent of schools, is little known to the students of CHS. In his office at 702 S. New Street, Dr. Mellon performs many services including the direction of sixteen elementary schools, three junior high schools, and the senior high school. Dr. Mellon has helped to make possible the fine reputation of Champaign High School.

Board of Education

Every spring the citizens of the Unit IV school district elect two or three civic-minded individuals of the six elected members of the Board of Education. During their three year terms, these members formulate the policies of Unit IV, study its educational needs, and try to provide high level instruction for the Champaign schools. For efficient service, the Board is divided into building, instruction, finance, and transportation committees. The Board, along with Dr. Mellon and Mr. Patton, deserves sincere appreciation for the many hours of unselfish service to the community.

EARL D. PATTON
Assistant Superintendent of Schools

Board of Education

Standing, left to right: Mr. Patton, John F. Faulkner, Dr. Mellon, William Froom, President, Rupert N. Evans. Sitting: Mrs. Elizabeth Squires, J. Wallace Rayburn, Richard R. Edwards, N. L. Van Demark. Not pictured: E. A. Colbert, secretary.

CLINT R. KELLY
Principal

Although he has been at Champaign High School for only two years, Mr. Kelly has fostered many important changes in the curriculum. He is responsible for the new seventy minute periods, the first hour activity period, and the cumulative grading system. A friend to both students and faculty, Mr. Kelly is one whom the community looks forward to having at CHS for many years.

MISS NELL ZEHNER
Vice-Principal, Dean of Girls

Miss Nell Zehner has been faithfully and dutifully serving the girls of Champaign High School for the past sixteen years. Besides radiating graciousness and congeniality, she efficiently arranges schedules and records tardiness and absence. Her approach to her work has earned the admiration of both parents and teachers. Miss Zehner received her bachelor's degree in education from Eastern Illinois State University, and her master's from the University of Illinois.

GREGORY P. MALTBY
Administrative Assistant

As the new administrative assistant, Mr. Maltby has come to CHS after five years of teaching in other Illinois high schools. Working in conjunction with Mr. Kelly, he plans to do everything in his power to keep things running smoothly. Mr. Maltby has attended four Illinois colleges and universities: Joliet Jr. College, Illinois State Normal University, Northwestern University, and the University of Illinois.

CARL L. NELSON
Assistant Principal, Dean of Boys

Having taught for the past ten years in Illinois high schools, Mr. Nelson, though new at CHS, is readily capable of performing all the tasks as Dean of Boys. Since his chief interest is in young people, he has a definite code of conduct for the boys of Champaign High School. "If a boy wants to be treated like a young man, he must act like a young man." He has received a B.S. in education and a M.A. in Guidance and Administration. It is certain that Mr. Nelson will become one of our most valuable faculty members.

SENIORS

THE SENIOR

The last Champaign-Urbana football game, the last Homecoming Dance, the Junior-Senior Prom, the Senior Assembly—these memories will always be cherished by the seniors. Each year school activities and courses have taken on a new meaning for the '62 graduates. Each senior finally realizes the influence Champaign High School has been in his life. He now understands that the knowledge and experience gained in both schoolwork and in extra-curricular activities will be indispensable assets.

Anxious to begin this final year at Champaign High School, the seniors elected Richard Harper, president; Gene Forsythe, vice-president; Nancy Seitman, secretary; and Kathy McGuire, treasurer, to lead them in their activities. Committees were chosen by the officers to aid them in the selection of the class gift, the arrangement of Commencement plans, and the organization of the Senior Assembly. Additional advice was given by Mrs. Charlotte Anderson and Mr. Richard Wooley, class advisers.

School dances, exciting ball games, close friendships, and extracurricular activities made up the social aspect of the year. The final highlight of the senior year was the annual Prom given by the Junior Class in honor of the seniors. This dance and the traditional activities which accompany it are all happy memories for the seniors.

Many outstanding seniors, leaders in the academic, athletic, and social avenues of Champaign High School, were honored by their classmates and teachers in various ways. Seventeen seniors were honored as Seniors-of-the-Month; several boys and girls received citizenship honors; and others won scholarships to the schools of their choice. Many senior kings and queens reigned in 1962, and numerous boys distinguished themselves as outstanding athletes. These students contributed to a fine well-balanced senior class.

So the Senior Year draws to a close, but it is also a beginning for the class of 1962. It is the end of care-free, uncertain behavior and the beginning of preparation for college and life-time jobs. It is a turning point in the life of each senior, a place where he must honestly consider what he wishes to accomplish in his lifetime and where he must decide how he will achieve this goal. Seniors anticipate graduation with these thoughts in mind. They realize that Commencement is more than a close to their high school days; it is a beginning of a new life filled with new challenges.
