Friday Nights Provide Needed Study Time

Sunday . . . teen-abundant Chances R, a rousing feminine football game, and a reluctant return to neglected studies.

ANNEX Sophomores and Juniors will always remember the boiler room as one of the hot spots.

STUDENTS resembling mad fools tax their vocal chords at Champaign's slaughtering matches.

THOM Jackson and Dave Henricksen stock up on week-end sustenance, popular "Daisys".

CHS Loves Florence, Chances R, and Pool

Pants suits, pierced ears, Carnaby ties, and baby dresses were among the vices made so popular by the feminine forces at the Big C this year. The boys appeared en masse at the Urbana Tiger's Den, Red Lion, and Chances R, sporting swashbuckling apparel, including side leather bracelets, Army jackets, and the proverbial ragged levis. Among the more collegiate Villager set appeared matching wool skirt and sweater sets, penny loafers, and suits. Well-dressed males weren't without a V-necked pullover sweater and dark dress slacks.

LEFT: APPARENTLY the common fallacy that boys must be dragged to dances doesn't hold as this couple arrives to "trip the light fantastic." BELOW: Winning float in the theme division.

A thwarted bonfire-pep-rally, a winning score, and a dimly lighted dance were the ingredients that made up 1967 CHS Homecoming. Although hopeful plans for a pep session that included a victory fire had been done away with by the administration, the supporters seemed content with a run-of-the-mill rally held in Centennial Park. As a result of the office opposition, tags stated: "Champaign will beat Danville, pending approval by the administration." The Homecoming Dance, "Bewitched by Night," was reigned over by football's Doug Kurasek, and Cheerleading's Whitney Pope. The King had been previously announced at a hop that followed a football game, and the queen at the half-time of the same game.

OUR OWN interior decorators labored to transform everyday halls into spirit-inspiring lanes. RIGHT: Sophomores proved surprisingly cunning in their third floor decorative attempts.

Teachers Join in the Centennial Campaign;

On the eve of the long-awaited Champaign-Urbana football game, weeks of planning, hours of labor, and a school full of spirit paid off in a winning 40-0 burst of glory for the combined Annex and Champaign High varsity team.

The days before the "Big Night" were filled with frantic hall decorating contests, each class assigned to respective floors. Due to a shortage of halls, the local faculty was loaned the famed cafeteria for concentration of their artistic efforts.

Teachers sported tags declaring "Ola Bundy is here to say, Urbana could be beaten by Champaign's GAA" and "Thelma Fite says Fite, Fite." Clever students displayed outstanding wit and candor by sporting slips stating "Champaign will beat Urbana pending approval of the administration."

HANG THE TIGERS—the morbid but effective slogan practiced by bloodthirsty cheerleaders.

Christmas Brings $244 to Needy Families

Upon recommendation from her teachers, and from the votes of the student body, Donna Reed evolved as Champaign High's 1967 version of Miss Merry Christmas. Included in her role was a ride with Santa Claus through downtown Champaign, and the duty of handing candy canes to children. Donna and her attendants were presented with small gifts on behalf of the city.

Donna Reed, elected to be Miss Merry Christmas, begins her reign over the holiday season.

State and National Honors Go to Seniors

The annual Boy's and Girl's State Convention was again held in Springfield during the summer of 1966. Representing Champaign were Gary Starwalt, John Hindman, Mike Cox, Phil Read, Roger Tippy, and Donna Reed, Governor of Girl's State. The students were picked by local teachers and sponsored by the American Legion. By attending the meetings, they became acquainted with the facets of citizenship, government, and Americanism.

Seniors Gary Miller, Rick Emerick, Julie Hall, Jill Hartman, and Marilyn Jungst excelled in intellectual ability and, as a result, were honored as National Merit Semi-Finalists. To attain this exalted rank, they were required to score especially high on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was open to any student who felt inclined to attempt it.

1967, a Good Year for Foreign Students

Asked her opinion of The Good Old U.S.A., Gitte Moller, foreign exchange student from Norway would tend to place her response in the affirmative. Nevertheless the incessant American busy-ness sometimes mystified her.

She readily became a close part of the Cathy Douglas Family, with whom she was "stationed." According to Cathy, she "even entered into the family arguments." How much closer can you get?

CHS had a good opportunity to widen its European relations as it had students from at least five different countries. Viet Nam, Panama, Spain, Norway, and Switzerland were among those represented.

GITTE and hostess, Cathy Douglas, get in a few yuks over their meager meal of chicken pot pies.

Two Councils Face Unavoidable Separation

HOLDING the Tri-High Dance at Lincoln Square gives the Tri-High Members a chance to clown around as they make their plans. The whale is a favorite among these members. Clockwise: Steve Sodemann, Chris Riemer, Jill Kirk, Cathy Dillavou, Jane Smith, and Judy Flock.

The last year of a united Student Council saw both team effort—Homecoming 1966, and individual school effort—Beat Urbana Week. President Susie Little worked closely with Art Ackerman, Annex Council President, to coordinate the activities of the two schools.

In addition to working on off-Council activities, such as Election board and House of Representatives, members spent many a sixth hour making posters, evaluating past projects, and organizing new activities.

Two events, the District Convention in Decatur and the State Convention at the Sherman House in Chicago, provided opportunities for Council members to learn as well as influence others.

STUDENT COUNCIL SPONSORS: Mrs. Nancy Yaxley and Col. John Frothingham. Absent is Miss Linnea Thorp, Annex Council sponsor.

FOUND at a country auction, the carriage, used as a throne for the Homecoming Dance, is remodeled with silver paint and black velvet. Bea Brown reaches to get that last spot covered.

Cookies, Decorations Relieve Daily Tensions

Term papers, chemistry experiment reports, art projects, and college applications would seem to fill every Honor Society member's day; yet each one found enough time in his busy schedule to bake two dozen cookies for the Homecoming Hop in the fall and to tap the new initiates in the spring. For the first time all clubs were to decorate the halls of the school at Christmas time, so Honor Society lent its willing hand. Mr. Frank Coates, the sponsor, helped to organize the group in another project as they collected the information necessary to publish a high scholastic honor roll.

COUNTING the Honor Society's receipts from the Homecoming Hop are Mr. Frank Coates, sponsor; Jill Hartman; and Dave Brunkow.

Breakfast Skippers Devour House Do-nuts

House of Representatives made an outright attack on the uncultured masses this year when they attempted to win them over via a permanent art exhibit. Under the expert guidance of sponsor W. H. Vandevender and with Speaker Bruce Roznowski setting the pace, House worked this project into their program, which also included serving as an indicator of student opinion for Student Council.

Representatives from each sixth hour class showed their enthusiasm by making the supreme effort and struggling out of bed an extra half hour early to help with the morning do-nut sales in the cafeteria. However, treasurer's reports at the Tuesday afternoon meetings showed that it was all worth it, and as the till began to fill, the Art Project became a reality.

Stage Storage Is Refuge for Stolen Props

IN STAGE STORAGE it could be almost anything from a hung effigy to a pair of sailor's whites to a genuine stereo receiving set that Bob Atkins is pointing out to Steve Wascher.

Painting foliage, stealing props from friendly garbage collectors, and adjusting baby spotlights filled many hours for Wig 'n Paint crew workers. Activity card punchers, ticket sellers, make-up experts, and a student director added their efforts to the actors' performances. The club made their debut with the three act comedy, SEE HOW THEY RUN. Flats were hardly put away when work began on the contest play and the Stunt Show. The Spring musical and a trip to Chicago climaxed a very active year.

STRIKING the set after a play can be a problem when a stubborn nail refuses to budge.

STEADY ON the catwalk, Tom Jackson, pulls levers to achieve a new lighting effect.

BACKSTAGE from the lighting booth, Gary Perkins gets his lighting cues for the next scene.

AMIDST ALL the clutter in Wig 'n Paint's refuge, Stage Storage, Mr. Greg White, their sponsor, quickly organizes committees to decorate the outside halls in a dramatic Christmas spirit.

BURY THE DEAD, Champaign's contest play this year, is the story of five Americans shot in a Nazi prisoner-of-war camp who refused to be buried.

The members of the cast relax for a moment during rehearsal while their director, Mr. Greg White, tells them how he wants a scene played.

NOT BENT on the destruction of mankind but only hamming it up are Order of the Mask members Steve Wascher, Bob Atkins, John Strehlow, Marge Stevens, and Larry Mayo.

STEVE WASCHER, a look of fear distorting his features, shrinks from an unseen monster.

Crew Members and Actors Acquire Points

The ulterior motive behind all the Wig 'n Paint member's work was the drive to earn points. Many hours of painting scenery or memorizing lines resulted in the one hundred points necessary for membership in Order of the Masks. This dramatic honorary society, sponsored by Mr. Greg White, was open to backstage crew members as well as actors. However, the point system made them a select group.

PERCHED precariously on a not-so-steady ladder, Bob Atkins peels a dutchman from a flat.

Carols and Cocoa Add to Holiday Spirit

hagen, Patty Hendrix, Rich Friedberg, Sherry Mattingly, Dana Bartelt. ROW FOUR: Tam Kidwell, Juli Hall, Bruce Roznowski, Dorothy Fancher, Barb Ducoff. Mrs. Marcia Bernhard is the adviser this year.

"Ruhe! Ruhe!" or "Quiet! Quiet!" was the plea of Herr Baltis and Frau Bernhard to stop the practicing and begin the Weihnachtsabend. This year's program found German clubbers, complete with costumes, re-creating the traditional German folk dances. The din of German songs and the hilarity of amateur acting set the scene for the holiday celebration. Hot cocoa and carols helped to include the member's families in the Weihnachtsabend spirit.

LARRY MAYO, make-up artist supreme, adds that last finishing touch to actor Jim Seaver.

A MOMENT'S pause provides time for Eilleen Mulvihill and Ron McAdow to polish lines.

TO INSURE the success of the German Club's Weihnachtsabend, the choir rehearses attentively under the direction of Lynn O'Hearn.

Merrifield. ROW THREE: Nancy Spencer, Susan Stotler, Chris Finlay, Keith Taylor, Eric Swain, Mike Hendricks, Stan Honn, Greg Kaufman. French Club was composed of members from both the Annex and the main building, but they held separate meetings.

CHS Frenchmen Fête Holiday Rendezvous

ABOVE: OFTEN mistaken as a student, but really a French teacher turned to History, Mrs. Mary Baker brings her offerings to the party. RIGHT: Linda Parker decorates the halls in the true French spirit.

Early in the fall, recruited French students christened their Homecoming float "Tower Over the Vikings". Later these Frenchmen and four willing sponsors organized Champaign's French Club. Although the business meetings of this group were often hard to distinguish from their "tete-a-tetes," the Christmas season brought reports from students of other countries about their customs and slides of gay Paree instilled dreams in many members' minds.

New Requirements Add Members to Club

BEING the only male participant in Latin Club's Saturnalia, Ben Chin was unanimously crowned king for modeling the best toga in his class.

CAUGHT in the dark watching slides of Italy during their Christmas party are Marcia Foster, Regina Bresnan, and Mary Carpenter.

Joined together in the singing of Latin Christmas Carols, toga-bearing Latin Club members celebrated their annual Saturnalia party.

Second year Latin students were instructed in the Epicurean way as the club loosened its requirements for membership. As the club enlarged to thirty members, they united in Pax Romana to sponsor a table at the International Supper and to construct a float for Homecoming. Money from concessions at a hop provided the funds for these projects.

ESPECIALLY eager for the goodies sealed inside the piñata are Sharon Holt, Myriam Mendoza, Sandra Schweighart, and Linda Coad.

APPROPRIATELY dressed and ready to smash the piñata for the Spanish Club Christmas party are Melva Taylor and Myriam Mendoza.

Iberian Culture Reveals New Way of Life

The joyful singing of Spanish carols and the wild attempts to puncture the pinata were a big part of the Posada, a Spanish Christmas custom not outdated by Spanish Club. Their other Iberian interests took form in participating in a foreign pen pal service. Their efficiency was practiced in organizing a table for the annual International Supper. Spanish speaking guests and slides of Columbia helped to increase the enthusiasm for the Spanish language and culture.

Many Dilemmas Demand Library Research

EVALUATING their material and taking notes from the opposing side's presentation for rebuttal are Leslie Silky and John Goodell.

BECAUSE speakers might get carried away when they debate a topic, John Hecker keeps them reminded of the remaining time.

Polished in the arts of back-talk, criticism and stubbornness, CHS debaters took sound stands behind the podium. Some of Mrs. Reed's smoothest debaters tackled the topic "Resolved: That the foreign aid program of the United States should be limited to non-military assistance," with Mattoon, here at Schroeder Hall. With facts presenting both sides from such sources as U. S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT, SATURDAY REVIEW, and THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, the debaters hosted the Big 12 Debate and Individual Events Tournament. While CHS prided itself on the accomplishments of the debaters, few were willing to start an argument with any one of them.

WITHOUT A glance at his notes, Gary Lietz, president, presents a convincing argument on the foreign aid policy of the United States.

GAINING the attention of everyone, Mr. Wally Lehman, one of the three sponsors, begins one meeting with a lecture followed by discussion.

COUNTING exact change is not easy, but Alice Berkson gives her customer the right amount under the watchful eyes of Mr. Wally Lehman.

Concessions Sponsor Parties for Children

Sharing week-end activities with their somewhat younger friends in the Pal Program was a rewarding time-consumer for the Human Relations Club. Congregating twice a month, the club sought out guest speakers who verbalized on topics including, "Relevance of Religion and Urban Renewal". Gathering funds from concessions at basketball games, the club sponsored parties for underprivileged children. The group, organized by Mr. Eddie Palmer, Mr. Wally Lehman, and Mr. Selby Klein, chose Joy Boelens as their president.

ORGANIZATION turns to confusion during half-time at the concession stand as Margaret Phillips and Jo Shapland blindly please everyone.

Candy and Light Bulbs Send Choir on Tour

Despite the awful possibility of one's voice cracking on a high G sharp in the state solo contest, one-hundred four brave souls were accepted into Champaign High School's largest choir. No cracked voices, only low humming and broken phrases from the "Schubert Mass in G" or the "Hallelujah Chorus" could be heard in the halls after A Cappella's fifth hour class. With Mr. William Olson as the Annex A Cappella director, the yellow walls of the Annex reverberated every tone. To put resonance behind all of this, Men's Ensemble was able to meet and practice during the fifth hour class. Their music spread all the way to Tennessee this year as the choir members earned enough money from light bulb and candy sales to finance a tour to Chattanooga.

CONFUSION results around Jill Hartman and Bev Graham as the name sheets are passed.

Determined Musicians Surmount Obstacles

Amid scores of music festivals, contests, concerts, plays, and dances, laryngitis or a broken violin string could have proven fatal to members of Madrigals or orchestra. Fortunately, the number of these catastrophes was small enough for these groups to maintain their reputation as being the most select and specialized for music students. But glory would not have been theirs without enthusiasm and long, late hours of practice. The time spent proved to be well worth the effort as determination was the force that overcame an awkward rhythm or squeaky string.

MR. EDWARD WILCOX takes over from his student teacher, Mr. Steven Gordon, for a short moment to demonstrate to his class exactly how he wants a certain passage to be played.

REHEARSING for the Christmas Concert, Jill Hartman practices a difficult cello rhythm.

Strains of Batman Echo at Football Games

POW! ZAP! ZONK! Could this be the new precision code of the Champaign High School Marching Maroons? No, but this was one of the many themes used as the football game half-time entertainment. Band conductor, Mr. James Rouintree, joined the marching musicians to fill the bleachers with the unforgettable tunes of James Bond, Maxwell Smart, and Batman. With practice as the secret password, the Marching Maroons spent many cold, drizzly mornings trodding through the dew-covered grass of McKinley Field. After the football season the Band showed its serious side in concerts and contests.

Vocallettes utilized the secret password, practice, at the weekly Wednesday afternoon rehearsals. Their nearly thirty female voices, were chosen from A Cappella by the director, Mr. Eugene Biggs.

ALL EYES are glued on Mr. Rouintree as he gives the Marching Maroons some last minute instructions before they march down to the field.

After the football season was over, the band members dropped the first quarter zero hour band practice and changed from their marching formation to their concert position, playing not only at concerts, but also during assemblies and basketball games. Rousing renditions of "We Want a Touchdown" and "Champaign Fidelity" bolstered school spirit and added life to assemblies.

INSPECTING the band as they become seated, Mr. James Rouintree listens carefully to the warm-ups before the Pops Concert.

BATON CLUB'S Homecoming float, the "Victory-ola", took first place over fifteen other floats.

MAJORETTES, Sue Walden, Linda Irle, Kathy Gorden, and Pam Walker attend zero hour classes during the football season to practice the half-time routines with the Marching Maroons.

DRUM MAJOR, Frank Alexander, concentrates for a quick moment before the band marches.

THE MINUTES before the fall Choral Concert are well spent as the members from the four performing choirs warm-up with special exercise drills and different parts of their songs.

PERFORMING at three away games, the members of the marching band become experts at finding a place in a school bus for the big bass drums, long trombones, and noisy cymbals.

Cantrece Hose, Swim Caps Liven Initiation

It was a known fact that Baton Club talent was not limited to music alone, and that much of this extra talent was spent selling turtles and other chocolatey goodies under the direction of sponsor Mr. James Rouintree. Many teachers and students found themselves possessors of radiant GE bulbs, as well as a few extra pounds gained from Peanut Butter Cups.

The traditional Initiation livened a normally dull school day. Girls, wearing trousers and pajama tops, carried buckets for donations. The boys, dainty in their Cantrece hose, learned how it feels to wear layers of make-up.

INFORMAL INITIATION gives Baton Club members a chance to poke fun at their initiates.

Initiation Includes Poetry and Paperbacks

PRESIDENT Jim Barton demonstrates his salesmanship as he explains to Katie Kuhne the assets of this particular Quill and Scroll book.

AT THE LAST MINUTE initiate Dave Brunkow works on his sign advertising paperback books for informal initiation of Quill and Scroll.

A paperback book was surely the insignia of Quill and Scroll. The seventeen members of this honorary club busied themselves with decorating showcases, making posters, and selling paperback books. Fall pledges were assigned the task of writing ear-catching bulletin announcements to lure inquisitive students to room 105 to buy books. Prospective journalists from MAROON and CHRONICLE reflected many hours of copy writing during the candlelight initiation ceremony. Appalled by the thought of a world oblivious to their accomplishments, initiates wore signs, recited poetry, and, of course, sold paperback books for informal initiation.

Creativeness Sneaks Out Between Classes

Why were students accosted in the halls, offered blank sheets of paper, and begged to be creative? Why did Mrs. Barker snatch unsuspecting geniuses between classes and demand that they write a poem or essay? These deeds were commonplace for the tireless crew of OF SMOKE AND PARCHMENT whose avowed purpose was to squeeze out or plead out the last shred of imagination from CHS authors.

WHEN Mrs. Avis Barker took over as the sponsor of Literary Chronicle, the west end of the Library became their new headquarters.

THE SEVEN assistants and the nearly forty reporters on the CHRONICLE staff are ready to write stories, headlines, or captions at a moment's notice. Nancy Kennedy, Melanie Spence, Barb Koester, John Carpenter, and Debbie Hunt check some last minute details.

Editors Attend Chicago TRIBUNE Workshop

Sixth hour found scores of editors, assistants, typists, and odd job experts massed together in a mini-press, producing a paper just big enough to cover activities at Champaign High.

Inspired by summer journalism camps, CHRONICLE members united their efforts to cover every school happening and mis-happening. The scope of staff genius was extended when Jean Black and Kris Mautz attended the Chicago TRIBUNE workshop at McCormick Place.

OPERATING as the CHRONICLE'S only two photographers are Richard Kritz, the head photographer, and Benjamin Chin, his assistant.

AFTER THE advertising space for the Champaign CHRONICLE has been sold in the fall by the sophomore and junior assistants, Cathy Dillavou, Arna Leavitt, and Trudy Troxell must plan the layouts for each week's paper during their sixth hour preparation period.

MAROON Staff Confirms CHS Centennial

DISCOVERING that Mrs. Maureen Bekemeyer, the new MAROON sponsor, was a member of the MAROON staff her sophomore and junior years but not her senior year at Champaign, are Miss Nancy Plocar, the new business adviser, and Barb Werstler, the Editor-in-Chief.

Shoving their granny glasses up off their noses, the 1966-67 MAROON staff sifted through piles of old and weathered documents to verify CHS's centennial. Finally proof was found in the 1916-17 yearbook, which celebrated our fiftieth anniversary. To maintain the journalistic quality of the 1965-66 All-American MAROON, the two new advisers, Mrs. Bekemeyer and Miss Plocar, helped surmount problems, such as tardy yearbook kits, missing retake lists, and lost copy. As the result the staff produced an especially commemorative book—the 1966-67 Centennial MAROON!

IN ADDITION to the MAROON planning period and the Tuesday night meetings editors meet to discuss various summer workshops. Grace

Richardson, Art Editor; Elaine Massock, Copy Editor; Maggie Reno, Sports Editor; Edra Jones, Co-Underclass Editor; Marilyn Terrill, Co-

Underclass Editor; Nancy Alexander, Co-Organizations Editor; Jane Kelley, Co-Organizations Editor; and Gayle Fielding, Faculty Editor.

THE CHRONICLE business staff sells the advertising space for the football and basketball programs, while the MARQON business staff members, Suzy Blair, Debby Larson, and Jane Smith, take charge of distributing the programs at all of the varsity home games.

Charlie Brown Crashes FTA's Holiday Tea

Hitler, Charlie Brown, and Casanova at FTA's annual teacher's tea? No, just another rendition of that old familiar game, "Who am I?", or "guess-whose-name-is-on-your-back"? The punchbowl, presided over by sponsor, Mrs. Louise Vidas, and the bright Christmas cookies gathered a crowd. Later in the year the PAL program, a new project for FTA, enabled the club to work with five Champaign area children. First or fifth hour of second semester became the time for girls to throw on a coat and dash for one of several elementary schools. All the furious activity was for this—to become the teacher instead of the taught.

SPONSOR, Mrs. Louise Vidas, joins the fun at FTA's Teacher's Tea when Susan Porter pins "Hitler" on her back for "Who am I?"

Services, Jobs Are Goals Behind Projects

As if giving an Easter party for the Junior Service League Nursery was not enough, Future Nurses took part in many other school and community activities. Nursing homes for the elderly were visited, a table was filled with delicious looking edibles, and a sock hop was sponsored in the fall. But service was not this club's only goal. Informative talks on medical occupations were well attended and field trips were made to various hospitals.

BOARDING the train was just the beginning of a week-end at St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago for Mary Walsh and Cheryl Baldwin.

DETERMINED not to forget their advisor over the holidays, Future Nurses presented Mrs. Ann Sims with roses before vacation began.

ADMISSIONS Director for Cook County school of Nursing, Mrs. Eastman, told the girls what to look for in choosing a nursing school.

WRITING telegrams to Santa Claus telling him exactly what they want under their tree, Future Secretaries Jackie Williams, Cindy Fulfer, Debbie Butsch,

Santa Sends Stencils to CHS Secretaries

Conglomerations of stencils, notehand tablets, files and assorted letter forms, and phone message pads were the dreams of every Future Secretary. Lessons on grooming, applying for a job, and proper dress were worked in betwixt and between time writings and centering exercises. The senior career girls struck the road of trying, timed efforts.

FFA Sponsors Education of Greek Student

As a result of their many projects, FFA members found little time for their farm duties. Early in the fall the officers attended the national convention in Kansas City and the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. In addition to a meat and milk judging contest, Swine Day at the U. of I. kept FFA members on the go. Other activities ranged from sponsoring a Greek student's education to sponsoring a safety program during the holidays. Outstanding members were honored at the club's Parent-Son Banquet.

AS A PART of their meetings FFA members often use the recreational facilities in the Agriculture area. Before the meeting officially begins Steve Dively and Mike Griffin relax with some ping pong, while Chuck Pittman, Ken Siler, Steve Heffernan, and Paul Nickell watch attentively.

TO BE SURE Annex members do their share for the money-making project, Maria Parisi and Mrs. Walker pack the cookbooks to send to them.

FHA's Survey Questions CHS on Morals

A survey of CHS students concerning morals was directed by the Future Homemakers of America in relation to their theme for the year—Morals and Manners Matter. During less serious moments members planned a skating party with FFA and sold cookbooks. Food played an important part as FHAer's served tantalizing meals to International Supper goers and gave a Christmas basket to the "Christmas Exchange". At the suggestion of the sponsors, Mrs. Helen Walker, Mrs. Lila Jeanne Eichelberger, and Mrs. Marilyn Sindors, one of their girls was sent to Leadership Camp.

FHA's THEME for this year is supplemented by the showcase on third floor as Brenda McGlasson and Janie Stone put up pertinent posters.

Sales Sponsor Biweekly Trips to Allerton

Hungry Annex students took advantage of Biology Club's doughnut sales every morning before school. The money raised from this project sent the twenty-five members of the club on field trips every other Saturday. In addition to these field trips, usually to Allerton Park near Monticello, the club held weekly meetings, often highlighted by guest speakers. Through his concern, Mr. David Casteel, sponsor, aroused the group's interest in our country's conservation problems. He also helped the members to arrange an overnight trip to the Indiana Sand Dunes State Park in Chesterton, Indiana.

JUST BEFORE time to leave for the field trip Mr. Casteel explains the use of the plankton net to Mike Birtcher as he puts it in the pack.

SATURDAY MORNING Mike Birtcher, Jim Mattheis, Hugo deVries, and Dave Brown wait to pile into the car for the trip to Allerton.

SINCE the profits sponsor Biology field trips, Annex members Mike Halverson and Ron Jewell willingly sell a do-nut to Jessie James.

Dancers in Black Leotards Besiege Halls

Coached by Mrs. Parker, the modern ballerinas of Orchesis entertained with one of their modern dance routines at the annual PTA Open House. Their creativity resulted in an act from outer space for the Stunt Show. Girls clad in black leotards were often shoved into corridors to practice and were frequently forced to use a ladder as a prop when the Empire State Building was not available. During the modern dance unit in their PE classes, they gained immediate glory for their professional air as compared with the majority of awkward and stumbling amateurs.

Refreshments Paint the Way to St. Louis

Is it true that Canvas Board meetings were frequented by devoted "artnicks" garbed in paint-smeared smocks with pockets filled with secondhand paintbrushes? The officers, headed by Grace Richardson, racked their brains for money-making projects to finance their trip to St. Louis. Their brainstorm resulted in selling refreshments at a local art show and sponsoring a hop. Girl Athletes Make Homemade Ice Cream

The Champaign varsity football team being tackled by a mass of seventy females armored in green gym suits? GAA did not attempt it, but backed by the enthusiasm of their new club sponsor, Miss Ola Bundy, the girls just might have been able to accomplish such a remarkable feat. Points, gained through athletic activities, gave new initiates the right to participate in GAA sports. Since members were already experts at badminton, tennis, bowling, and basketball, a new muscle-molding activity was added to their Tuesday night workout—volley tennis. The mother-daughter banquet, the wiener roast at Hessel Park, and the slumber party were not exactly strenuous athletic endeavors, but they provided diverse recreation for the members, who enjoyed their year actively spent.

MOLLIE BOLDEN could not resist a chuckle at the situation which requires Mrs. Sandra Nicol's help to get the ball off of her thumb.

Dirty Fingers Bring School Spirit to CHS

Even though the Peparoon's posters were not Picasso's, they got the point across, cheering a great team on to a victory and publicizing bus transportation to the away games. Supervised by Juli Hall and Jeannie Herrin, the Peparoons attending the weekly poster-making sessions seemed to leave more paste and felt ink marks on the cafeteria tables than on their masterpieces. Nevertheless, ready to add that extra bit of spirit, they were out decorating McKinley Field for Homecoming long before anyone thought of coming to the game. This spirit, aroused in an assembly by one coach's plaintive plea, urged many girls to start going to the four required minor sports events.

MAGGIE RENO, Max Maroon, finishes the Pep song, as the football team is honored in a surprise assembly after the Champaign-Urbana Game.

Routines Develop in Early Morning Chaos

Beginning in the mild coolness of early September and ending in the frigidness of late October, the Pepettes devoted several mornings a week from 7:30 until 8:15 to Pepette practice. Dressed in slacks, raincoats, boots, and curlers, the girls hurried to McKinley Field to polish their routines for the Friday night football game. Encouragement from their sponsor, Mrs. Mary Major, was well taken as the big boost the eighty-seven Pepettes gave to school spirit was evident in the Homecoming and Beat Urbana pep assemblies.

Finding enough time in crowded schedules to participate in all Pepette functions proved to be a problem. Performing at each of the four home football games and travelling to the game in Bloomington kept Pepettes busy on Friday nights. In addition, many girls marched in the University of Illinois Homecoming Parade and the parade that escorted Santa Claus into Champaign.

During the basketball season, the Pepettes were allowed to participate in the half-time ceremony for the first time in four years. Their rustling white pom-poms and maroon skirts and sweatshirts created an impressive sight as they cheered enthusiastically. None, save the custodians, seemed to mind that after each game the pom-poms grew smaller and smaller.

MAROONS RATE—FIRST IN STATE!

The 1967 CHS footballers were an outstanding representation of the winning tradition at Champaign, not only boasting an unbeaten record, but finalizing the record of Champaign-Urbana conquests in a 40-0 conference championship win over Urbana.

But the team was not the only highlight in football this year. Head coach Tommy Stewart boosted his winning record to 103. And to coincide with the teams' number one rating, he was named at the NEWS-GAZETTE All-State Banquet as Illinois High School Coach of the Year.

Champaign got off to a strong start early in the year with a 20-0 upset of the highly touted Streator Bulldogs. There were several trying moments in the Joliet West game, when in the final minute, CHS behind 20-19, junior quarterback Bruce Elliot connected with end Terry Andrew for the deciding tally. This is where the CHS steamroller began all out, first running over conference underdog Mattoon 21-7, then smashing undefeated Schlarman 34-7, and gaining sweet revenge of a previous year's loss by spoiling the Bloomington Raider's homecoming 20-0.

In the 48-14 rout of Decatur, passing quarterback Bruce Elliot was sidelined for the duration of the season with a broken arm. Senior John Hindman, after playing only one game following a bout with mononucleosis was put in charge of the CHS offense. In his debut he passed the Maroons to a close 14-12 Homecoming victory over cellar contender Danville.

The 47-0 win over Lincoln showed even more the great determination and drive of a great team, but not as much, as well, or as satisfyingly as the final game which ended an era in the annals of football in the Midwest, as well as marked the centennial observance of the class of 1967.

The Maroons, displaying the fighting spirit traditional at CHS, were undaunted by the underdog rating and the thirty pound per man deficit in weight. The contest was never disputed by the Urbana eleven as they lost a conference championship, a winning streak, and the big game 40-0.

For this and the entire season, the Maroons received from Coach Stewart the greatest respect and praise possible, "This is the greatest team I've ever coached."

With butterflies in their stomachs, many of the Sophomore football squad experienced their first, but hopefully not their last, high school football game.

The underclassmen, following closely in the footsteps of their older counterparts, outclassed their opponents for a 6-1 record. The lone setback came early in the season at the hands of Urbana, but this loss was thoroughly avenged later in the season during the second meeting of the two clubs, when the Maroons decisively rolled to their fifth victory in six outings.

Much of the burden of the sophomore squad rests on the shoulders of head Soph coach John Macek. This burden is well carried. Teaching the fundamentals of blocking and basic offensive plays is a large part of Soph football, and obviously, Coach Macek has done an outstanding job, not only two years ago, but this year also.

THE YOUNG Maroons have wedged themselves in as future contenders.

SIDESTEPPING, rolling, and sprinting from a tackler is Joe McNeal.

EVEN WHEN the best are caught, they always manage to bounce back.

Improvements Sprout from Disappointment

Coach Harold Jester's cross-country team, containing only one returning letterman, co-captain Doug Mattox, encountered a losing, but experience-building season.

The Harriers were handicapped early in the season by injuries to two of the most promising runners, senior Bob Gillespie, and sophomore Bruce Schuman. Schuman and Gillespie, prior to their injuries, were the leading Harriers for CHS.

Concerning the squad, Coach Jester remarked early in the season, "This team has worked as hard as any team we've had. We've had many improvements."

The improvements became obvious in the final meets of the season as Rantoul squeaked by with a narrow one point margin. Second place at the Mattoon Triangular eluded the Maroons by only four points. Springing back from a disappointing season's showing, the Harriers swept into eighth place out of thirty-three schools in the conference meet.

Now possessing a solid nucleus of juniors and sophomores, Coach Jester is very optimistic about his future cross country squads, as he well may be.

COMPETING in his last meet of the season, the old saying "break a leg" had senior Bob Gillespie out for the rest of the year.

Tankmen Follow Tradition and Drown UHS

The CHS tankmen, headed and coached by Ed Fredericks, has compiled a commendable 44-2 winning record, as well as some fine placings in invitational meets.

Much of the power behind the swimmers' attack lies behind veterans Doug Hatfield, Mike McGinty and Phil Read, but they are often aided by some fine sophomore material in the form of Al Dilly, Jim and John Hoppe, and Steve Tock.

Starting slowly by losing to a strong Danville team 57-38, a splashing comeback was made by outdistancing a tough Springfield team, 49-45, and by making cross town rival Urbana look all wet, 53-41.

Although losing to conference title holder Bloomington 67-28, the Maroons again made a quick recovery to swamp Springfield Griffin 76-19.

During the holidays, CHS made a fine showing and copped 5th place in the Normal Invitational Relays, despite the absence of several key team members. At the big Riverside-Brookfield Invitational, Maroon tankers again displayed fine talent in capturing 14th.

CHS Fast Breaks to 14-3 Midseason Slate

Champaign's cagers, under the direction of veteran coach Lee Cabutti, unleashed a lethal new, fast-moving attack, with obviously favorable results. Leading the attack were two six-five board cleaners in the tall forms of senior Bob Scofield and sophomore Clyde Turner. These two pillars of prowess, combined with the out shooting of the notorious Jackson brothers, Harry and Larry, and Jerry Kurasek, and also with the ball hawking and play making of Bob Shapland and Dennis Hinton, give much credibility to CHS Championship hopes.

CHS started at a hopping pace, first downing Rantoul decisively 70-59, then copping the first annual Rich East Turkey Classic with an outstanding 80-49 triumph over host Rich East. In the first meeting with highly state rated Springfield, the cagers were forced to accept their first loss, 55-50, but quickly jumped on the winning wagon again by soundly trouncing Salem 62-52, and breezing to an easy 52-30 victory over Lincoln. In a hotly debated contest, C.H.S. inched by Big 12 foe Danville 59-57, on past Decatur, 51-37, and over Batavia, 80-63.

Entering the Centralia tourney, rated No. 5, CHS surprised many by gaining two quick wins, only to be mauled by Benton and cut short by a fired up Decatur team. Despite the setbacks, the b-ballers still came out fourth, one above their rating.

As the Maroons bumped off cross town rival Urbana, 65-46, they also took sole possession of second place in the Big 12 race, and were seeded fourteenth in state standings.

The cagers boosted their record to 14-3 after digging out a 66-62 victory over scrappy Bloomington, and striding away from Mattoon 61-55.

The veteran observer expects this cage team to do well not only in district play, but also at the state level.

Sophs Follow Varsity in Winning Season

Champaign's young cage merchants, introduced to high school basketball by veteran mentor Charlie Due, have shown tremendous future potential. Coach Due has aptly demonstrated again that patience, persistence, and practice pay plenty of dividends. The young Maroons, provided with Dave White and Dave Henry as top rebounding powers, the crack shooting of Arberry Barnes and Tom Langlois, and the outstanding playmaking of Herbie Leshoure have come down a long, winding road.

Keeping pace with the older cagers on Big 12 courts has become habit. It started with a 59-41 victory over Decatur, was temporarily slowed down with a narrow 60-59 loss to Springfield, but was quickly regained through a string of six straight wins. Scrappy Salem was to fall first victim to the sophs, 54-45, followed by Lincoln 48-31, Danville 56-31, Decatur 61-51, and Batavia 63-36. Even though it ended the winning streak, the victory over a subdued Urbana quintet was certainly gratifying. A strong Bloomington ball club narrowly missed being upset, but slipped by the sophs 63-60. Mattoon became part of the winning habit for the soph cagers in a quick 65-56 decision.

With such potential, CHS can look forward to several more years of fine basketball representation.

CHS Grapplers Eye Big 12 Conference Title

The wrestling dynasty built by Coach Don Pittman and Asst. Coach Rich Wooley followed the CHS tradition of winning for the fifth straight year. The grapplers are eyeing a state championship, and are well on their way with an undefeated season and a solid core of experienced, willing, and hard working seniors, led by captain Doug Mattox.

CHS jumped all over Rantoul in the season opener, losing only two weights, and winning the meet 36-6. At the Granite City Quadrangular, the grapplers recorded 7 individual champions and two seconds, but only managed a second back in dual meet competition. The Maroons crushed Danville 35-7, then followed the lead of the footballers in positively squelching Twin-City foe Urbana by an impressive 34-14 margin. The next victim was Lincoln, who was soundly victimized by Bloomington, thoroughly trouncing them 36-6.

CHS then overcame a strong threat from Stephen Decatur and emerged victorious, 32-13.

Such outstanding team balance shows that CHS can be expected to valiantly defend their conference, district, and sectional titles.

Board Christens Annex "Centennial High"

At last the Unit IV Board had the chance to celebrate. As the final yellow stone was set into place, the new high school was declared complete. Newly elected president, D.J. Porter, officially announced the name of the new school early this year. Faithful Champaign High students will be asked to shift loyalties as the two schools are separated. Old friends may be united, as the boundary lines have been made approximately following those of the junior high schools.

Hardworking Administration Heads CHS

Many a student fades in and out of the framework of CHS with only a few glances at Mr. Clint Kelly, head administrator. He may be caught in a sunset silhouette at his desk, facing piles of rejected plans for CHS-Annex boundaries, or selecting a capable Annex staff. In his spare time, Mr. Kelly serves as chairman of a committee to counter-act drop-outs.

"Devotion" is the word personifying Mr. Carl Nelson, assistant principal and Dean of Boys. In addition to student-teacher scheduling, Mr. Nelson's "extra-curricular" projects included booking this year's activity calendar. Due to his patience, CHS is one of the few schools in Illinois which participates in night football and basketball.

Mrs. Darsham, assistant principal and Dean of Girls, urges "each student to realize his own capacity and further his ability to assume a worthwhile position in his world of today and tomorrow." During the summer, Mrs. Darsham emphasized her point when she joined some fifteen CHS students on a European tour. Perhaps another CHS tradition is born!

As the Annex looks forward to its first year as an independent high school, associate principal, Mr. Longenecker, and his assistant, Mr. Dennis Dahl, found many last minute details and complications to keep them busy. Establishing its athletic teams, year-book, plays, and clubs are challenges they will face in the near future.

Secretaries Become School Encyclopaedias

Through all the confusion of a school day, a friendly smile from an office secretary was always a relief. Ever armed with steno pad and carbon copies, the secretaries always completed schoolwork in perfect style. They could be counted on in times of emergency to produce a Johnson's band-aid or to fill a rush order for a bus pass to some panicky basketball fan. As a result of a continual involvement in every imaginable circumstance, the year's end found CHS secretaries transformed to breathing school calendars.

EFFICIENT Annex secretaries are Mrs. Avis Summers, seated, Mrs. Virginia Moon, Mrs. Evelyn Cummings, Mrs. Diane Watt, Mrs. Helen Beers, Mrs. Elizabeth Musgrove, and Mrs. Kathy Bergold.

Counselor Contributions Are Indispensable

How often did you sit in your worst class of the day hoping that a little blue slip would beckon you to that room of refuge, the counseling office? The counselors were a part of our working faculty and deserve a lot of credit for all that they did. Apart from helping students with their schedule mix-ups and assisting them in their personal problems, the counselors also organized all the "Career Showcases" and kept up on all the latest college information. So the next time you have troubles, do not let them bother you; intercept one of those little blue slips and take a trip to the counseling office. There you will find a whole room of trained people willing to help you.

English Scholars Burn the Midnight Oil

Midnight caught many English students pacing frustrated steps over a well-worn path, this time determined to uncover the contradictions in Plato's philosophy. Humanities students were found buried, groggy and blurry-eyed, under a mass of texts and piles of crumpled paper, scratching out the last words of a critical analysis of Hawthorne. Some were locked in bathrooms memorizing lines or conjuring up dramatic interpretations and explanations of their studies. Long days were rewarded by secure and restful sleep for these devoted scholars of CHS.

American Character Revealed in Humanities

A kaleidoscope of colored maps filled the Social Studies department, headed by Mr. Klein. Student analysts probed the history of evolving architecture, literature, customs and ideas. Sinking into a world of time immemorial, the adult historians at CHS decided to devote more attention to specific eras. Humanities classes settled on such themes as "The American Character" and "The Senior Theme?" Classes were provided for stoics, chauvinists, philosophers, and the conscientious, leading from days of yore to the twentieth century.

Science Provides for Variety of Activities

Whether it was dissecting a frog in biology or simply diluting acid in chemistry, science activities had strange results for some CHS students. An all day biology field trip was conducted by Mr. David Casteel, science teacher and Annex Biology Club sponsor. Stationed at the main building, JETS, the Junior Engineering Technical Society, gained equal renown under the leadership of Mr. Allen Smith, department head. The ingenuity of CHS science teachers has tempted more students to face unpredictable experiments.

New Math Is Old Stuff to the "in" Teachers

The strongest rectangular beam that can be cut from a circular log is one in which the rectangular cross-section is such that perpendiculars from two opposite vertices trisect the diagonal joining the remaining two vertices; therefore, in the cross section D,C,B,A, if $CX \perp DB$, $AY \perp DB$ and $DX=XY=YB$, it can be shown that the ratio of length to width of the cross section is $\sqrt{2}:1$.

A little help was sometimes needed to interpret this problem. That's what the never failing, rational math teachers at CHS were here for: to help problem students achieve a better understanding of mathematics while enjoying the course at the same time. Traditional math was combined with modern math to form a new system. A new series of texts were used for the first time this year. The Math department always found better ways to interpret the wide range of subjects in its field while keeping the basic fundamentals clear and precise. Now about that problem.

Fifth Year Language Introduced to CHS!

Greek was not offered at CHS this year, but the confusion of language students was no indication. Rolled r's and nasals became major catastrophes, and some Latin students found it impossible to put spirit in the already dead. However, for those who overcame the idiosyncrasies of French, Spanish, and German, a fifth year level was included for next year's schedule. Films, posters, magazines, dictionaries, tape recorders, overhead projectors, and additional text books also simplified the task. Students also sought refuge in the lab; thus, the lines of communication were temporarily opened.

DEVELOPMENT of spoken and grammatical techniques go hand in hand as Jon Mirabeau polishes his accents in the recording lab of the foreign language department.

From Garlic to Light Bulbs—Music 1967

Early in October the aroma of peanut butter and chocolate drifted through the halls of CHS. This, coupled with rumbling stomachs of hunger stricken students, added many nickels to the treasury of the music department.

Besides attending music classes, budding virtuosos could also belong to such clubs as Modern Music Masters and Baton Club. Obsessed with a sense of smell as well as sound, initiates of this organization added undertones of garlic to the already cluttered corridor odor and left their mark by winning Homecoming float competition with a "Sound Off to Victory".

Nestled in the western-most corner of the first floor is the Mecca of creativity for CHS artists. Here, hidden in the innocent guise of a classroom of budding finger-painting geniuses, students dressed in Eisner smocks and football jerseys explored their talents. Daily trips were made to West Side Park to capture on canvas the charm of half-naked boys playing soccer. Electronic Lab Aids the Business Student

Time clocks strategically placed at the front of the class were the dreaded enemies of the CHS typing ace. The sonic ring often uncovered backward achievement, but, for those intending to use their skills for personal studies, the disappointment was bearable. Students preparing for business careers could turn to an electronic shorthand lab newly added to further individual progress. Business students forgot their troubles while arranging the display window, or domesticating the dreaded clocks to time casserole preparation for the International Supper.

Practical Problems Challenge HE Pupils

Nursery school prodigies crying "Where's Mama?" inevitably prompted CHS Home Economics students to ask themselves the same question. They were faced with less taxing problems concerning consumer living, social security, income tax, budgetting, and housing. From choice units, students extracted such lessons as "always wear a thimble while sewing," and "remain loyal to the hotpad and timer while baking." Even male pupils benefited from field trips and selected guest speakers.

CHS Mechanics Build 1967 Project House

Being stranded in the midst of left over spark plugs and extra pistons often shattered the confidence of the auto mechanic student, leaving him bewildered and frustrated. This course in the Industrial Arts program set greasy fingered, oil covered boys to the disassembling and repairing of cars.

Next door, goggle-eyed creatures from the metal and machine shops stared back at office messengers, secretaries, and teachers. Rubber soled shoes became the password for students in the electrical shop, and a trail of sawdust inevitably meant the wood shop was near. Although the Agricultural department taught the latest farming methods, few tractors or combines were seen invading the halls of CHS. Whatever the field, these industrious mechanics students could use their class experience to continue in industrial arts careers.

2209 BRETT Drive, Champaign, pinpoints the pride and joy of the Industrial Arts department. From blueprint to reality, Mr. Robert Pittman coordinated the talents of twenty-four students who earned public acclaim at a spring open house. ABOVE: Woodshoppers and metalworkers master shop machines to explore their abilities. RIGHT: Patience and practice help Phil Wilson insulate the original framework of the 1967 project house.

Annex Completion Doubles PE Department

The completion of the Annex found their Physical Education Department enjoying added luxuries—lockers, showers, and a gym! Those at the main building who had obviously taken this convenience for granted, often trooped to the cafeteria for sessions of rhythm and modern dance. Fifty select girls found themselves faced with the tasks of the new Gym Leader program. However, spoiled or not, PE students gathered in the boys gym to face combat in one of the new sports at CHS—fencing. The expansion of the Physical Education Department only enlarged the challenges and opportunities available to the physical fitness advocates.

UNIVERSITY of Illinois lettermen aided future CHS duelists with the finer points of fencing.

CVE, OE, EMH: A More Specialized Approach

DOUGLAS BROWN expresses a humorous Christmas wish. The Educable Mentally Handicapped program offers specialized education designed to fulfill post-graduate opportunities.

While CVE participants learned about a future profession, their friends sat through classes waiting for the last bell. This was possible thanks to a project called COOPERATIVE VOCATIONAL EDUCATION. CVE combined Disbributive Education, Office Occupations, Agri-Business, Diversified Occupations and Food Services programs.

Seven teachers and Mr. Patton, the chairman of the project, worked together to instruct the students in such things as money management and job applications.

Occupational Explorations combined the work and business worlds.

Spatula and Wastecan: CHS Symbols

Hunger pangs struck as half starved students sat through the reading of the menu, newly incorporated in the daily bulletin. These aspiring gourmets stormed into lunch lines eager to snatch one of the 400 rolls available each day. Produced by hard work and 100 pounds of flour, rolls were only a minute part of the CHS brain food.

Joining in the lunchtime efforts were the custodians, armed with mop and broom. Around the clock work shifts also attended to sweeping pom pom streamers from the basketball court, wiping spray snow from decorated windows, and eradicating lipstick smears from restroom walls. Spatula and waste can became the signs of the cook and custodian at CHS.

RIGHT, efficiency is the password to the CHS cafeteria staff who provide nourishment to an average 3,500 students every week.

Sophomores Adapt to High School Life

Sophomore year, as any seasoned veteran would avow, is truly an education in itself, but the class of '69 was given a little extra homework.

For those at the Annex, sophomore year presented a special challenge. With different traumas than their counterparts at the main building, they were confronted with crises peculiar to those hallowed yellow halls: especially daily treks through muddy slosh to Jefferson and attempts to squeeze notebooks into undersized lockers. Life on this "island" proved to be highly bearable yet often unpredictable under the leadership of class officers: President, Tom Good; Vice President, Cindy Evans; Secretary, Jane Lateer; and Treasurer, Ada Trover, sponsored by Mr. Joe McGuire and Mrs. Janice Karabin.

Back at the main building, sophomore girls found compensation for being away from other members of their class, often in the form of junior or senior boys.

Meanwhile, the male section contented themselves with Hondas and the joys a little scrap of paper could bring on birthday number sixteen. They also did their lessons faithfully under the everguiding hands of sponsors Mrs. Anne Sims and Mr. Harold Jester, and class officers: President, Dave Henry; Vice President, Terry Nally; Secretary, Vicki Grunnet; and Treasurer, Arna Leavitt.

This first year of senior high education was marked by few misgivings, many unexpected triumphs, and the constant discovery of new experience.

Juniors Spend Last Year as One Class

Amid the bumps and grinds of an automobile with a huge yellow warning sign fastened across its rear fenders, under rolls of maroon and white crepe paper hung tastefully across the floor, and running manfully down an up-stairs, there appeared a special breed of Champaignites—juniors. From this hardy group, after undergoing two years of senior high education, two separate graduating classes will emerge. With these two years of experience behind them, the class of '68 plunged gleefully into their last year together.

Enjoying the privilege of "top men on the totem pole" those juniors at the Annex led the way to form new clubs and traditions at the school. No less industrious, those at the main building engaged in many extra-curricular activities and made plans for their seniorhood.

Uniting the two groups was the task of officers: President, Bob Mulcahey; Vice, Linda Scott; Secretary, Elaine Massock; and Treasurer, Martha Oliviera, who were sponsored by Mrs. Paula Henry, Mr. Robert Pittman, Mrs. Elfriede Gabbert, and Mr. Gary Wiseman. Yet this job was constantly eased as juniors renewed old friendships at hops and parties. With PSAT's, prom preparations, and term papers often competing for their time, the class of '68 showed themselves to be capable and responsible leaders for the challenges their senior year would offer.

Centennial Class Shares Hope and Despair

The class of '67, we think, was special for more than just its title of "Centennial Class". These 693 poured into all their daily activities the enthusiasm and purpose befitting the last senior class of Champaign, Illinois, to be graduated from the same high school.

The thrill of that single command, "Hey, Seniors"—and the mighty response it evoked, noon-time hamburgers shared in the luxurious comfort of a Volkswagen packed with five or six other eaters, those too early Pepette practices at McKinley Field, the TGIF atmosphere of an after game hop, the blazing glory of the Homecoming rally, street dances on the Lot, and mild investigations into such extracurricular activities as Clark Park touch, Sixth Street billiards, and West Side Park soccer matches served to brighten the day to day routine of the class of '67.

As seniors, they coped with the normal problems. They were plagued by frequent and extended periods of Monday-itis when work seemed especially distasteful and classes dragged on and on; but the Friday night game never failed to bring a rise out of every loyal senior as they alternately cheered and wept.

There were also times for laughter.

Assemblies were noted for their adroit female impersonations of football players and particularly the exclusive appearance of the Viking Homecoming Queen. Hardly could a group of seniors congregate that "remember" didn't once crop up and send the class of '67 into gales of laughter.

But along with the times for play were periods of deep thoughtfulness for the class of '67. Occasionally disappointments gave way to despair, school seemed unbearable and the world seemed to end just short of a physics test. Yet for every failure there was a success, for every disillusionment something to be proud of, and for each regret there appeared many things for which to be grateful. Then amid all those final crammings and last minute rehearsals for graduation came the long awaited magic of prom night and the carefree, yet sadly nostalgic, aura of the post-picnic.

And thus, three years of growing and developing were climaxed in the stillness of commencement as the class of '67 slips away from the walls of Champaign Senior High School as another year, filled with anticipation and uncertainties, beckons them on.
