A Time To . . .

For every year there are memories and a time for every memory at Central.

A Time To Live . . .

To Convey . . .

To Belong . . .

To Unite . . .

To Publicize . . .

A Time To sacrifice personal self for community hope: a time to build a project house.

A Time To crown the Homecoming Queen and Football King: a time to welcome alumni.

A Time To abandon old beliefs and substitute relevant concern: a time to think about world conflicts.

A Time To understand foreign lands and German culture: a time to meet Irmhild Wegeneur.

A Time To stay young and dare to be silly: a time for the Bleacher Bums to consume thirty-six cups of jello!

A Time To struggle with rivals and invoke school spirit: a time to beat Urbana.

A Time To learn our history and respect America: a time to pass the Constitution test.

A Time To feel new and puzzled as sophomores: a time to hunt for Room 003.

A Time To stretch our minds and explore tradition: a time for Shakespeare, Baldwin, and Emerson.

A Time To Live . . .

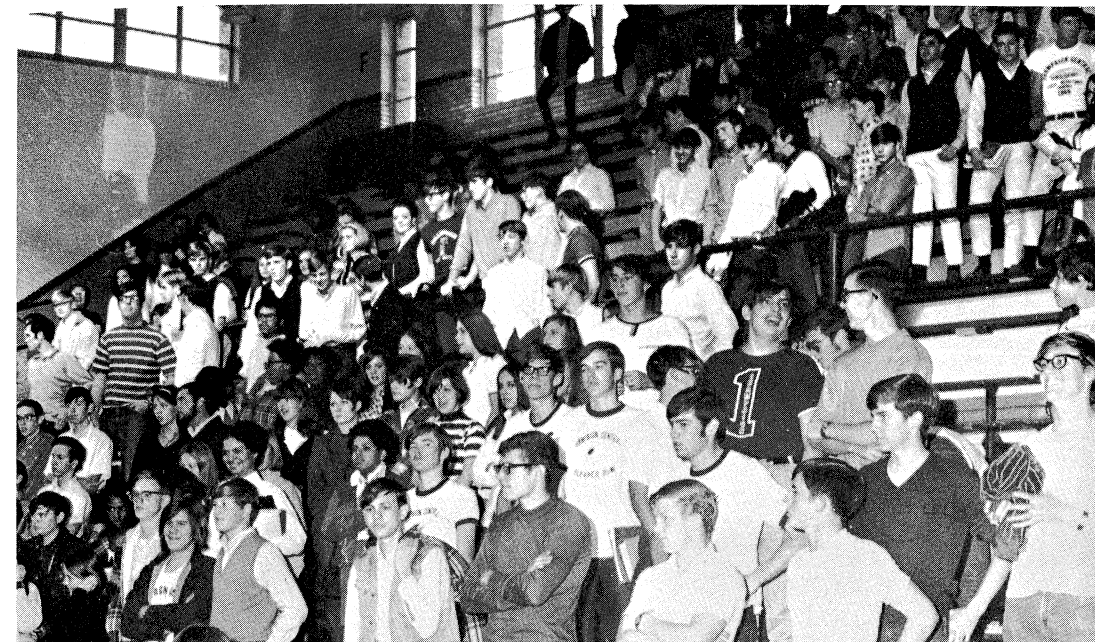

To Convey . . .

To Belong . . .

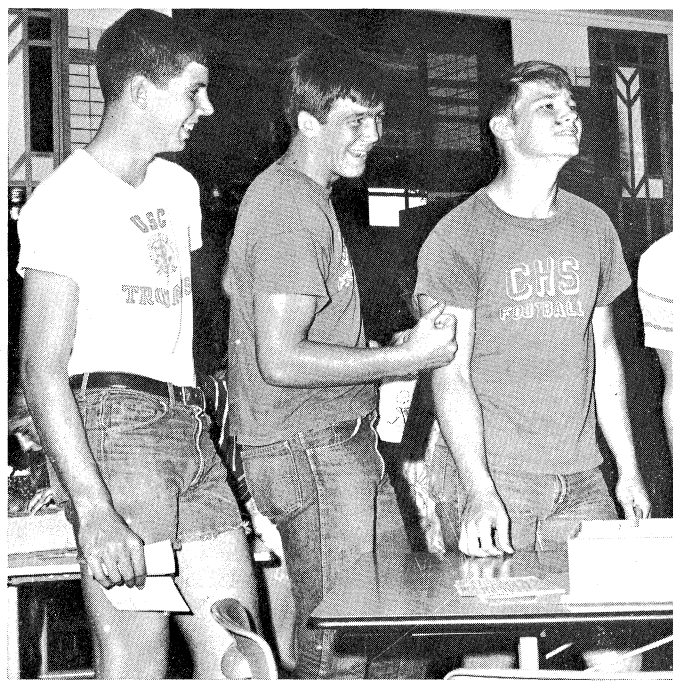

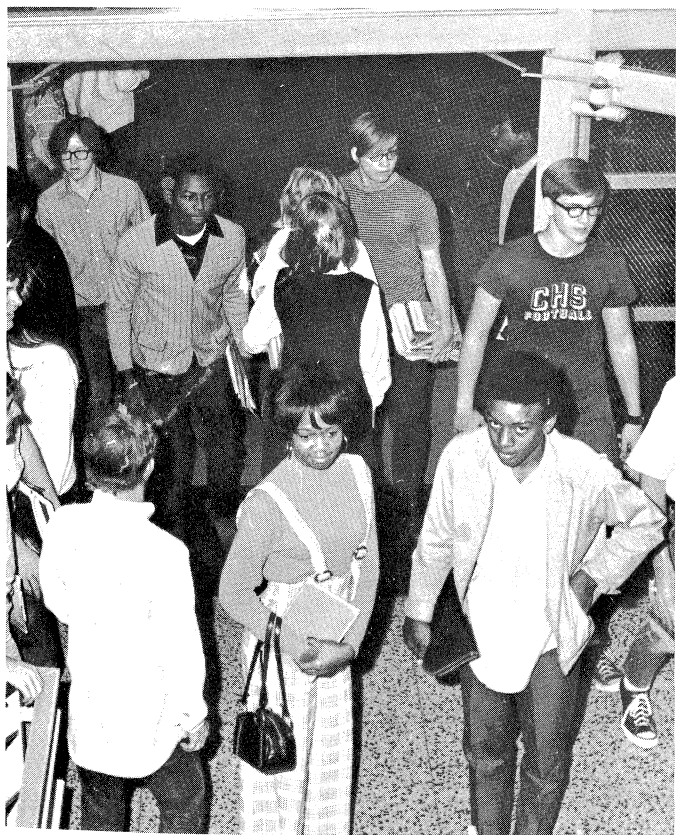

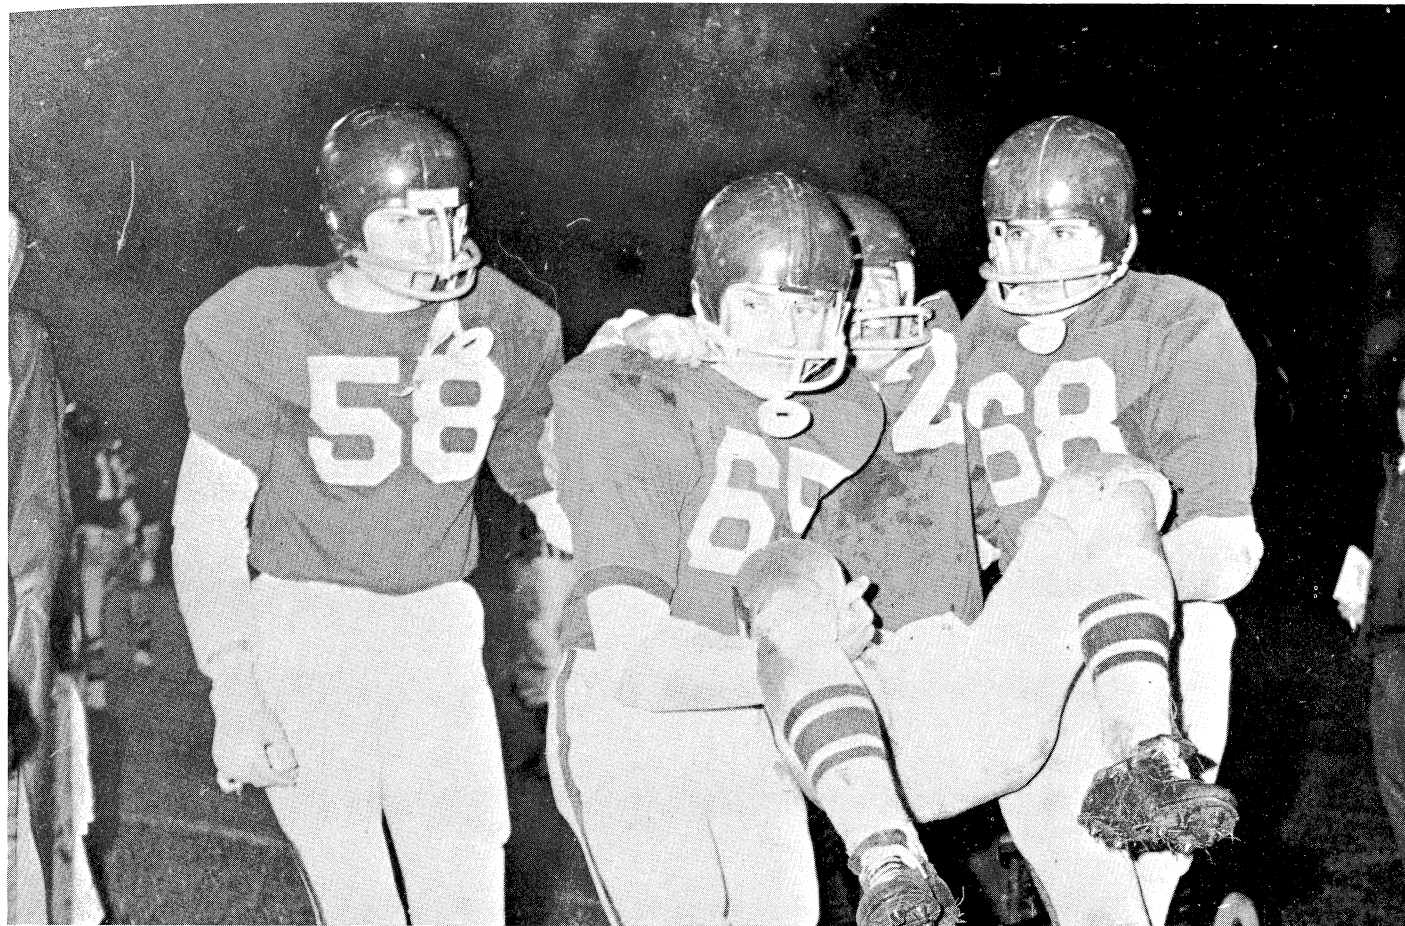

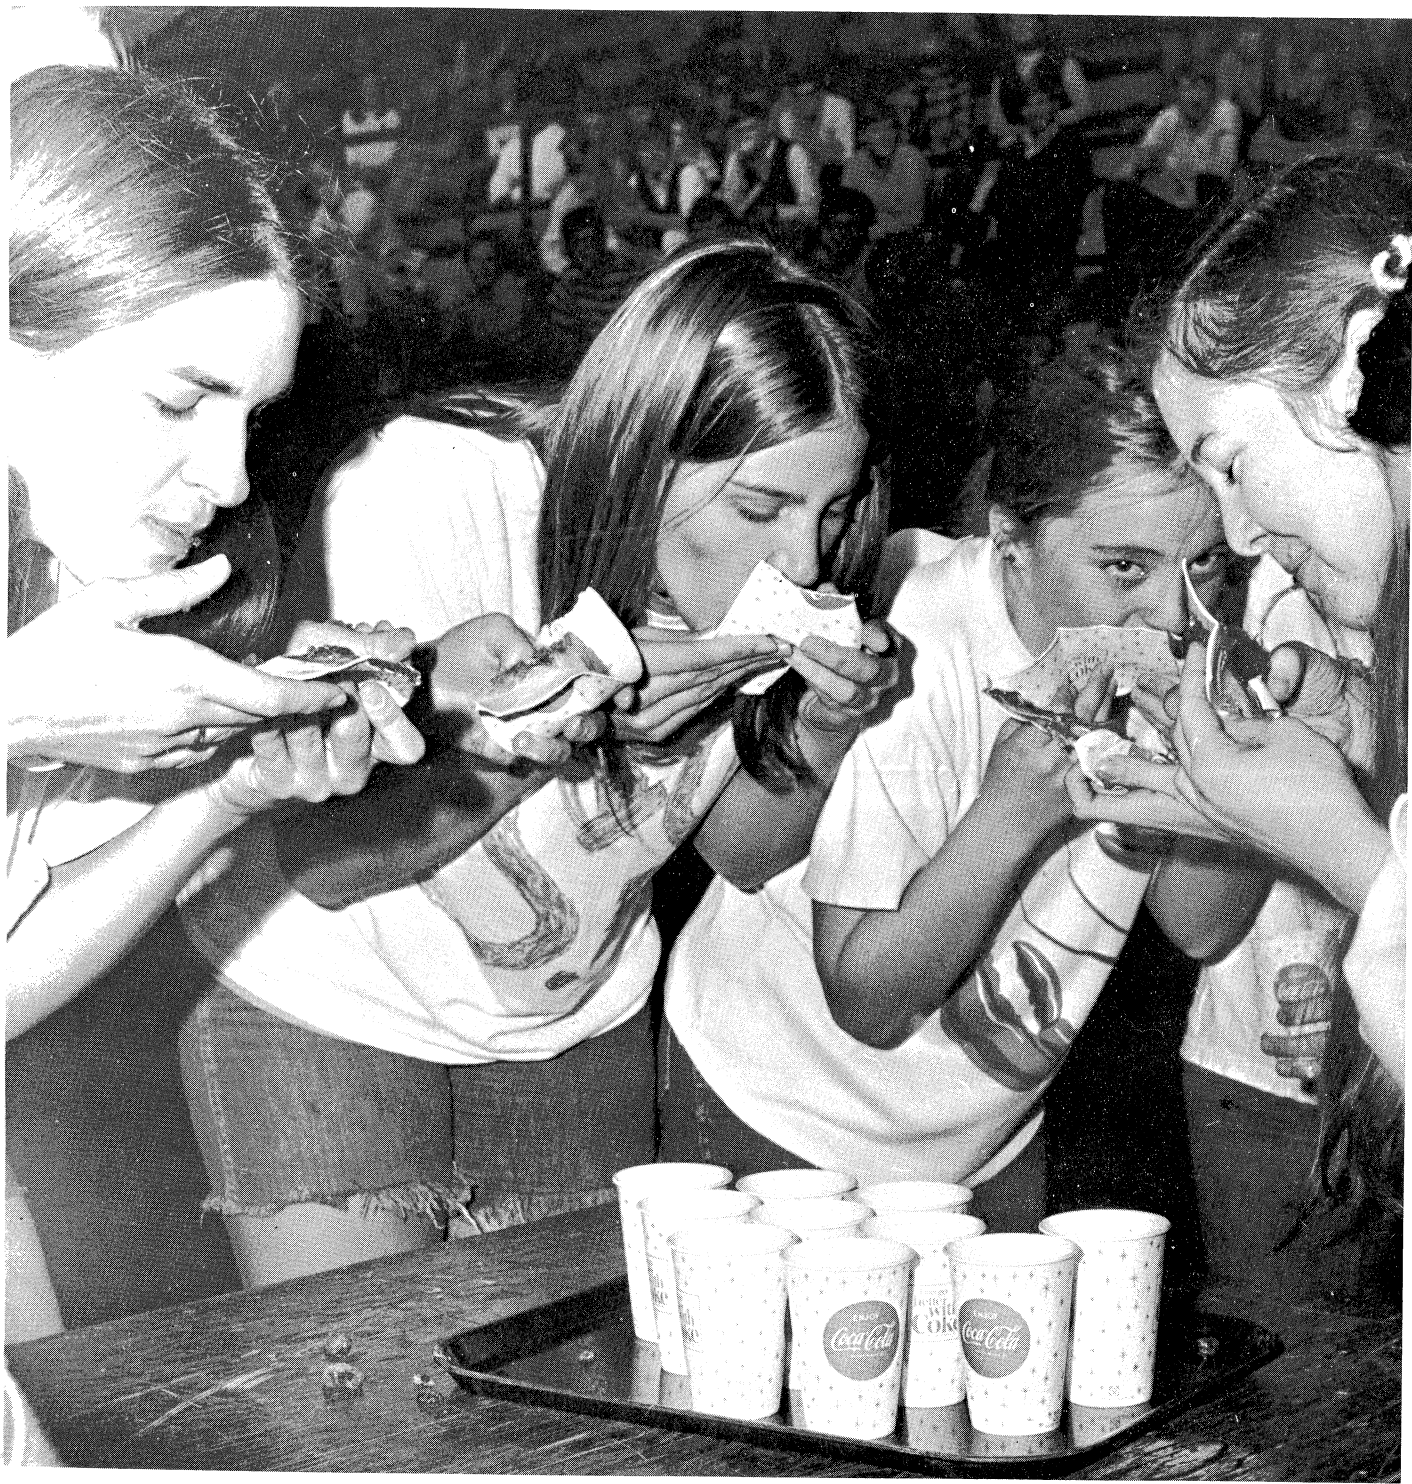

To Unite . . .

To Become . . .

A Time To Remember.

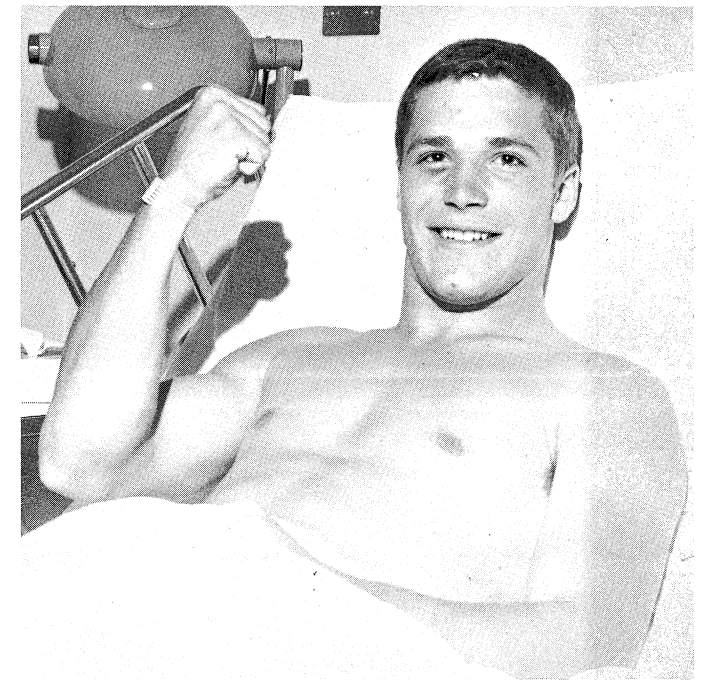

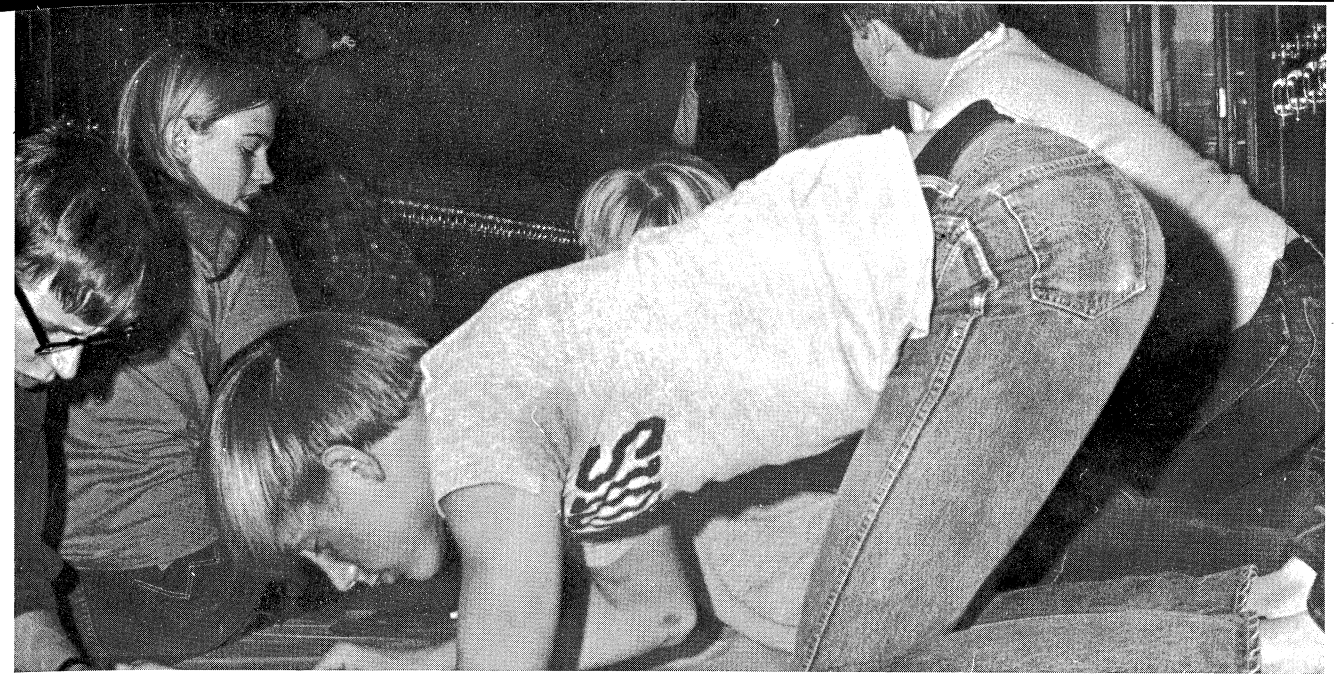

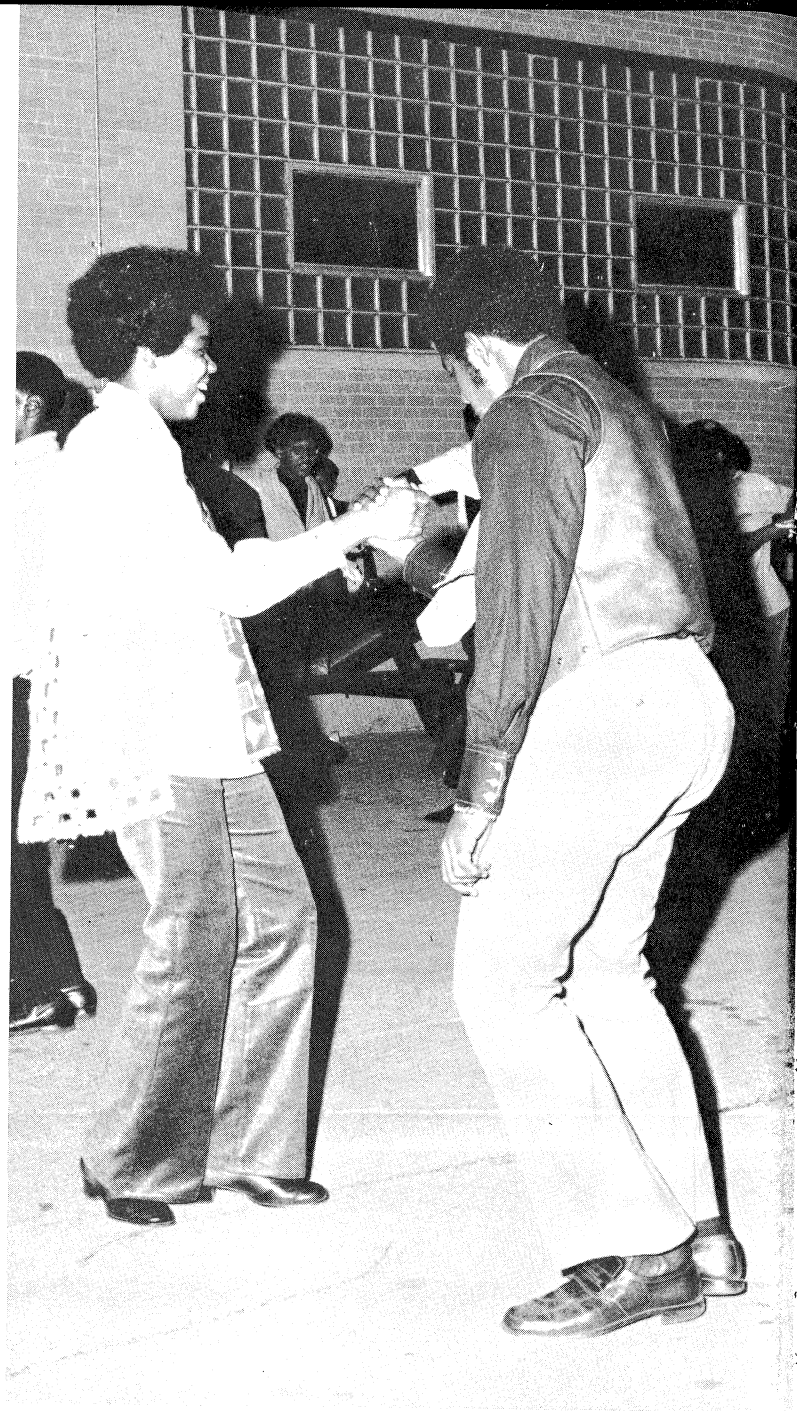

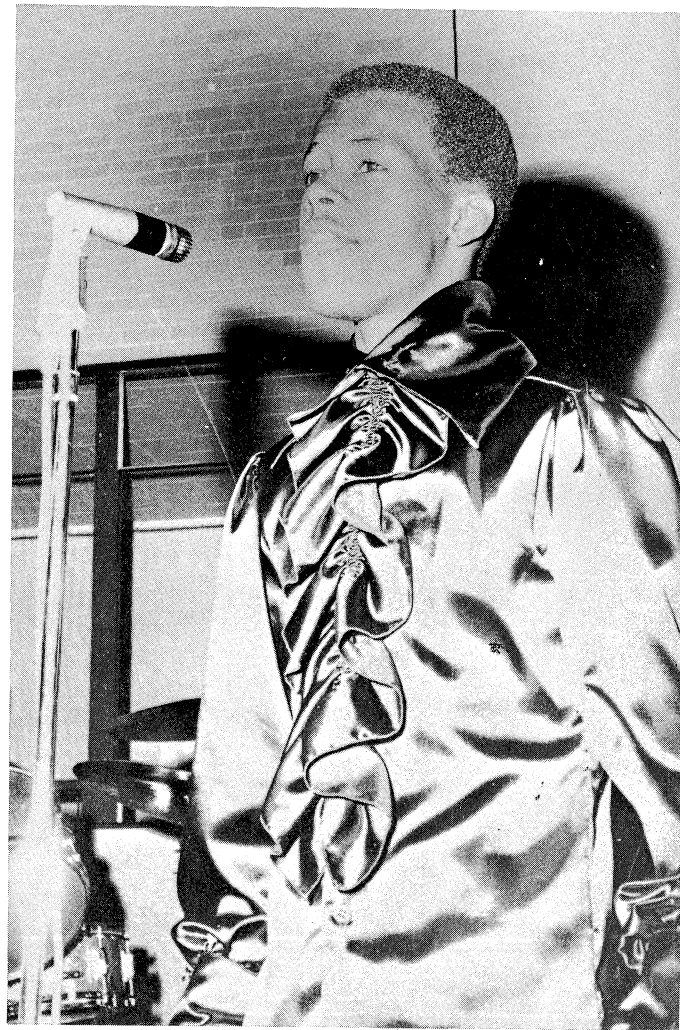

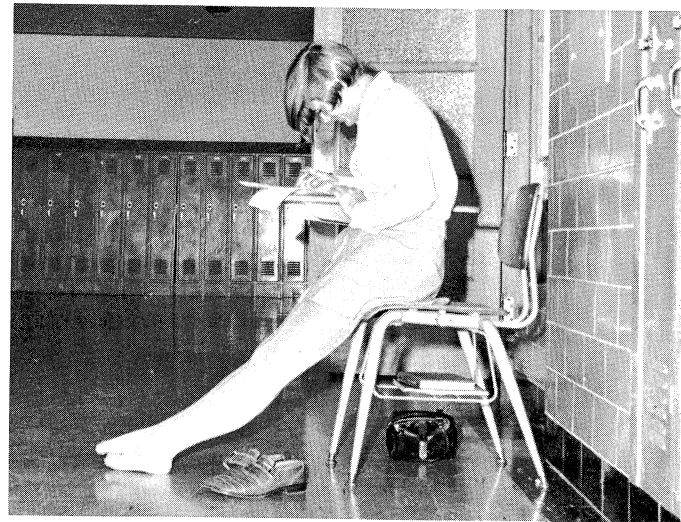

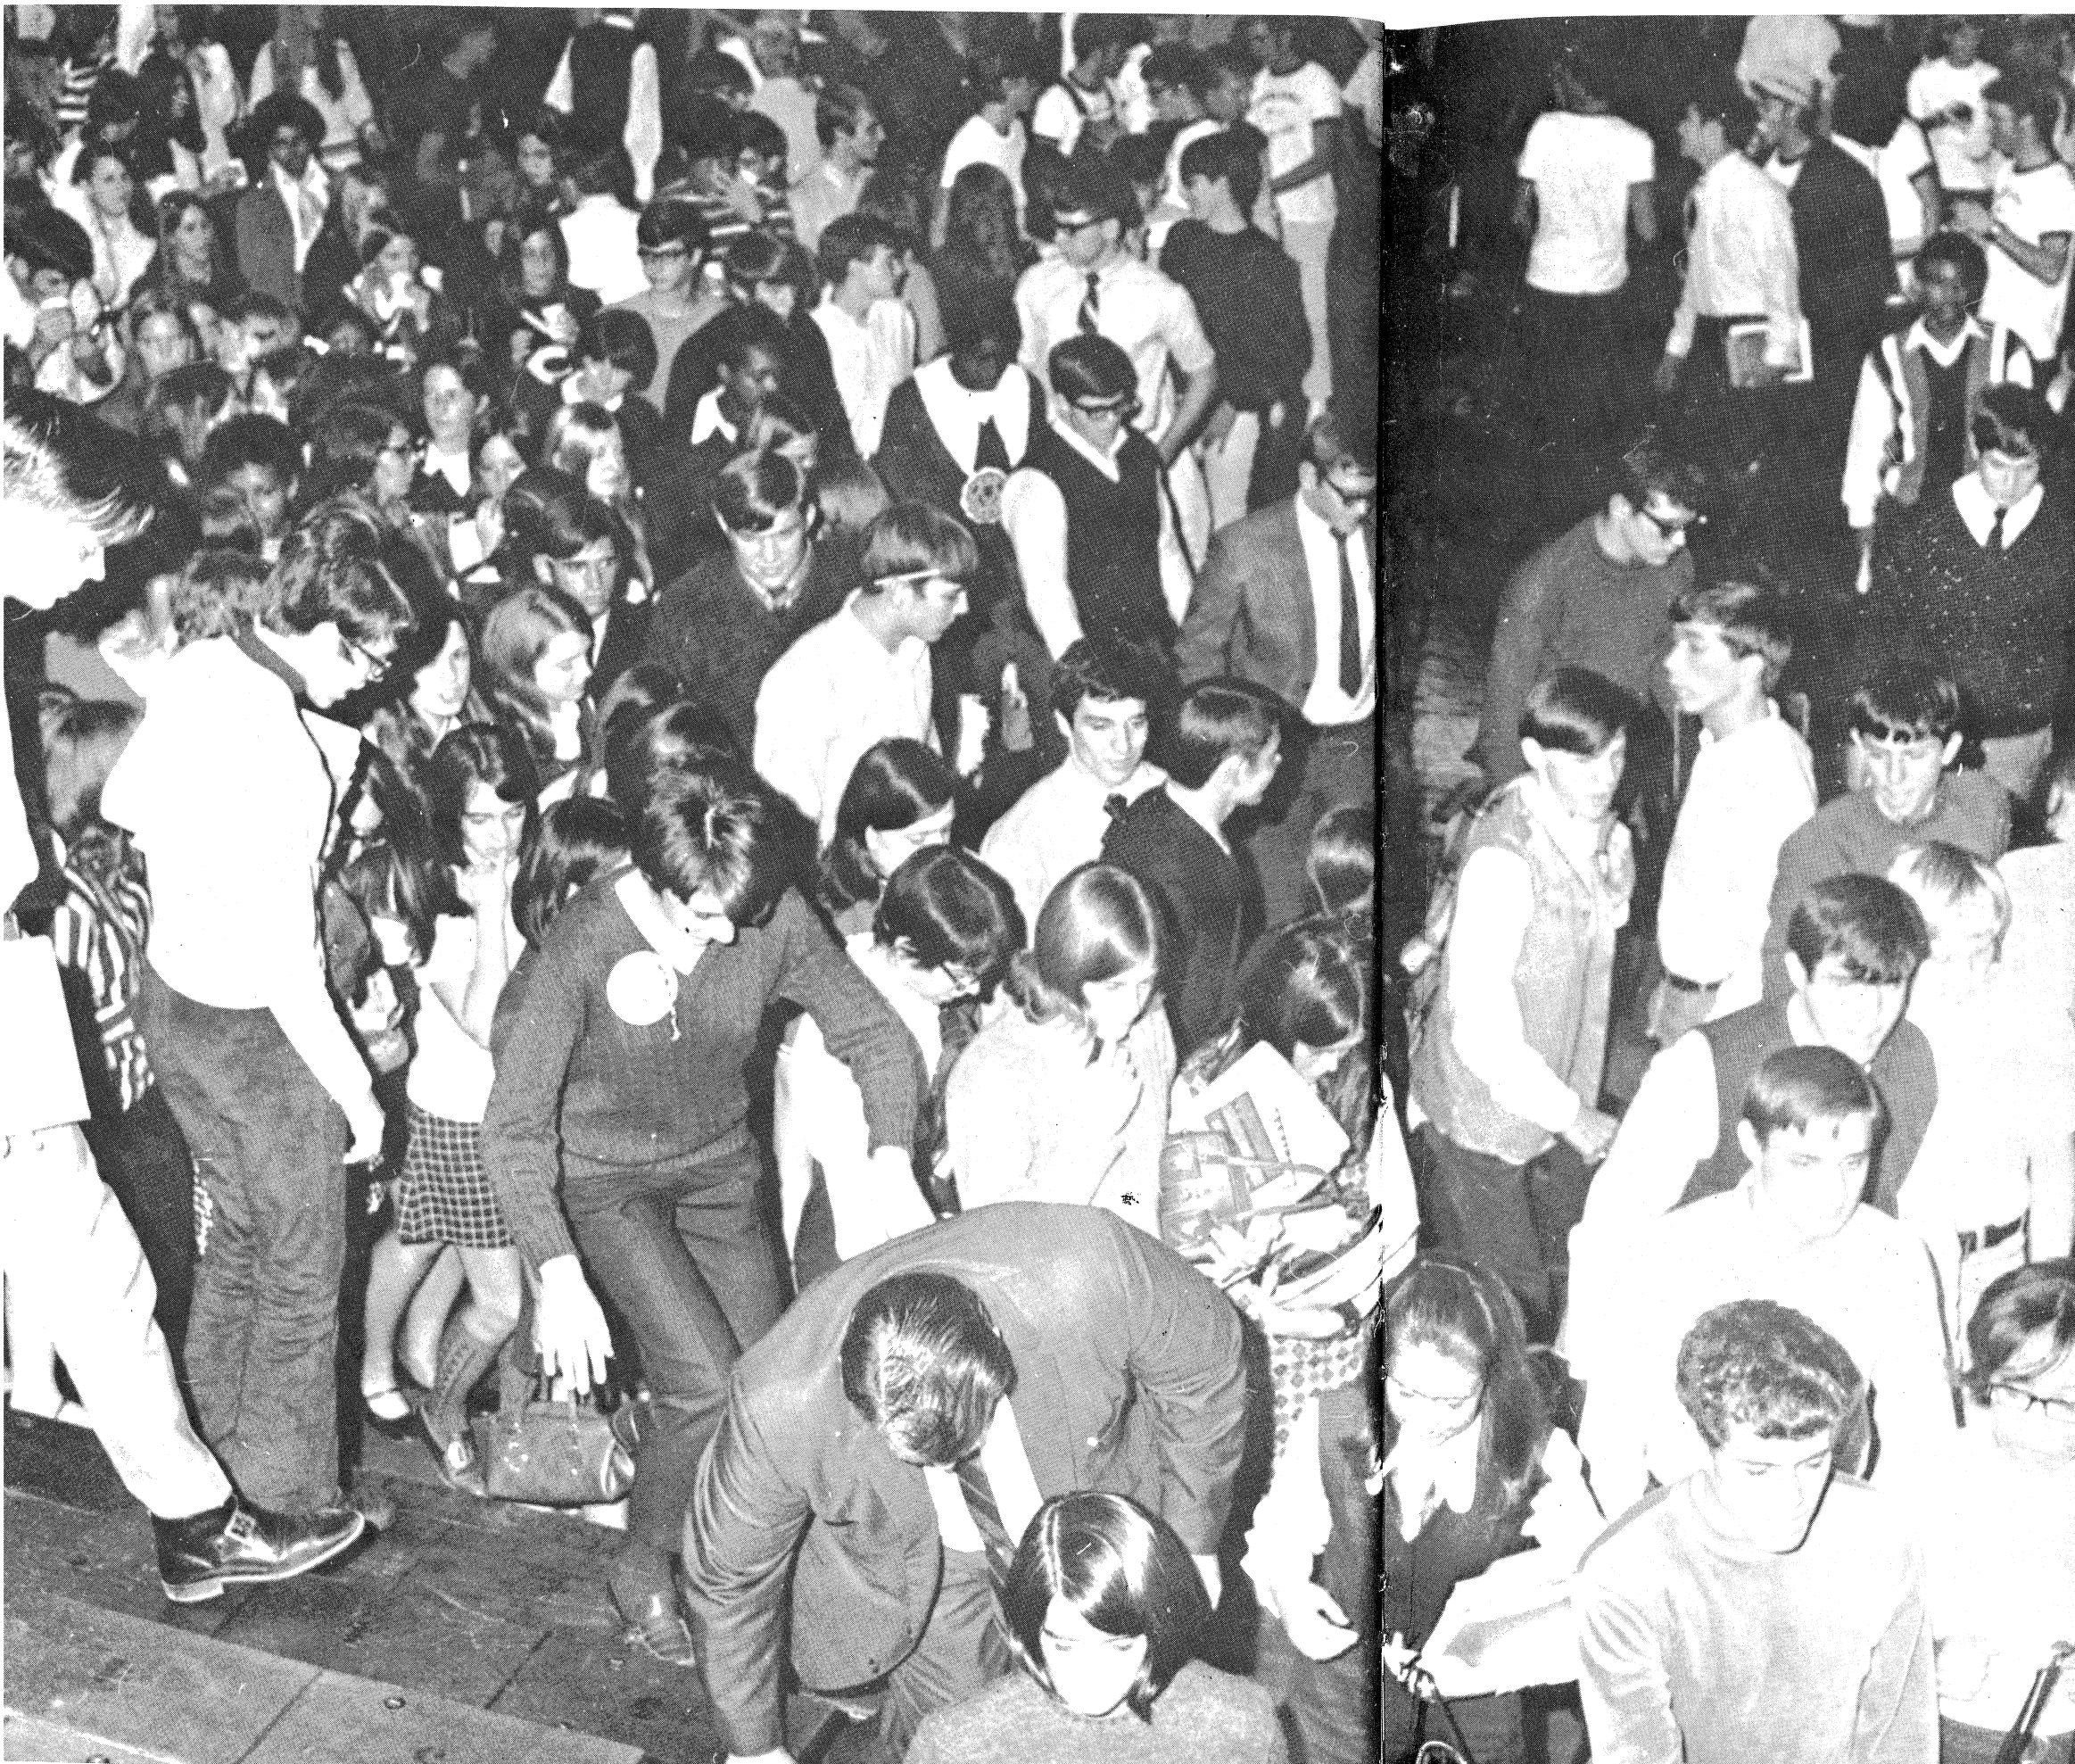

To everything there is a season,
And a time for every purpose under the heaven.
A time to get, and a time to lose.
A time to mourn, and a time to dance.
A time to love, and a time to hate.
A time to weep, and a time to laugh.

A Time To Live

Seniors help support the school spirit this year by taking the bus to an away football game with the hopes of a victory.

Central students live for Friday night's activities;

A typical CCHS weekend began each Friday with the 3:15 bell. In the brief time between Friday afternoon and Monday morning, CCHS'ers filled the weekend with games, parties, dates, and dances. A favorite pastime was TP-ing. Halloween night found many a Pepette or Bleacher Bum out redecorating a friend's house.

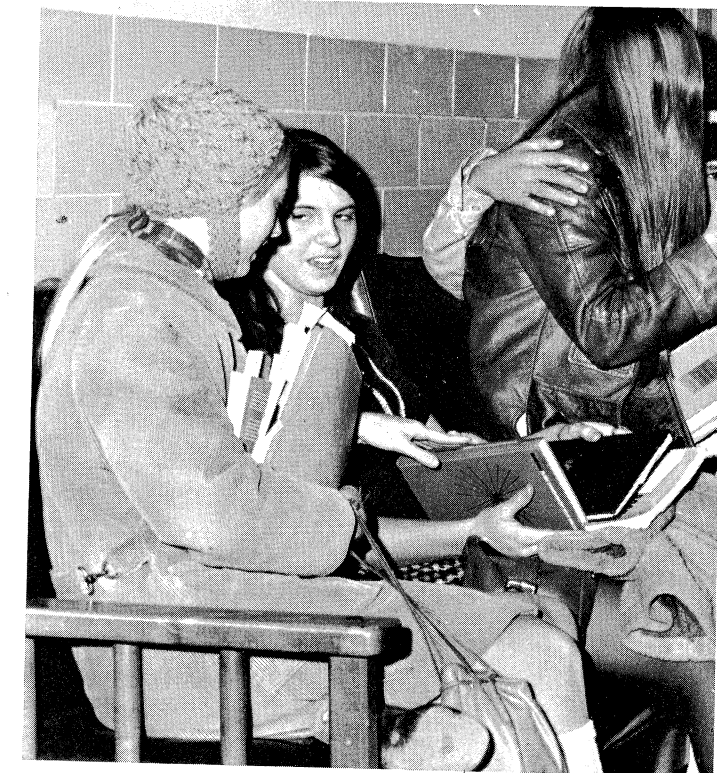

The most dreaded time was 8:30 Monday morning. Sixth hour teachers tried their best to teach bleary-eyed students so early on Monday. As the week wore on, there was the seniors' almost daily battle for the senior bench; the athletes sitting out their P.E. period in room 102; girls showing up in slacks; the never-ending assignments; and the meetings after school.

Throughout the whole year, Central students discovered that during these weeks there was a time to play, a time to work, and most important of all, A Time To Live.

Homecoming provides unforgettable moments

Excitement, amusement, and victory were important ingredients that produced Homecoming '69. Homecoming week began with students supporting "Eat 'Em Day" by buying M&M's. This enthusiasm was carried on throughout the entire week. On Friday, spirit mounted at the pep assembly which started with the parade around the school. Class officers racing on scooter boards, the announcement of the car competition winner, and the presentation of the sophomore and junior attendants were included in the program. The highlight of the assembly came with the introduction of the five Homecoming Queen and Football King finalists.

With hopes of victory, loyal fans marched to Centennial Field to watch the Maroons crush Bloomington 41-8. Homecoming came to a dazzling climax when Saturday's dance was reigned over by Queen Cheryl Jacobson and King Eddie Chin. Homecoming '69 proved to be a time to win, to lose, and a time to share all the fun and excitement with someone else.

Bringing a conclusion to a week of Homecoming festivities was the coronation of Queen Cheryl Jacobson and King Eddie Chin.

"Beat Urbana Week" inspires students' spirit

Everything from P.E.P. day to a crudely made outhouse standing in front of the school highlighted the traditional Beat Urbana Week. During the week before the big game, the halls were filled with frantic students trying their best to win the hall decorating contest. Long hours, hard labor, and loads of fun were put into each hall. Although juniors tried hard with "Blood, Sweat, and Tears" and the sophomores with "Maroon-Mart," the seniors came out on top with their mock Urbana hall. Friday's assembly found the Pepettes and Bleacher Bums challenging each other to a jell-o eating contest. The Bleacher Bums triumphed by devouring 36 cups of jell-o.

Faithful students proved unfailing support by cheering the Mighty Maroons on to victory at the Friday night game. As Central roared past Urbana 42 to 14, Urbana was forced to renounce the Wright Street Trophy. Once again loyalty, skill, and pride paid off in a burst of glory for Central.

"There's always room for jell-o," as Cathy Demeris forces more down in an effort to win the contest for the Pepettes.

Junior attempts to win the hall decorating contest are helped by the artistic ability of Rosalee Spiegel.

With thumbs and spirits up, a group of Bleacher Bums prepare to present an outhouse to Urbana for their fine performance at the game.

After an extraordinary win over the Urbana Tigers, a proud coach and a joyous team gladly accept the Champaign-Urbana Courier trophy.

Stunt Show and Fall Play present new abilities

The Fall Play for 1969 was "The Impossible Years." It was a comical play based on a father's problems with his teenage daughter. The father, portrayed by Ethan Levine, tried to determine all of his daughter's actions psychologically. The daughter, played by Susan Jones, added confusion to the household as her life revolved around boys and fun. The daughter was involved with many boys who were played by John Yarling, Jim Strehlow, Bill Dorsey, and Gene Brewer. The father questioned the boys to find out who married his daughter while she was away on vacation. He never suspected his collaborator of the book he is writing. The collaborator was portrayed by Richard Gish. The parts of Susan's mother and younger sister were performed by Dixie Ethridge and Carol Swanson respectively.

Dancing, music, and skits formed Stunt Show 1969, "GMRX." Performances by GAA, Madrigal Men, and senior girls added to the enjoyment of the evening. The first place award went to Denise Bian for her dance, "Man with the Golden Arm." A satire, "Sweet Nell and Company," was awarded second place. Somehow, Stunt Show didn't seem quite the same without Student Council's antics or C Club's members portraying their masculinity. However, new talent was introduced to star in future plays and performances at Central.

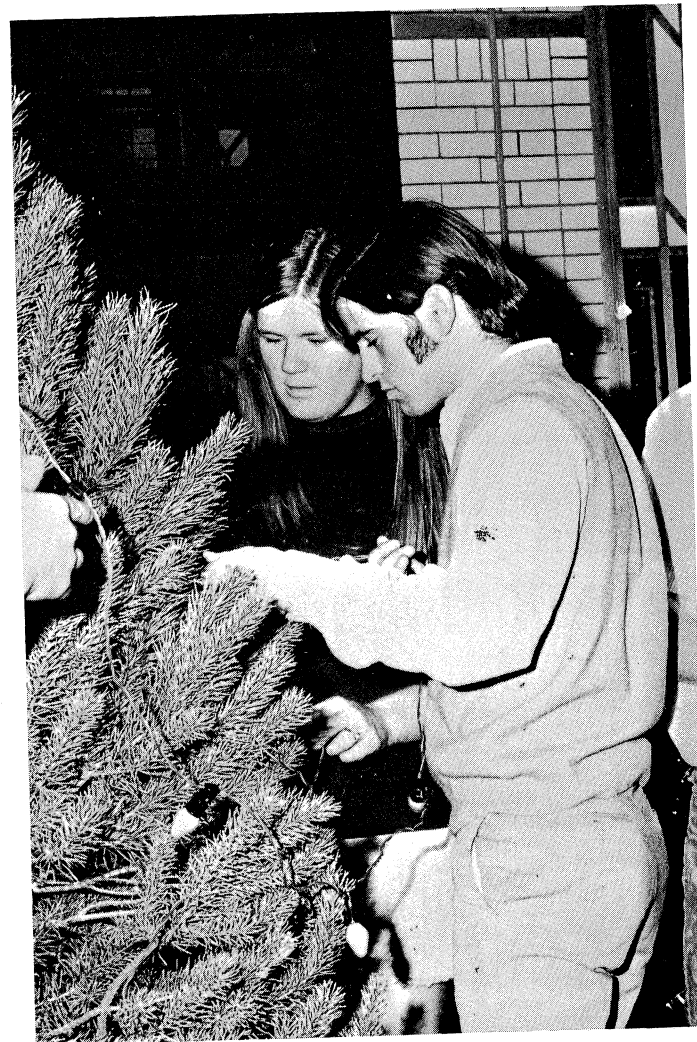

The five finalists for Miss Merry Christmas await the final announcement of who shall reign over the Christmas season. The finalists are Rita Lierman, Margaret Brandis, Pam Scherer, Dale Hubbard, and Lila Gadbury. The finalists were chosen by the students and faculty.

Dale Hubbard reigns as Miss Merry Christmas

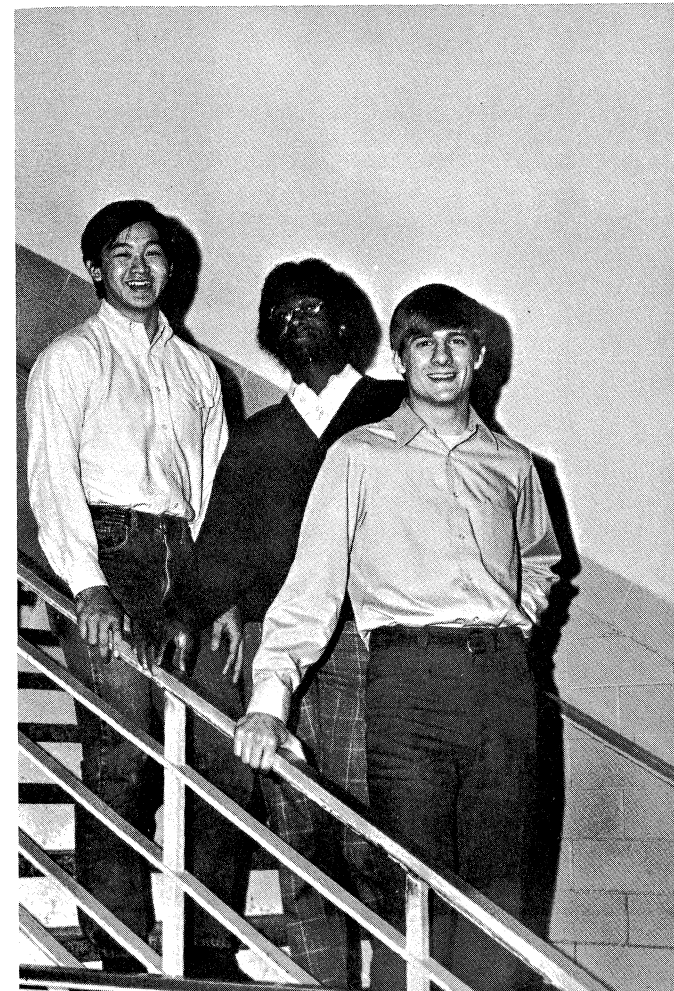

The announcement of Miss Merry Christmas and her court opened a season of gift exchanging, decorating, and good cheer. Dale Hubbard was chosen by students and faculty to reign over holiday festivities as Miss Merry Christmas. Her court included Margaret Brandis, Lila Gadbury, Rita Lierman, and Pam Scherer.

The long-awaited Christmas vacation brought with it inches of snow. This made it perfect for sledding at Orchard Downs, caroling on Christmas Eve, and afterwards, hot chocolate at someone's house. The two weeks were spent at parties, snowball fights, and a few students found their way to the Centralia Holiday Tournament. The two weeks were over too soon for most Central students.

Students bring Christmas spirit to Central as Penny McEvoy and Jim Lewis add their imagination to the school Christmas tree.

Boys' State representatives are Ed Chin, Rick Tanner, and Al Yordy.

State honors seniors

The annual Boys' and Girls' State conventions were held once again this year in Springfield. Election to Boys' and Girls' State is one of the highest honors that can be paid to a senior. Central's three representatives this year to Boys' State were Eddie Chin, Ricky Tanner, and Allen Yordy. Cheryl Jacobson attended Girls' State.

Boys' and Girls' State has allowed exceptional high school students to take part in simulated state government. For one week they took part in elections of local and state officials. Students attended mock conventions, lectures, petitioned for candidacy, and associated with the party of their choice. Boys' and Girls' State teaches young people the foundations of government, citizenship and patriotism.

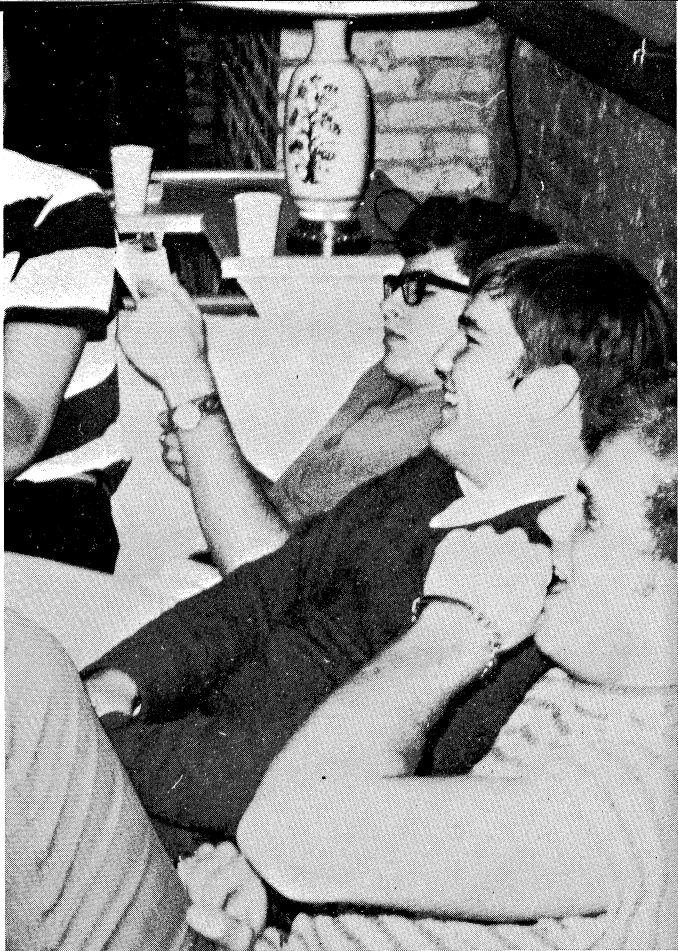

Cheryl Jacobson represents Central at Girls' State during the summer.

Open houses provide an opportunity for everyone to talk and have fun.

Exchangees represent Central throughout Illinois

There is a great deal of information that can be taught and learned by Central students and other students in Illinois. For this reason Central participated in the Intrastate Exchange program once again this year. Intrastate was headed by Dale Hubbard with the help of Student Council. Intrastate offered two students from Central and two students from another school in Illinois a chance to visit each others' schools for a week, exchange ideas, and meet new people. Students were chosen according to their knowledge of Central, their interest in meeting new people, and their ability to listen and learn. Exchanges were made with Alton, Lafayette, Belleville, Jacksonville, and Centralia. Intrastate exchange brought new friends and new ideas to Central and other schools in Illinois. It proved to be a useful and interesting program.

Planning to study while in Lafayette, Central exchangee Rita Miles clears her locker of all her books and other necessities.

At an open house held for new students and our foreign exchange, Irmhild Wegener greets newly made friends Elaine Tinberg and Debbie Schmall

June Morris gladly explains to Jim Michael and Ellen Moy the advantages and disadvantages of living in Belgium for eight months.

Foreign exchange brings new friends, customs.

Anxious to learn about life in other countries and anxious for other countries to learn about Central, a foreign exchange is sponsored each year. Foreign exchange sent a student from Central to another country and in return sent a foreign student to Central. June Morris was this year's exchange from Central. June spent a summer and semester of study in Belgium. Irmhild Wegener was sent to Central from Germany. She was sponsored by University Place Christian Church. Both June and Irmhild had the chance to become acquainted with new and unfamiliar customs.

Programs by the band and choir were appreciated greatly. Mount Juliet High School students listen attentively to the performance by the band.

Concert tour takes musicians through four states

Turtle sales, fruit cake sales, and money from the students' own pockets helped to finance the annual concert tour. February 11, 12, and 13 found A Cappella Choir and the Concert Band touring and performing throughout Kentucky, Tennessee, and Indiana. Long bus rides took the Central musicians to many towns and cities, but four cities were especially grateful to the band and choir. Assembly programs for the students at Goodlettsville and Mount Juliet high schools in Tennessee and high school students in Graham and Hopkinsville Kentucky were presented by the choir and band.

The concert tour was not all work, however. The students and chaperones found time to tour through Nashville, Louisville, and the Hermitage. At one motel a few fortunate people had the thrill to see and meet such famous personalities as Bob Hope, Mama Cass, and the First Edition.

Students goof-off before another busy day of performances.

Time was taken from a busy and fast moving schedule to sight-see in Tennessee. Here a few students view a building at the Hermitage.

Clubs participate in International Supper

Foreign Exchange club sponsored International Supper as in the past. The club uses the money earned from International Supper to finance the Foreign Exchange program.

All Central clubs were given an opportunity to take part in the International Supper. Most of the clubs that participated in the International Supper represented a country of their choice and brought goods native to the country they picked.

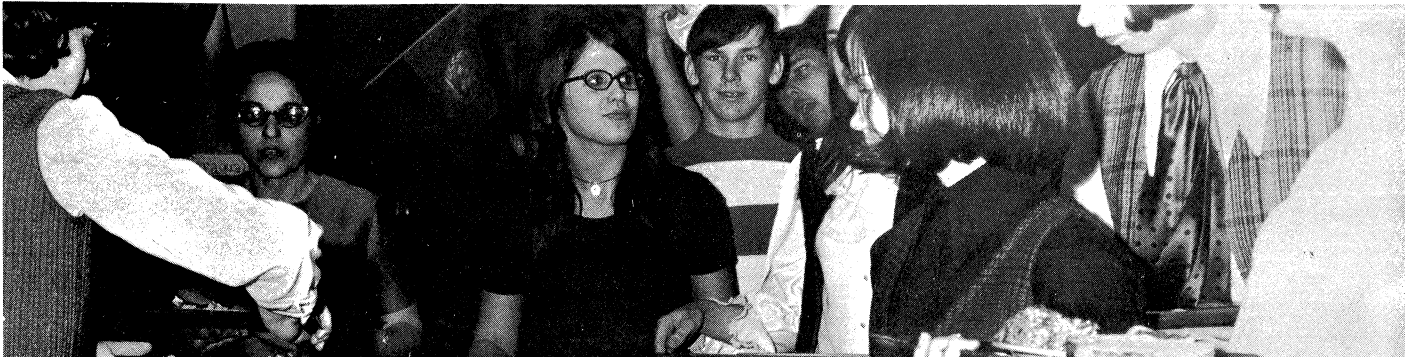

Other clubs that wished to take part but could not bring food for the supper donated money, sponsored a babysitting service, or helped decorate and clean up.

Adding the finishing touches to the salad is Cammie Malaise.

After waiting in line at one of the tables, these gourmets finally find themselves at the head of the line.

A Time To Convey

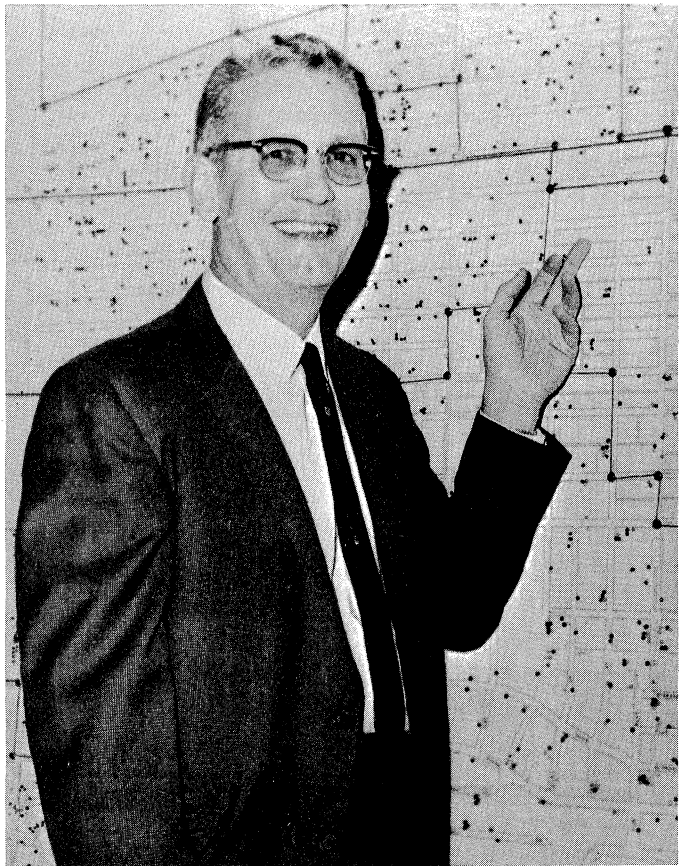

Unit 4 Administration

Dr. Berner seeks a thorough education for all

Working closely with Dr. Marshall K. Berner, the Unit 4 Board of Education sought excellence and equality in education for all schools in the Unit 4 District.

This school year underwent many changes and cutbacks that were set in the school system's budget resulting from the defeated bond. Many financial problems were weighed heavily before final decisions were made. This was only one of the many challenges that were set before the Board to discuss.

Dr. Marshall K. Berner, Superintendent of Unit 4 Schools.

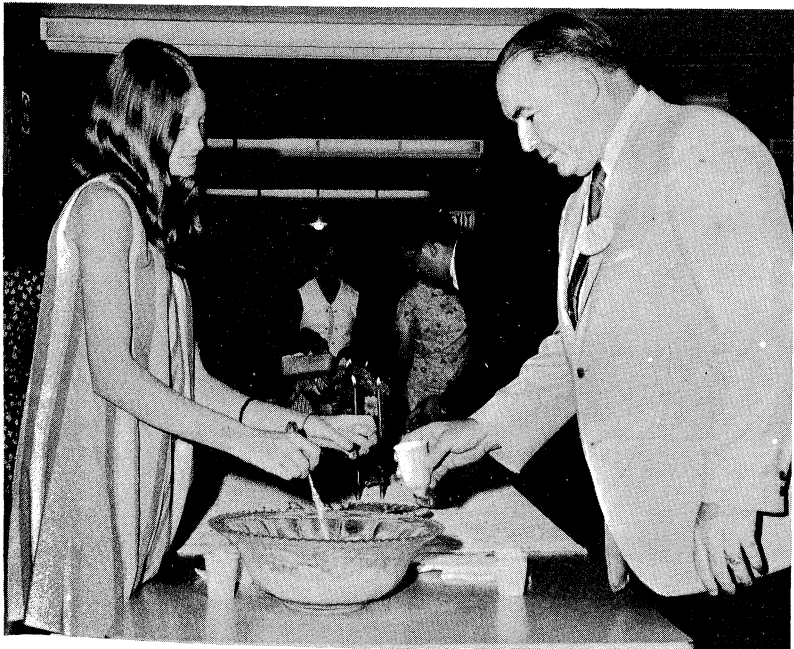

Standing: Harold Baker, David Session, Richard Foley. Seated: Francis Barker, Richard Alexander, Mrs. Berl Wilson, Mrs. Helen Lateer.

Mr. Bernard P. Fleener, Principal of Central High School

Mr. Bernard Fleener, during his second year as principal at Central High School, continued to live up to student and faculty expectations. He endeavored to become acquainted with every student which might have helped to make a tremendous job into a somewhat smaller task. Mr. Fleener's thoughtful attitude gave students encouragement in every aspect of school life.

Mr. Fleener supports CCHS student spirit

Graciously, Mr. Fleener accepts a glass of punch from Jenny Smith at the Faculty Tea that was held early in the school year.

With a smile on her face, Mrs. Zelinsky, Mr. Fleener's secretary, greets students and faculty members who come to confer with our principal.

Administration

Assistant Dean of Boys
joins administration

This year an Assistant Dean of Boys was added to the administration staff. Mr. Tom Gher, formerly a full time physical education teacher, aided Mr. Carl Nelson in handling the boys at Central. Mr. Nelson holds the job of Assistant Principal as well as Dean of Boys.

Mrs. Bertha Darsham, Dean of Girls, advises students on school and personal matters. Mrs. Darsham visited each girl's physical education class in the fall, where she welcomed all the girls back to school and offered her assistance in any way.

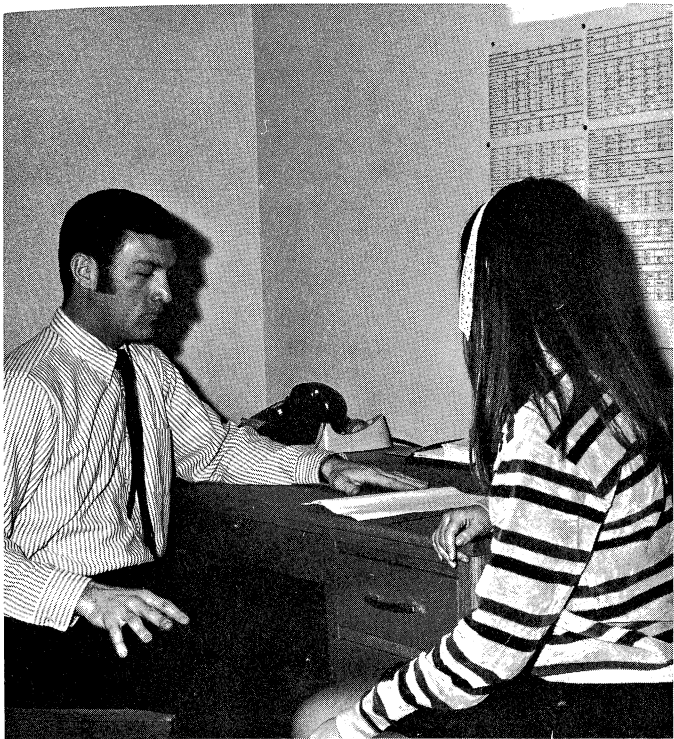

Important announcements are read daily over the intercom by Mr. Nelson.

Mrs. L. Kaiser of the Champaign Couty Medical Association Auxiliary presents Mrs. Changnon and Mrs. Darsham with a check to buy equipment for the proposed health room.

"Do you think you can fool me?", questions Mr. Gher.

Early graduation plans are discussed by Linda Otey and her counselor, Mr. Powell.

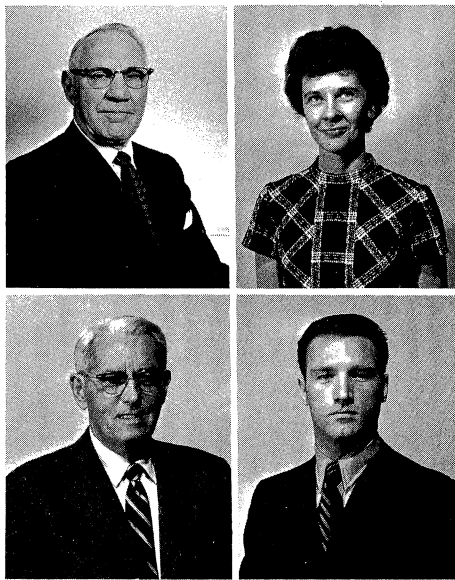

While waiting to see the counselor, Valerie Koester and Corrine Shirley read pamphlets about future careers.

Counseling

Counselors contribute to students' future plans

With a staff of four, the counseling office at Central strived to help students with academic and personal problems. Often times the counselors visited classrooms where they discussed important college board examinations.

Under the direction of Mr. Berry the counseling office sponsored career showcases. Speakers for the showcase gave interested students a chance to learn about specific careers.

Library

Students find tranquility, knowledge, and news

A pamphlet and clipping file, a collection of film strips and microfilm equipment came in handy for all those reports that were assigned as Central students soon came to know. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Trafton were ever helpful in answering questions and helping students find that certain novel. Besides a good inventory of reference material, our library contains over 9,500 books. The library was also a place to collect thoughts in quietness.

One of the daily tasks of Mrs. Trafton is putting returned books back on the shelves in their proper place.

Mr. Schooley points out a few changes happening today.

Social Studies

Moratorium gives teachers subject for discussion

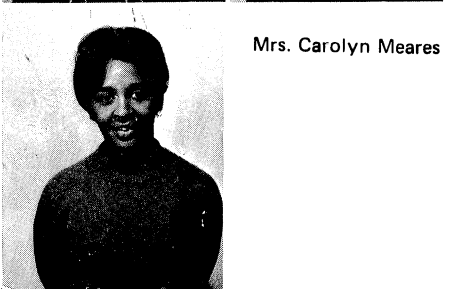

Throughout Central this year, the war moratorium was a controversial topic. Each social studies class debated the numerous problems of the war in Viet Nam. Students not enrolled in a social studies class had the opportunity to attend one class for a moratorium discussion. Besides this contemporary issue, students talked about black and white relationships, the generation gap, and many other problems of our society. Students found that they became more open minded towards other people and their way of life through research papers, debates, and panel discussions.

English

Students develop understanding of literature

This year English students discovered that poetry, drama, and prose could both be interesting and relevant. They learned that great authors speak for all ages: that Shakespeare, Emerson, Melville, and Whitman all encourage individuality and self-reliance. Besides studying these famous writers, students were given the opportunity to verbalize ideas of their own. With the mechanics of writing well developed, many entered essays on contemporary problems in a local newspaper contest, in which several won honorable mention.

Science

Courses for everyone

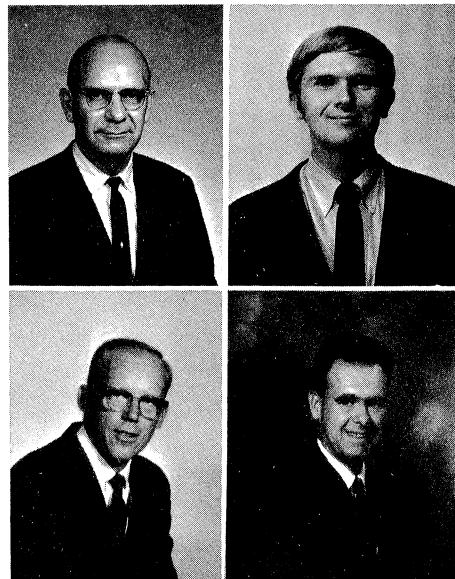

Deep in the science labs of Central, students slaved over bunsen burners, microscopes and Periodic Charts to solve such problems as  $3\text{Cu} + \text{S} \rightarrow \text{Cu}_3\text{S}_2$ . While chemistry students were analyzing the contents of a test tube, biology students were learning the parts of a frog and anatomy students were studying the mechanics of the human body. In every class the lab equipment was a student's best friend, giving answers to the innumerable questions of physics, chemistry, and biology.

"What's next?" is the question running through the minds of Andy Kmetz and Steve Edlefsen.

Mathematics

Mathematics keeps pace with space age times

"If two roots of  $x^3 - x^2 + 2x - 2 = 0$  are 1 and the  $\sqrt{21}$ , what must be the other root?" Need help to solve this problem? After a year of modern algebra and trigonometry, students found this child's play. But compared to today's and tomorrow's society, it is child's play.

Central's Math programs were geared to prepare the students for tomorrow. Although the work was hard and the homework strenuous, students were finding that math, designed to baffle the brain and wear out the eraser, was intriguing.

Foreign Language

Changing world demands great language fluency

El español es un idioma muy interesante.
 Le Francais c'est une langue intéressante.
 Deutsch ist eine sehr interessante Sprache.
 Latina est lingua iucunda.
 Can you understand these?

In an age when man travels to the moon and widens international communications, it is a benefit to have a knowledge of languages other than his own. Spanish, French, German, and Latin were offered at Central, and students found it rewarding to speak, read, and write a foreign language. By using the facilities in the language lab, students soon learned to master the languages they had chosen. With this knowledge came new insights into another culture highlighted by the experience of preparing foreign foods for the International Supper.

Art, Music Departments try "swinging" new ideas

Art

This year's painting, sculpture, and pottery students were creative and original. Using charcoal, water colors, ink, clay, string, and leather as their tools, they displayed works of art that showed unusual talent.

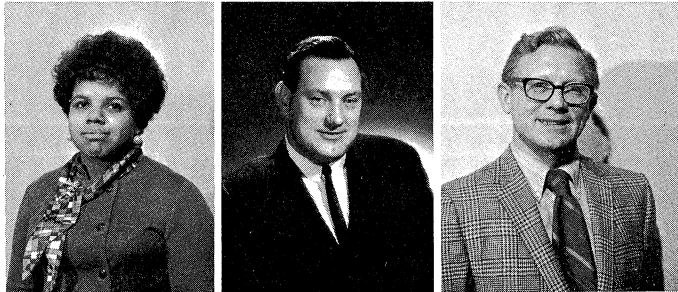

A new band director gave the band a chance to play popular tunes such as "Aquarius" and the "Hawaii Five-0" theme. While the Jazz Band played popular rock music, the choir, under the direction of Mr. Eugene McNish, was enthusiastically received with a cross breed of music. Some of their pieces were "A Child is Born," "Hallelujah," and "Amen." Last, but definitely not least, were the candy turtles sold by the band and choir to pay for their annual tour.

Home Economics

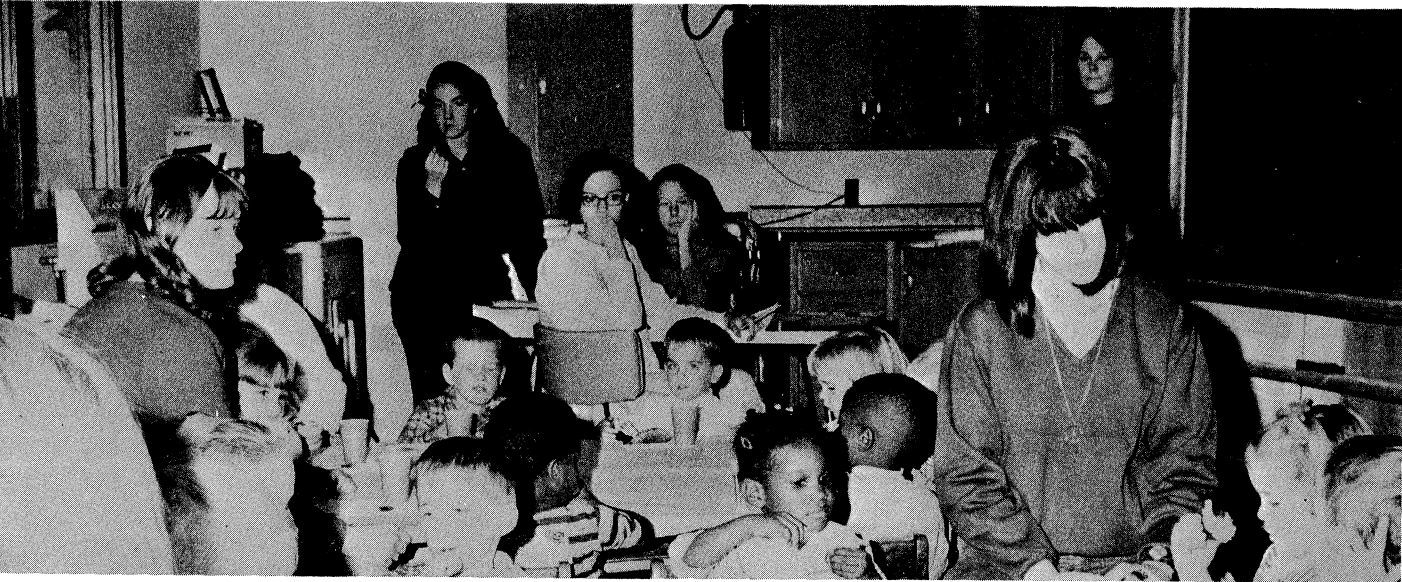

CCHS girls discover techniques of homemaking

Homemaking students this year studied the problems of income tax, social security, budgeting, child care, and home management. A special project was the observation of child behavior, an activity which has become an annual event.

Using the trial and error method, industrial art students attended classes in drafting, auto mechanics, woodwork, metal work, machine shop, and industrial math.

Business Education

Present typists foresee future business careers

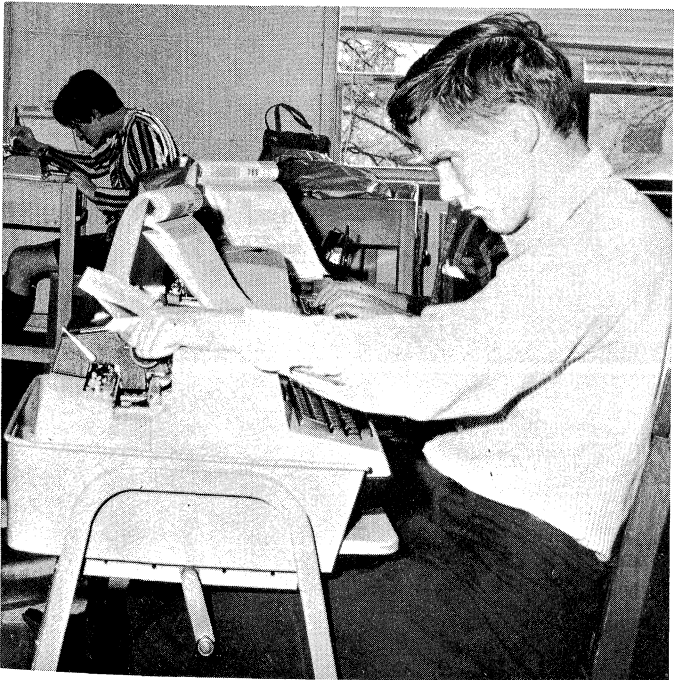

Business Education was a department designed to help each student enrolled in a class to find a future career. Students anxious to start work right after graduation found the different skills learned in the office occupation course a big help in job hunting.

Physical Education

Gymnastics challenge muscles, coordination, courage

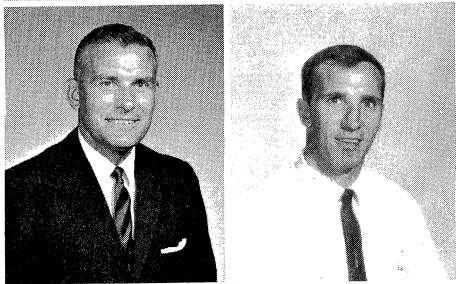

This year, a few of the boys' P.E. classes had the opportunity to learn gymnastic skills on the parallel bars, side bars, and still rings. Mr. Richard Mulvihill supervised the boys on the apparatus. Although the boys found gymnastics interesting, they still thought basketball and the weight machines were challenging.

The girls enjoyed a number of activities, but the favorites included gymnastics, archery, and volley tennis. The McKinley Y.M.C.A. swimming pool and tennis courts were added to the facilities already designated for the physical education classes. # Preparation for future

The main objective of the Educable Mentally Handicapped department was to develop skills and attitudes necessary in finding jobs and a place in society. Instructors endeavored to teach the student how to utilize general and practical subjects that are faced in everyday life.

Occupational Exploration is a branch of Special Education which aids the students in selecting future jobs. The Occupational Exploration students took an interesting field trip to Chicago's Museum of Natural History and to the Aquarium in the fall. It proved to be a very worthwhile experience.

CVE

Students learn, earn

Cooperative Vocational Education, known by most as CVE, was one way many Central students earned their own money and received credits for graduation. The vocational course, a training program for on the job learning, provided a link between school and business, parent and student. Perhaps junior employees were searching for a permanent profession after graduation.

Secretaries

It's never ending work

The secretaries of Central were wonder women who had countless tasks to perform throughout the year. Secretaries were found in the main office, attendance office, counseling office, the principal's office, CVE office, and the library. The secretaries were always there to help students in any way possible: to take care of absences, dismissals, and lost articles. They found themselves involved in every imaginable circumstance as a result of their job.

Cafeteria Staff, Custodians

Lunches, clean school show signs of hard work

Have you ever noticed the paper— strewn halls at the close of a day at Central? Well, the custodians went right to work uncluttering our halls and classrooms after school. In addition, our ever helpful custodians answered distress signals from students with jammed lockers.

The cafeteria staff worked long, hard hours preparing the cafeteria lunches only to have them devoured by the stampeding mobs pouring out of classrooms. The students received balanced meals which gave them energy to carry on the day's work and after school activities.

A Time To Belong

Maroon

Moments of memories
make Maroon meaningful

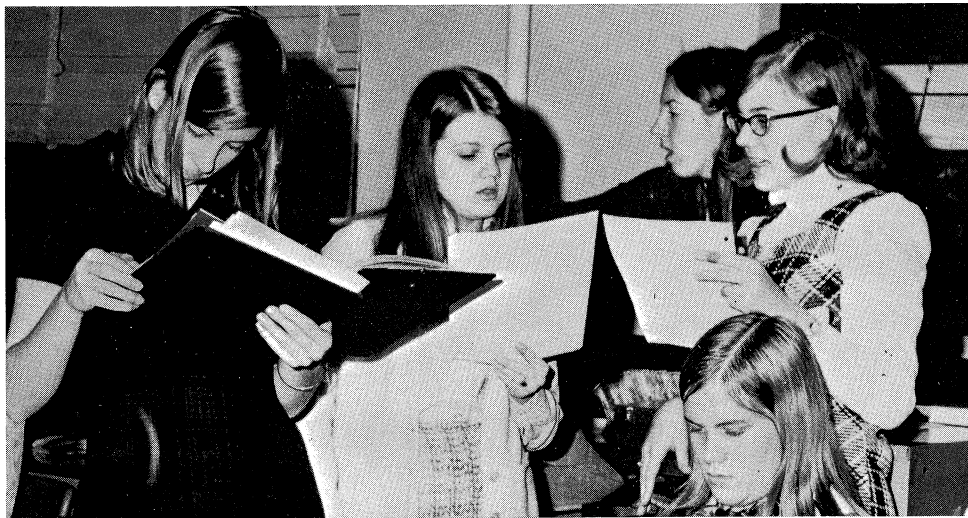

This year's Maroon has undergone many changes. For the first time, the editorship was undertaken by a junior. The brain center was situated in room 105 where moans and groans, typewriter keys and Mrs. Kovar's distinctive voice were heard many hours into the night. The staff was for the most part made up of inexperienced editors and their assistants. We have made mistakes, but no one can say we haven't tried.

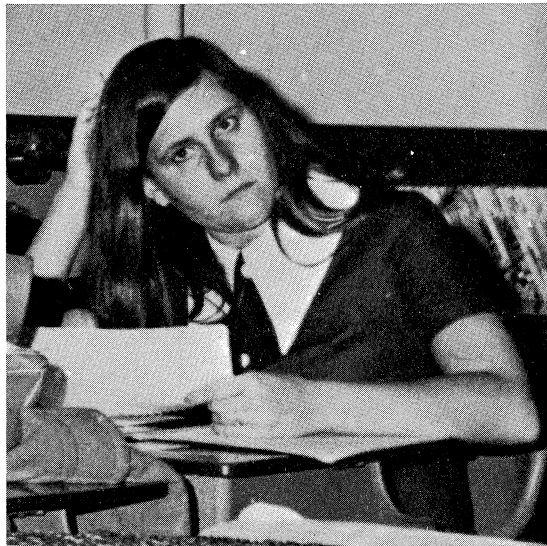

To find a place to work in room 105 is often hard, but Mrs. Kovar and Cindy Abbott solve the problem.

Room 105 is never without the commotion and confusion of staff members.

Smoke and Parchment Club chooses classmates' creative compositions

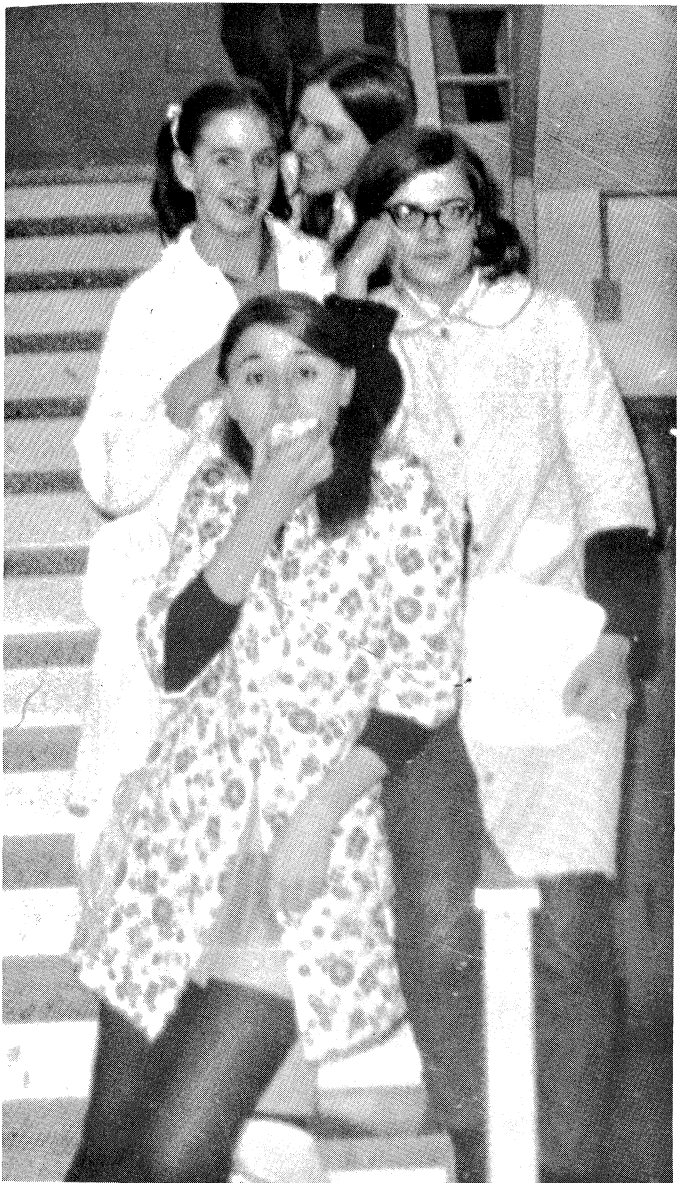

The never ending efforts of CCHS students were displayed in the Smoke and Parchment literary magazine. The continuous flow of creative writings kept this club on their toes. Many hours of hard work went into reviewing every story, essay and poem that was submitted to the club. It was indeed an honor to have a piece of literature published by this active club.

Those strange looking creatures roaming around the halls in a robe were this year's Quill and Scroll initiates. The members of this honorary club have spent many hours writing copy and making layouts so they can present the news to the school body. The club raised money by sponsoring a concession stand at the games to pay for initiation and banquet cost.

Many Monday nights during the year the Chronicle staff burned the midnight oil in 105. # Office Occupations offers opportunities

The members of Office Occupation are made up of seniors interested in learning more about their occupations. This year the nineteen member club took a field trip to Chicago to visit various office buildings, and sponsored a banquet for their employers. The club sent four of its members to the State Convention in Springfield. All members agreed that it was a profitable experience to belong to this club.

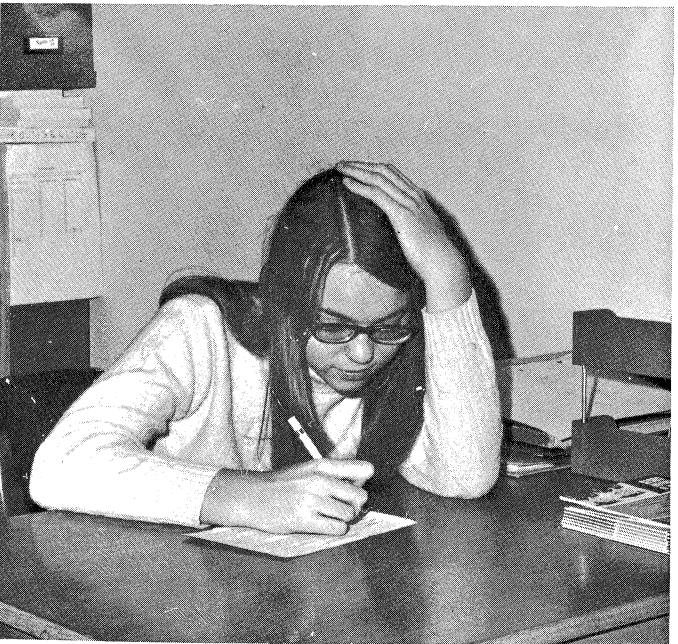

Making flowers for their annual banquet are Paula Schmittag, Diane Fox, and Pam Burnett.

Couriers call conferees

Hopeful faces always greeted the girls carrying the blue slips from the counseling office. The hope of a possible reprieve from class inspired these eager glances at the counseling guides. This year the guides had a new guidance director, Mrs. Garland, who kept them busy with many activities in room 104. They occupied their time by answering telephones, delivering passes and messages, and posting information about college entrance examinations and area colleges on the bulletin board. On occasion, they had time to do their homework. Being a counseling guide meant becoming better acquainted with the student body.

A student may be rescued from class by counseling guide Cindy Widloski.

DECA

Organization offers outstanding opportunity

Those lucky few who were allowed to leave classes at 12:45 each day were the DECA workers from Central High School. These students took a vocational course in the morning and went to their training station jobs in the afternoon. They held jobs in the fields of retailing, marketing, and distributng; they also held jobs in merchandising.

These students went to the State Leadership Conference at Centennial where they participated in workshops, sales demonstrations, and job interviewing, before attending a banquet. From here they had the opportunity to attend the Illinois State Leadership Conference which is held in Peoria each year.

Volunteer Office Assistants

Assistants act as aides

Volunteer Office Assistants aided the secretaries in the school office every hour. This volunteer group gave up a class period each day to work in the office. These girls picked up attendance cards from all of the classrooms, delivered telephone messages, put notices in teachers' mailboxes, and recorded absentees. When we had visitors in our school, these girls gladly gave directions and helpful information. To raise money this year, these hardworking members sponsored a concession stand at some of the home basketball games.

VICA Volunteers view vocations

VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, served all students interested in trade and industry to unite in a common bond. Selling candy was one of the club's projects this year. The profit helps pay for a field trip to Chicago. The many fields trips the club planned proved useful in learning the fundamentals of industry. Under the capable leadership of Parke Weatherford, the organization participated in a Vocational Education Week. The year closed successfully with an employer appreciation banquet.

Student Council

Selected students serve school skillfully

Governing the affairs of the entire student body is no ordinary task. With the capable leadership of the executive board, the 1970 Student Council sustained its reputation as an enterprising club with varied activities, and experienced on a small scale the debates and legislative procedures of a democracy. Several members attended a District Student Council convention in Decatur, where Central's Gawaine Perkins was elected District Student Council Treasurer. The Council extended its activities outside the school by holding the January Jamboree, a party for underprivileged area children. At the same time Illinois was revising its State Constitution, Central's governing body liberalized its constitution in liaison with the House of Representatives. Although the Student Council did not succeed in generating enough interest in a student lounge, they were more fortunate in another concern. They were surprised at their own success this year in changing an age-old dress rule: Mr. Fleener accepted their proposal that girls be allowed to wear slacks to class. Obviously, many problems and questions arose to keep every member in Room 209 busy.

A typical business meeting in room 209 contains much dialogue.

House of Representatives

Representatives reform restrictions and rules

The House of Representatives met twice a month to give each student a direct voice in school government. Representatives from each sixth hour class took their classmates opinions, gripes and ideas to each meeting.

Under the leadership of Tom Dorsey and Bob Runyan, the House of Representatives worked on many projects such as printing the lunch menu and airing student grievances. The House led in the discussions on the projected student lounge, a cooperative effort with Student Council to poll student wishes.

Being speaker of the House, Tom Dorsey finds a troublesome job.

During a discussion, house members conquer the urge to take a nap.

Tomorrow's typists are taught techniques today

The Future Secretaries Association provided experience for girls planning to hold a secretarial position. Girls were sent invitations to join the club if they maintained a B average in all their business courses and a C average overall. There was a prerequisite of having shorthand before belonging to the club. These girls held meetings in the school cafeteria the second Thursday of each month. Presiding over the meetings were president, Chris Cronau; secretary-treasurer, Debbie Day; with Mrs. Schoen as sponsor. There were speakers and refreshments at the meeting and often the meetings were replaced by activities such as a computer tour, a Christmas party, and a hayrack ride. Several girls were selected monthly to attend a dinner of the National Secretaries Association at the Ramada Inn. Polywogs and stationery were sold as money-raising projects.

FFA

Foundation is fixed for future farmers

The Champaign FFA Chapter promoted production agriculture as well as processing distribution and services of an agricultural nature. Scholarship, leadership, and problem ability were developed, with individual and group action as a model.

The local program of work emphasized community service and cooperation, American heritage and safety. Each student was assigned to one or more committees to implement a total working program.

The Chapter actively participated in local, sectional, district and state contests, with projects such as land selection, public speaking, foundation awards, program of work, and agricultural mechanics.

Tentative teachers try today for tomorrow

The Future Teachers of America once again raised $100 through taffy apple sales and bake sales and donated this gift to the Salvation Army. The club was then recognized by the Salvation Army with an award for their "unselfish service at Christmas." As a joint project with Key-Club members, helped the elderly at the Champaign County and American Nursing Homes with their Christmas parties. Advised by Mrs. Norton, three members of the club taught at several elementary schools. The experience was profitable and the year ended by awarding three seniors scholarships for their dedicated work in the club.

Association aids aches and assists ailments

The participants of Future Nurses of America found activity periods to be a necessity for handling the week's business and planning out of school activities. To reach a better understanding of a nursing career and have fun while doing it was the purpose of these activities. With the help of sponsor Mrs. Ward, the organization took many field trips to hospitals around the state. The tours the girls took in Chicago, St. Louis, and Champaign hospitals helped them to get a better insight into the medical profession.

Musical Maroons are masters at marching

The Marching Maroons led the spirit on the football field and in the stands to support their team. Under the leadership of Mr. Dunscomb and drum majorette Rhonda Parkhurst, the Maroons performed for the home football games and one away game. New musical cheers played from off the field seemed to help lead the team to victory.

The band continued to support school spirit as basketball season opened. Before each varsity game they played along with the cheers and for the enjoyment of the fans.

Rounding out its musical year the band gave concerts and went on concert tour to Nashville, Tennessee.

Jazz Band

Trombone and trumpet try today's tempos

A new musical group, the Jazz Band, came to Champaign Central this year. They gave many fine performances to thrilled audiences. Under the direction of Mr. Dunscomb, who organized the band, they performed for an all-school assembly and the stunt show. Singers Barb Suggs, and Gawaine Perkins, enriched the meaning of many songs.

The Jazz Band took two exciting trips during the year. The first was to Oak Lawn, Illinois to play in a contest. They received the second place award for the entire contest and earned a superior rating. Less than a week later they went on the Band-Choir concert tour to Nashville.

Baton Club

Maroon musicians meet for more music mastery

Baton Club opened its membership to all music students this year including sophomores, contrary to past policy. The new members escaped the embarrassment of the traditional initiation from the past years.

New ideas produced new plans for Baton Club members. Among these plans was to keep an up-to-date calendar of all music events in the community. Proceeds from money-making projects were used to finance summer music sessions for exceptional musicians.

Baton Club president, Joan Kulwin, finds meetings fun and humorous.

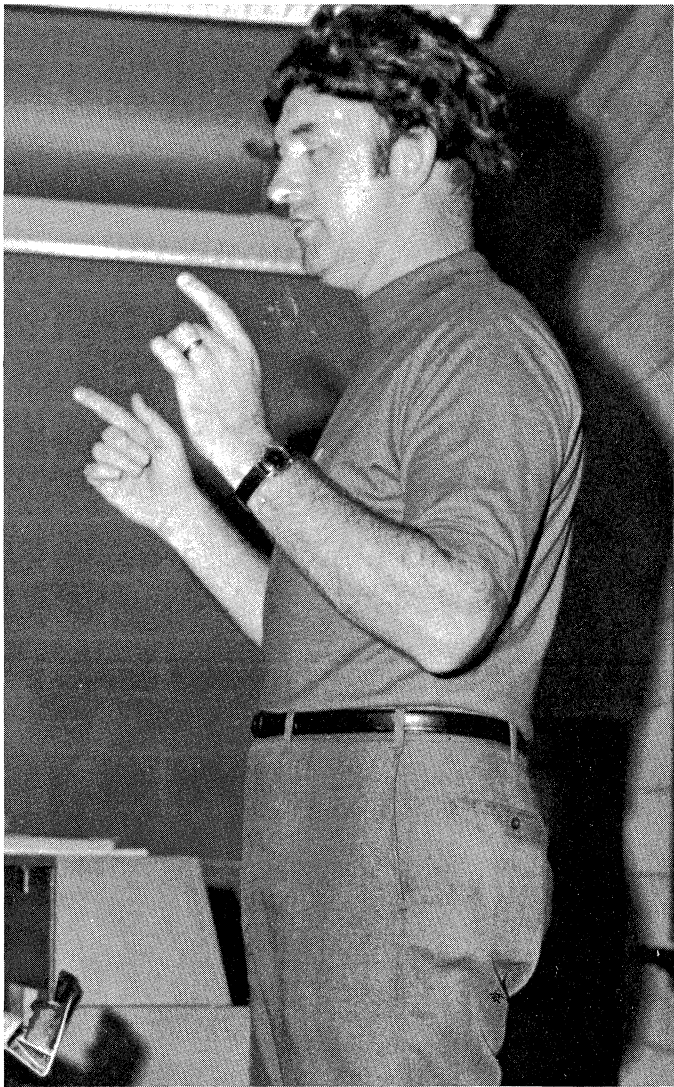

Choirs

Choirs contribute concerts and cheer

The Choral Department this year changed a tradition: instead of a fall concert and a Christmas Concert, they put all of their musical efforts into one excellent holiday sing. With fewer a cappella and choir members, more time was allowed for more challenging routines.

Fewer a cappella members meant more work for each in the turtle sales to support the cost of the concert tour. This year the Madrigals added the concert tour to their busy calendar of sing-outs. Plans for the tour to Tennessee included concerts at several schools and a stay in Nashville.

Honor Society

Good grades gain glory

Illini Chapter of the National Honor Society at Champaign Central High School was chartered by the National Honor Society. To become a member of the honor society one must maintain a 4.75 average as a junior and a 4.5 as a senior. All high school work was figured in this grade average. Requirements for membership included a teacher recommendation, satisfactory citizenship, and participation in an extra-curricular activity. A member must have excelled in leadership, scholarship, and citizenship to participate in honor society.

For a moneymaking project the society sponsored a hop in the girls' gym after one of the football games.

The big event of the year came when in May new members were initiated into the club at the initiating banquet.

Pompoms project pep

Early in the fall the Pepettes practiced often in the morning before school. Some were still in rollers as new routines were learned in the girls' gym. Furry caps and boots were worn by the wisest girls as final rehearsals were held at McKinley and Centennial Fields. With pompoms swinging, the Pepettes marched for half time shows at football games. Out on the field, the pompoms flew in perfect unison to support our team. For the Homecoming festivities, the Pepettes paraded around the school and to the field, singing and yelling as they went marching along.

Athletic activities are adventuresome

GAA members were active this year with a variety of activities from which to choose. Tennis, bowling, archery and swimming were just a few of the sports enjoyed by the girls. Mrs. West, GAA sponsor, assisted the girls in giving a number of parties one of which was a Parent Playnight. The Playnight is held annually for the parents of GAA members.

At the conclusion of the year, the girls were honored at a banquet for their participation in sports.

Peparoons

Peparoons project pep by painting posters

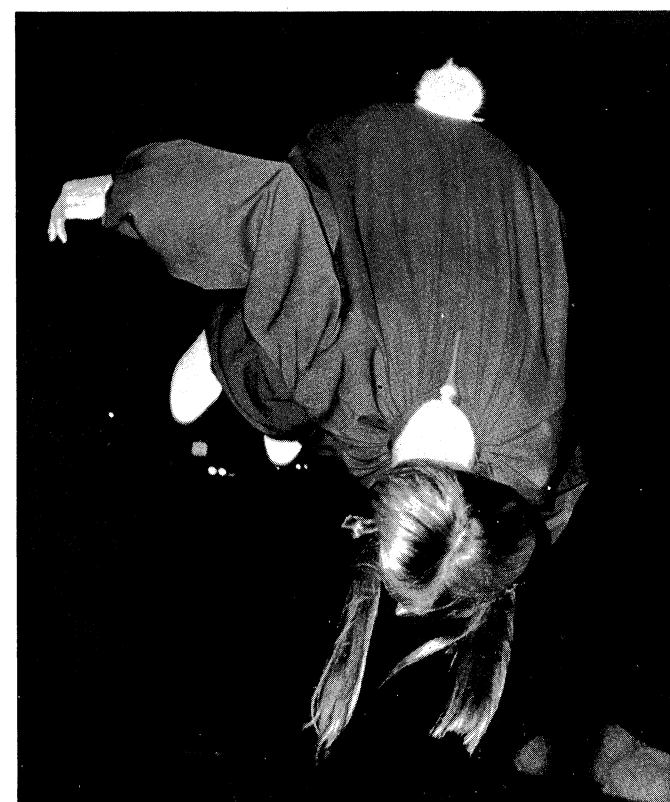

All of the yelling and screaming in the bleachers was probably made by the Peparoons. Besides painting posters to announce and advertise upcoming games, the sophomore and junior girls in the pep club sponsored buses to away basketball and football games. At Homecoming the Peparoons had a parade to Unit 4 football field before the game started. Miss Natvig, the new sponsor this year, started the girls going to support other than the major sports. The swimming, wrestling, baseball, track, and other minor sport teams needed just as much support as basketball and football.

Senior Gym Leaders

Superior seniors set
spotless suits standard

Taking roll, checking towels, leading exercises, making out grades, and officiating sports were among the duties of the Senior Gym Leaders. These girls were trained in all 36 activities offered by the physical education department, so that they may take over sophomores, junior, or senior classes. Each leader knows all the workings of the physical education department. A girl is chosen on the basis of grade average, teacher recommendations, and a personal interview in her sophomore year. # Girls Gain Guidance

"We are clock watchers." "Attention!" "Left face." "Count off." These were phrases not at all unfamiliar to the Junior Gym Leading Class. This was by far no ordinary organization. Every day during second hour, forty girls learned how to regulate every sport thinkable, how to lead, and how to be in constant control of class. It is through these hours of preparation that many of the girls will be assigned a P.E. class and become a Senior Gym Leader.

Under the leadership of Miss Natvig, the sophomore cheerleaders were an ambitious group. These girls were selected by a group of teachers and students in the fall on the basis of their coordination, enthusiasm, and attitude. Taking turns being squad captain, the girls gained experience in leadership. By traveling to away games the sophomore cheerleading squad supported our teams. The varsity cheerleaders advised the sophomore squad on the basic school cheers. Through many hours of hard work and practice, these girls became an extremely skilled and talented group of girls.

Leading the school in spirit were the varsity cheerleaders. Pam Scherer, captain, and the varsity squad were victorious even when our teams were not. The beaming smiles and enthusiastic pep of the cheerleaders encouraged the crowds to cheer their loudest. Excellent sportsmanship was always demonstrated from the hardworking cheerleading squad. The cheerleaders not only kept the spirit high at home games, but supported our teams at away games as well.

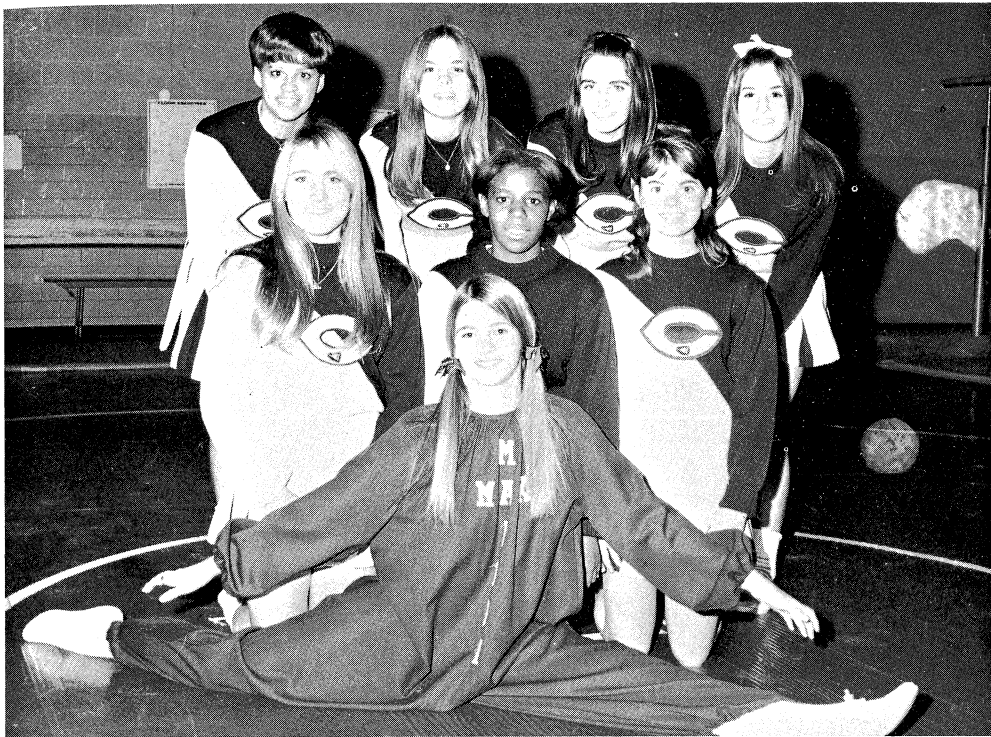

The girls spent many strenuous hours practicing and perfecting cheers in the girls' gym. The efforts put into these practices were demonstrated at all of the games.

Spanish Club

Students study Spain

Learning about Latin America, Mexico, and Spain, understanding how the people live, and viewing the beautiful landscapes of these Spanish speaking countries were the advantages gained by the members of this club when they stepped into room 109 at each club meeting. The chance to hear the songs of the Spanish and maybe even sing along with a Trini Lopez record was another advantage. Besides this, Karla Anderson talked about her trip to Mexico, which added variety to the meetings. The club meetings gave gourmet cooks a chance to learn about the unusual Spanish dishes that were served at the International Supper. And of course, the club meetings gave everyone a change to practice communicating with the Spanish language.

Society strives to serve Spanish students

If you saw the lights in the Spanish rooms burning early in the morning or late into the evening, it was the members of the Spanish Honor Society aiding fellow Spanish students. If a student came across something in his Spanish homework that puzzled him, he could always count on help in room 003. The Society also took on the challenges of making a new flag and helping out with the International Supper. The Society has given students who excel in Spanish an opportunity to use their exceptional knowledge in helping fellow students and bettering the Society as a whole.

Afro-American

Blacks back Breadbasket

The membership of this club has grown very rapidly this past year. From one of the smallest in the school, it has grown to be one of the most active and largest organizations. One of its main purposes was to discuss racial prejudices and try to solve problems in our community. The group was extremely active under the leadership of co-sponsors Mrs. Brownridge and Mr. Carrodine. Members sold newspapers to contribute to Operation Bread Basket, and took a field trip to Chicago to show their support of this worthwhile project. During the week preceding Christmas, the club sponsored a canned food drive. Students were asked to contribute cans of food which were then given to local needy families. The Afro-American Club celebrated Christmas with a party which was open to the entire school body.

Newspapers were sold to Dan Starwalt and Rick Clevenger by Willie Newburn to help support Operation Breadbasket.

Wig 'N Paint Players present plays for practice, pleasure

Beginning a new year under a new director, Miss Sandra Norris, dramatists were determinedly to work. "The Impossible years," the selection for the fall production, was highly successful as teenagers identified themselves with the incidents in the play.

New curtains were ordered this year for the Little Theater and arrived around production time so as to make a fresh setting for the fall play and other productions during the year.

There are no real requirements to belong to Wig 'n Paint other than a desire to produce a successful show. Workers for scenery, selling tickets, make-up, lighting, and directing are all important along with acting to keep the interest of the audience during a production.

Wig 'n paint debated to keep their stage storage room from being converted to a student lounge by Student Council.

Order of the Mask Advanced actors aid others' advancements

Helping the less experienced members of the wonderful world of drama was a fun, funny and nerve-racking job for the members of the Order of the Mask. Putting up the set for a play with only a small inexperienced work crew was just one of these tasks. Officers for the order also serve as officers for the Wig 'n Paint club. Leading these novices through the maze of lighting booths, set changes and scene blocking to the successful completion of an opening night was the grand job done by the honorary members of the Order of the Mask.

Key Club Organization offers objective opinions

Key Club's 1970 activities have been many and varied as in previous years. Guatemala school building project was extremely successful. Two schools were completed and a third is on the way thanks to the hard work of many Key Club members.

This year's activities have required many hours of concentrated effort. The building of a house to sell to a needy family required much support from the club which led to fund raising projects such as selling information books on campus. Members celebrated Christmas with a party for the nursing home. This service club has rendered many contributions to the community and services to the community in which they belong.

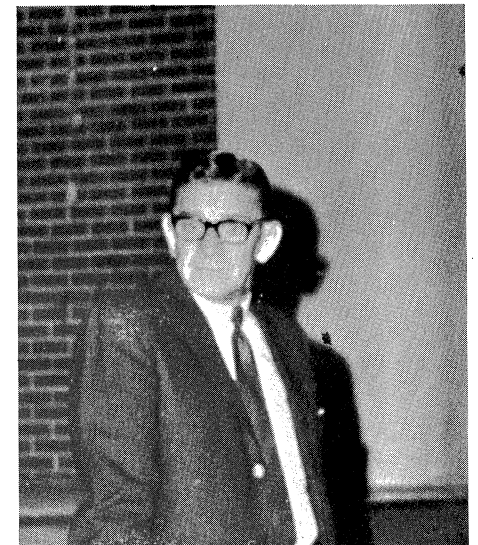

Getting the point across is not difficult for President Steve LaRoque.

Members find Guatemala souvenirs to be quite interesting and informative.

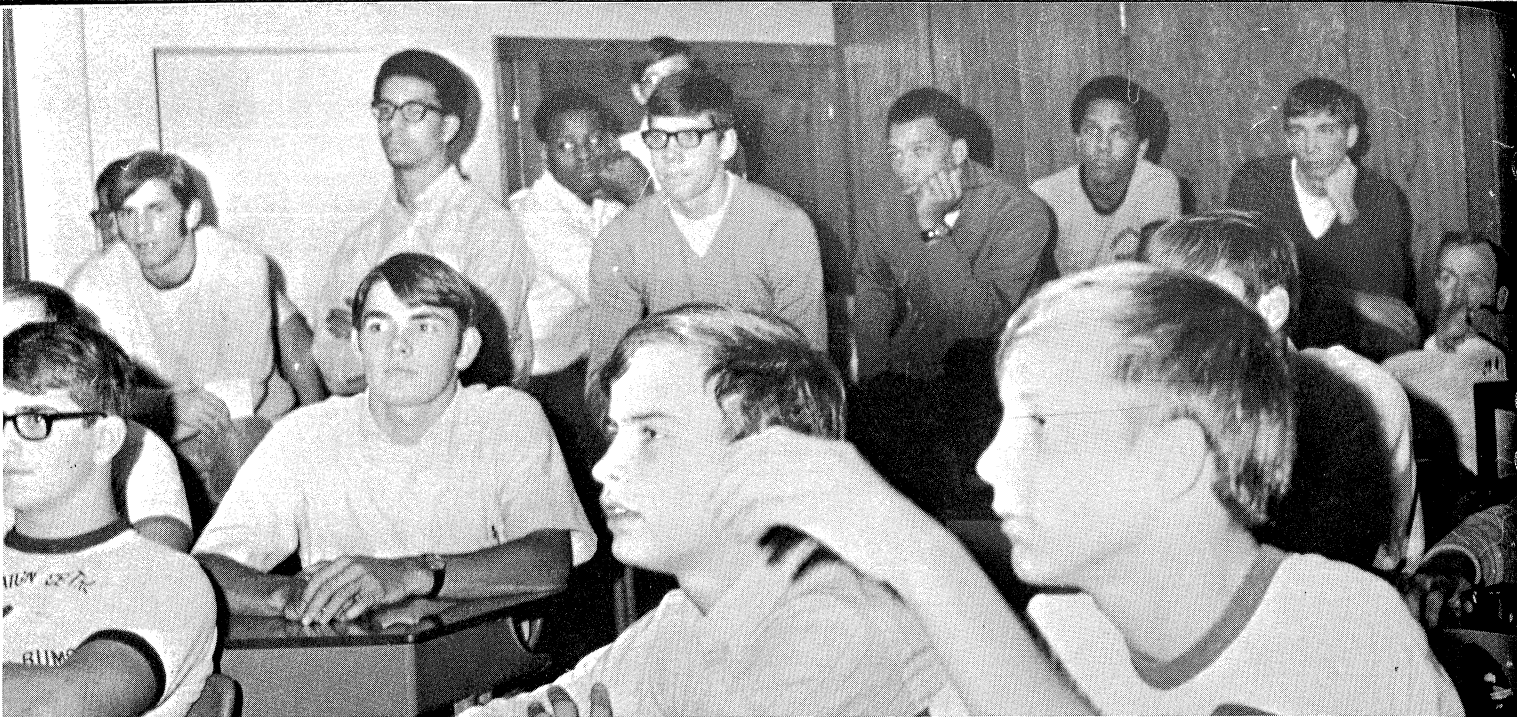

Taking time out from Key Club activities, David Sholem builds a snowman.

Taking interest in Key Club activities is sponsor Mr. Bowman.

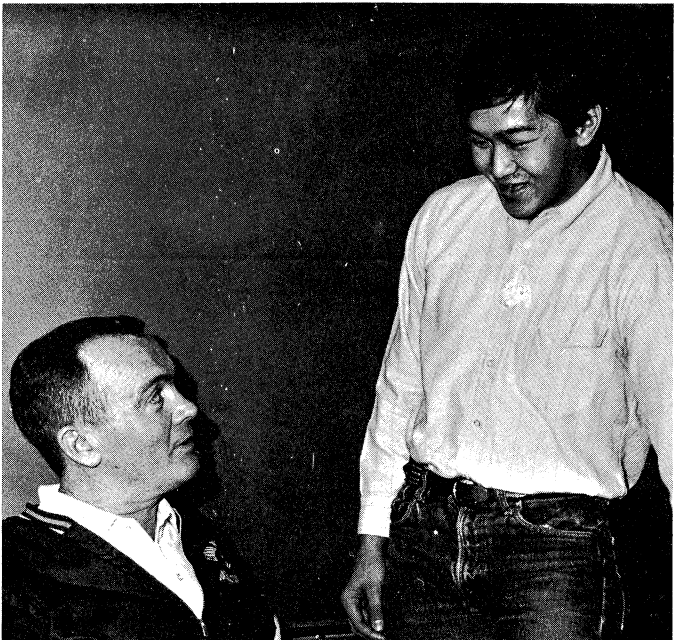

C-Club members are entranced as they watch football films.

C Club Sportsmen show stamina

The requirement of this club is to have earned a C for participation in a sport. Meetings were usually held during the new activity period for C Club to discuss fund raising projects and to review football films.

C Club members were busy raising money in many school supported projects such as garage and zip code book sales. Proceeds from these sales went to the Athletic Department and for football. To raise money for basketball, boys sold Maroon bumper stickers.

Meetings can be quite humorous as Eddie Chin confers with Mr. Ward.

Members form a C to represent their active organization.

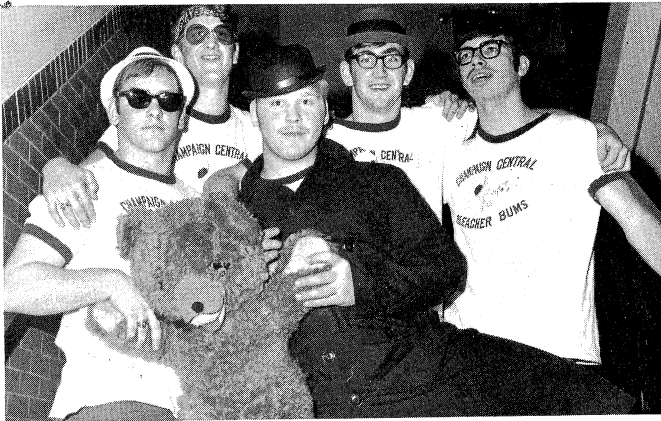

What are little boys made of? Spirit and pep.

Bleacher Bums

Boys boast best backing in the bleachers

Many students found it difficult to escape the familiar sight of a senior boy in a unique maroon and white T-shirt. The T-shirt came to represent the 1970 Bleacher Bums. This newly formed organization added needed spirit to all the sports activities. Every Wednesday morning, 40 boys arose early to discuss the weekly business with President Tim Nally. In addition to their morning meeting, activity period came in handy to take care of business. This organization was privileged enough to have the talented Mr. Schooley as a sponsor for their first year. This was one club whose activities did not stay within the school walls. The weekends proved to be their most valuable time. Between the after game T-Ping and the rather festive parties, the bums kept busy loyally supporting their team.

Improving over last season, the Maroons rolled to an impressive 7-3 record. Champaign Central's offense was led by the outside running threats of co-captain Pete Vriner and Ron Chambers. Co-captain Paul Andrew and Tom Murray provided the Maroons with powerful inside running. This combined with the Maroon's versatile quarterback, Ed Chin, supplied the Maroons with an explosive offense.

The Maroon defense, led by Dave Ashby, John Parks, Doug Allen, and John Levanti, limited the opposition to an average of 9.7 points per game.

Jim Lewis added a new dimension to Champaign football with his soccer-style kicking. His kicking proved to be a vital part of the Maroon offensive attack as he hit on 88 percent of his extra point attempts.

After opening their season crushing Streator 41-0, the Maroons were met by a powerful Joliet squad that capitalized on Maroons penalties and handed Champaign their first defeat of the young season, 20-7. Traveling to Mattoon, Central faced a surprisingly tough Green Wave. Driving 80 yards late in the fourth quarter, Champaign narrowly escaped with a 14-7 win. Returning home, Central recorded consecutive wins over Danville Schlarman, 47-0, and a homecoming triumph over Bloomington, 41-8. With hopes for a conference championship, the Maroons journeyed to Decatur only to be defeated 14-0 at the hands of a strong Decatur team. Whatever title hopes Central still had were shattered when the Danville Vikings came from behind to hand the Maroons a 19-10 defeat. Bouncing back from defeat, the Maroons defeated Springfield 28-6. In the game that Coach Tom Stewart considered the most important of the year, the Maroons humiliated Urbana 42-14.

Revening last year's homecoming loss, the Maroons of Champaign rolled to a 41-8 win over the Bloomington Raiders.

Champaign co-captains Paul Andrew and Pete Vriner combined for 218 yards rushing and five of the six Champaign touchdowns.

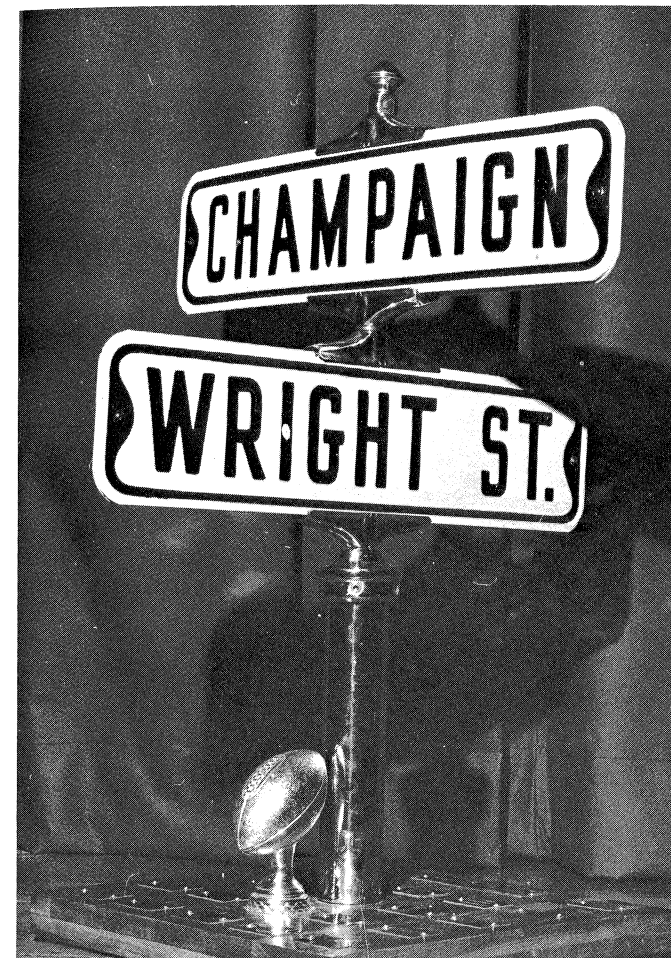

It took the Maroons seven plays to march 54 yards for the first touchdown. Paul Andrew ran four straight plays to the middle of the Raider defense to score.

In the second quarter, the Raiders outscored the Maroons 8-6 with the only Maroon touchdown coming from a 22 yard pass from quarterback Ed Chin to Jerry Gorman. Gorman had to fight two Bloomington defenders for the ball and just barely came down inbounds. After an unsuccessful extra point attempt, the Maroons led 13-0. Bloomington was able to score only once in the remaining time of the half.

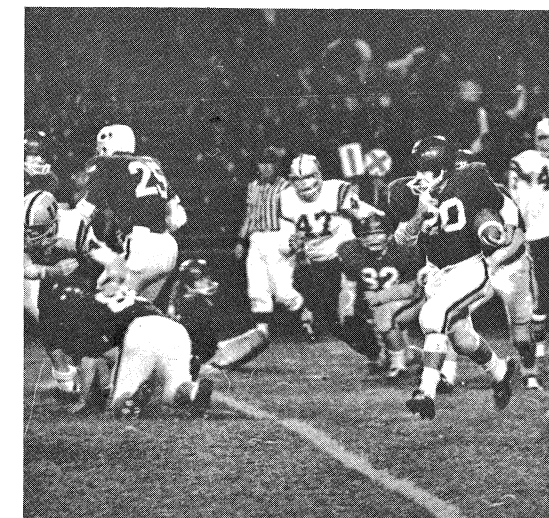

The third quarter saw Champaign explode for 21 points. Pete Vriner scored from the four yard line and Paul Andrew scored from the 4-yard and 3-yard line. Jim Lewis added two extra point kicks to enlarge the Champaign lead 34-8.

The final score came with 7:17 remaining in the game as Pete Vriner took a bad throw and ran 58 yards for the touchdown.

Maroon quarterback Ed Chin gains yardage against the Tiger defense. In the Champaign-Urbana game, Ed turned in a sterling performance by running the triple-option with authority.

Junior right halfback, Ron Chambers finds a hole in the Tiger defense and runs 74 yards for the first Maroon touchdown of the game that brought humiliation to the Urbana Tigers.

A gleaming trophy in the showcase continually reminds students of the hard fought battle with the Tigers. Each year the Courier presents this trophy to the winner of the Champaign-Urbana game.

Maroons capture 41-8 victory over Bloomington

Jim Lewis tries for another extra point kick.

Central's Mighty Maroons outplayed and outscored the Urbana Tigers on route to a 42-14 victory over their cross-town rivals.

Central kicked the opening kickoff to Urbana and the Tigers made two first downs before being stopped on their own 47-yard line where they were forced to punt. Maroon halfback Ron Chambers found a hole in the Tiger defense and ran 74 yards on the first play for a touchdown. Pete Vriner intercepted a pass and returned it for 18 yards and once again the Maroons had possession of the ball.

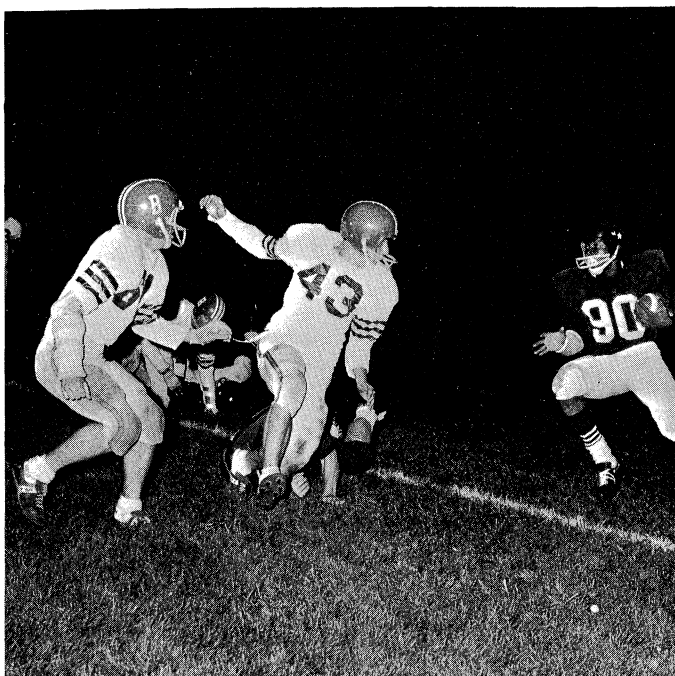

With 8:55 left in the half, Maroon quarterback Ed Chin hit a wide open John Parks with a touchdown pass and Jim Lewis kicked the extra point to make the score 14-0. Ed Chin then gave the Maroons a third touchdown with a 29-yard run to make the score 21-0.

The Maroons scored once more in the second quarter on a three yard dive into the end zone by Pete Vriner to lead the Tigers 28-0.

At the end of the game both teams scored two touchdowns giving the Maroons the win over the Urbana Tigers 42-14.

The Maroon victory prevented the Tigers from a third straight victory and gave Maroon coach Tommy Stewart a one game edge over his Urbana counter-part Warren Smith.

Junior Varsity ends season with a 1-2-1 slate

People may look at this year's junior varsity record of 1-2-1 as unimpressive. These people don't realize that this year's varsity team had nearly the same record as a junior varsity team.

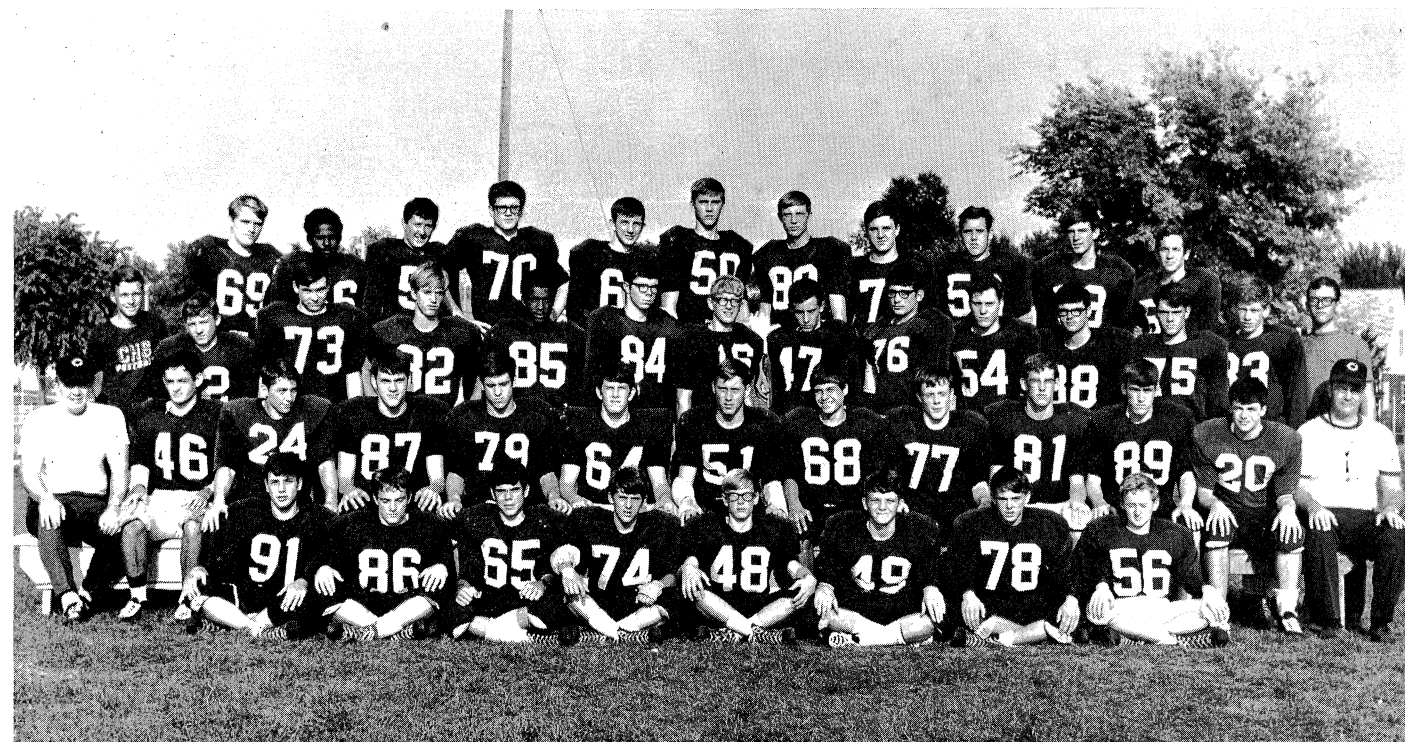

The junior varsity, under the coaching of Tom Gher, tied their first game with Decatur McArthur 6-6. The junior varsity gridders then lost two games in a row. The first loss was to Decatur Eisenhower with a score of 31-21 and the second to Danville with a 12-6 loss. The game with Bloomington that was scheduled to be played on October 13 was postponed until October 27 due to bad weather. The J.V.'s went into the game winless and came out with a 14-0 margin.

The first two losses were attributed to the difficulty of co-ordinating the offense and defense. The final victory gives promise for a successful varsity squad next fall.

Billy Bridges, Mike VanMetre, Dennis Cox, Thurman Williams, Clay Robinson, Mark Stevens, Tom Stewart, Tom Lessaris, Dennis Johnson, Ted Miles, Mike Ashby, Rick Hardyman, Manager—Frank DeAtley. FOURTH ROW: Jeff Morrill, Terry Jones, Todd Tennant, Mike Kelly, Mark Galbreath, Gary Gaither, Dan Welch, Randy Burwell, Mike Leeds, Tim Sheahan, Chris Hunker.

The Sophomore football team gave Central its first undefeated season this year with a 7-0 record. Under the coaching of Gene Ward and Don Pittman, the sophomore football squad gained valuable experience and will certainly help next year's varsity and J.V. teams. It was the first undefeated season for the sophomores since the high schools divided.

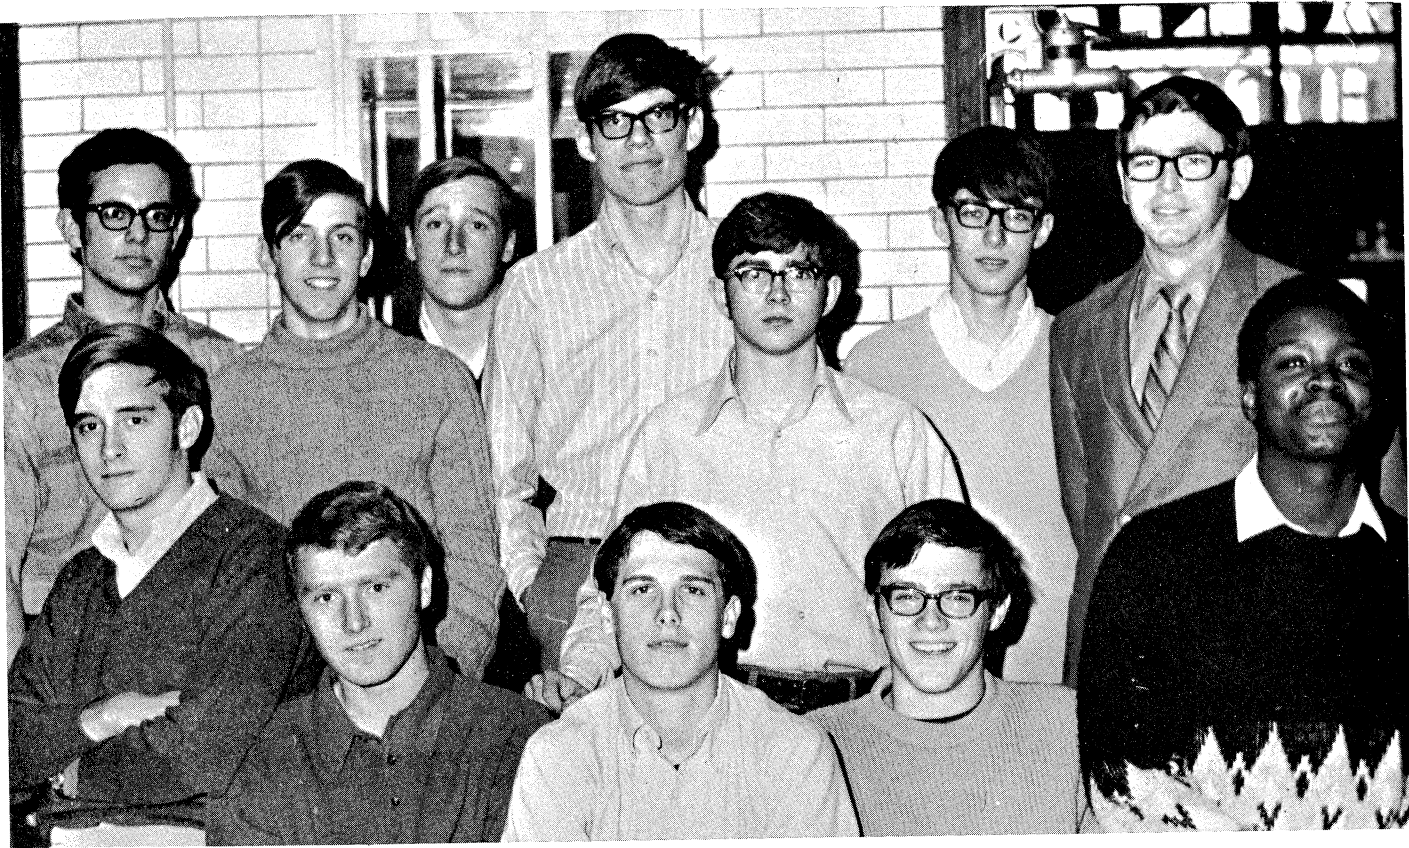

The sophomores followed the varsity squad in beating Urbana twice during the season. In the season finale the sophomores beat Decatur 35-0.

The statistics show how good the team was. In the seven games they scored 231 points to the opponents 38. The rushing was an average of 203.6 yards a game for a total of 1,425. The passing averaged 116.4 yards a game for a total 815 yards.

Mark Stevens, Andy Dixon, and Mike Sullivan proved to be the top players and leaders of the team. Andy Dixon led all scorers for a total of 60 points. Mark Stevens passed for 23 completions, and Mike Sullivan led punt returns with a total of 7. Clay Robinson added 22 extra point kicks for the season.

Sophomore quarterbacks Mark Stevens and Tom Stewart discuss the ups and downs of their highly successful season with Coach Ward.

Lettermen Cutright and LaFoe lead harriers

The 1969 cross-country team tried hard to improve over last year's season. Although the team missed running .500 as they ended up with a 3-4 dual meet record for the season, the Maroons captured third in the conference and district meets.

The team was led by senior lettermen Marc Cutright and Terry LaFoe. The other senior lettermen that contributed to the team effort were Jim Bright, Dennis Horn, Pete Nast, Charles Wilson, and Alan Yordy.

The season had a couple of high points as the harriers captured first place out of an eighteen team field in the Crete Monne Invitational. Captain Marc Cutright led the Maroons with a second place finish. Coach Schooley's runners also ran to a sixth place finish in the Paris Relays.

Skill, strategy help to build success

Champaign's matmen sweated off pounds while building the season this year with a 8-3 record for dual meets. The squad practiced hard while they worked off pounds and replaced them with skill and strategy of wrestling. The superb coaching of Don Pittman and his assistants led the team to their record of this season.

Next year's team will be at loss without seniors John Diefenbaugh, Dave Ashby, Zane Zeigler, Mike O'Connor, Mike Petry and Terry Mast. This year's underclassmen will be the keymen to the success of next year's squad. Andy Warner, Tom Murray, Dan Starwalt, Richard Foley and Steve Fernandez will be a few of the keymen for next year's season. With hard work the team overcame many obstacles to maintain the successful record that they inherited from last year's 7-5-1 record.

Cagers reach climax with win over Centennial

Coach Lee Cabutti's cagers had a rather poor numerical slate this past season in comparison with preceding seasons. The Maroons had a 13-14 record for the season.

The cagers laid a sound foundation for next year. This past season began with an unskilled team and ended with a team skilled and ready to be one of the toughest squads in the state next year.

CCHS took a first in the Turkey Classic Tournament and a third in the Centralia Holiday Tournament during their season. The Maroons took second at the Regional Tournament to end play.

One of the highlights of the year was the CCHS vs. Centennial game with a score of 55-49.

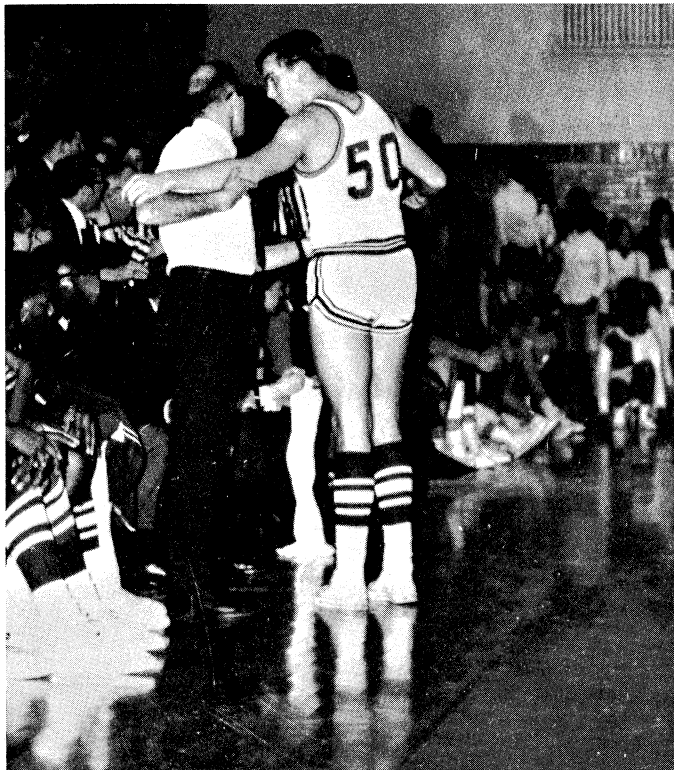

The '69-'70 season was a season filled with great enthusiasm from the crowds. If next year's team is supported like this year's, we are bound to have a magnificent season.

Coach Charlie Due's sophomore cagers brought hopes for next season's success. The team ended their year with a 19-4 season slate.

In his first year as swim coach, Jeff Trigger led a season in which the Maroon tankers had a chance to build themselves up. The tankers strived to set new marks with senior lettermen Don Delbert and Jeff Arvidson leading this year's squad. Next year's team will be led by upcoming underclassmen Rich Lore, Steve Hays, Doug Wilson, Clayton Pope, Pete Skaperdas, Brad Arvidson and other qualified tankers. ## Juniors become involved in a variety of activities

With stars like these to back the team, how can they lose?

These Juniors had . . .

- . . . the ingenuity to steal the senior bench
- . . . the energy to paint curbs and sell magazines
- . . . the courage to face the PSAT and ACT
- . . . a hunger for post-game pizza
- . . . miles of fun with a driver's license
- . . . the best decorated car at Homecoming
- . . . countless hours of studying
- . . . committees, committees, committees
- . . . time to look to the future.

MAROON SUPPLEMENT

Reincarnation is theme of spring '70 musical:

The Central stage welcomed spring in a refreshingly mysterious mood as cast and chorus presented "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever." Reincarnation by hypnosis was the theme around Daisy Gamble, portrayed by Anne Shapland and the man who discovered Daisy's unusual talents, Dr. Mark Buckner played by Richard Gish. Daisy's fiancé, Greg Massanari as Warren Smith, never seems to understand her unusual capabilities of ESP. Daisy, realizing she is not "normal" enough for her fiancé, falls in love with Mark who had been using Daisy for experimental purposes only.

Other members of the cast were Becky Cline as Muriel, Daisy's friend; Richard Lore as Preston; and Barb Suggs as Dr. Fuller. The characters in Daisy's past included Pam Cummings as Melinda and Melinda Tate and Dave Anderson portrayed Melinda's parents. Jim Speiser had the part of Trudle, Tim Murray played Hubert, and Alan Yordy was Sir Insdale.

A dance and offstage chorus accompanied by a twenty-eight member orchestra completed the production.

On a Clear Day You Can See Forever . . .

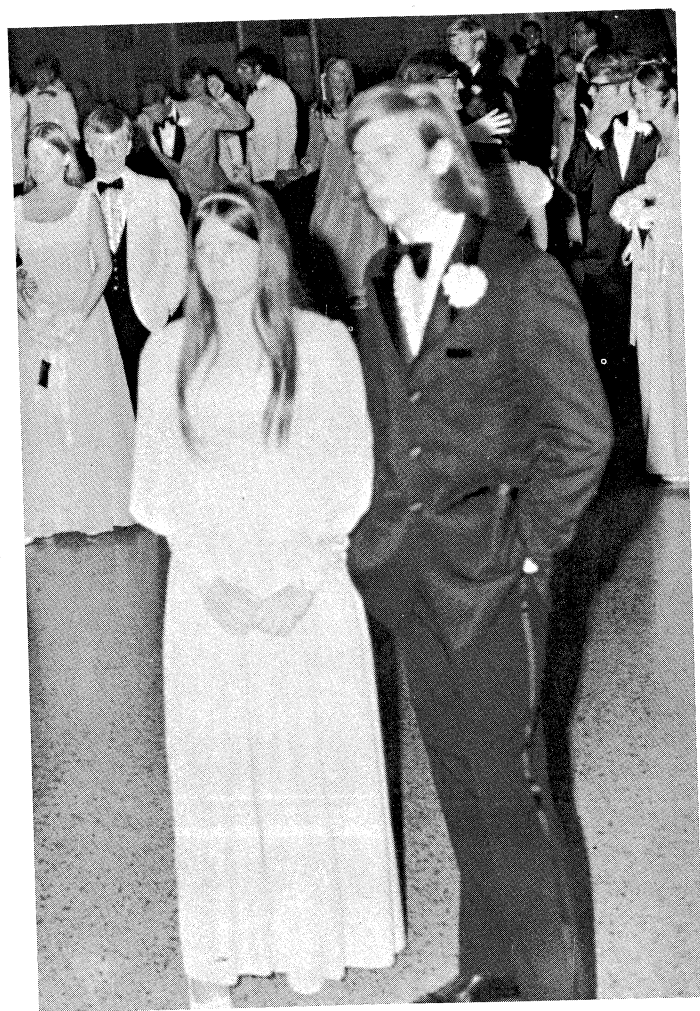

LEFT: "Come Back to Me," sings Dr. Mark Buckner as he uses his power of ESP on Daisy Gamble. BELOW: Precision perfect must be the stage setting as Ethan Levine does his part back stage.

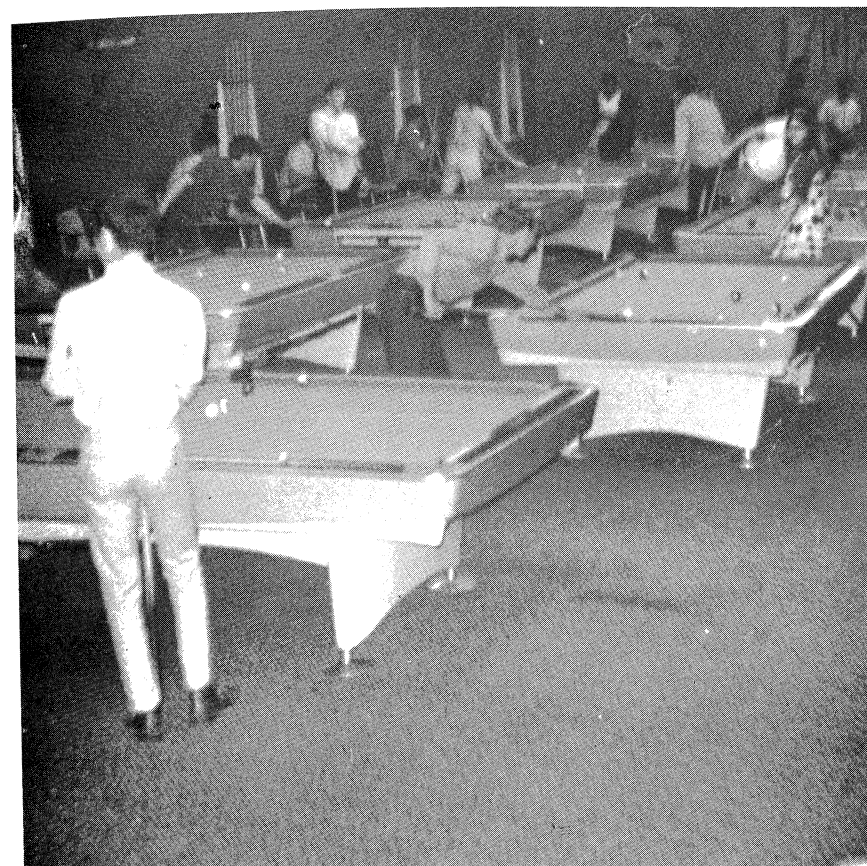

LEFT: Students in Dr. Buckner's classroom imitate a harem illustrating what they would desire if they were reincarnated.

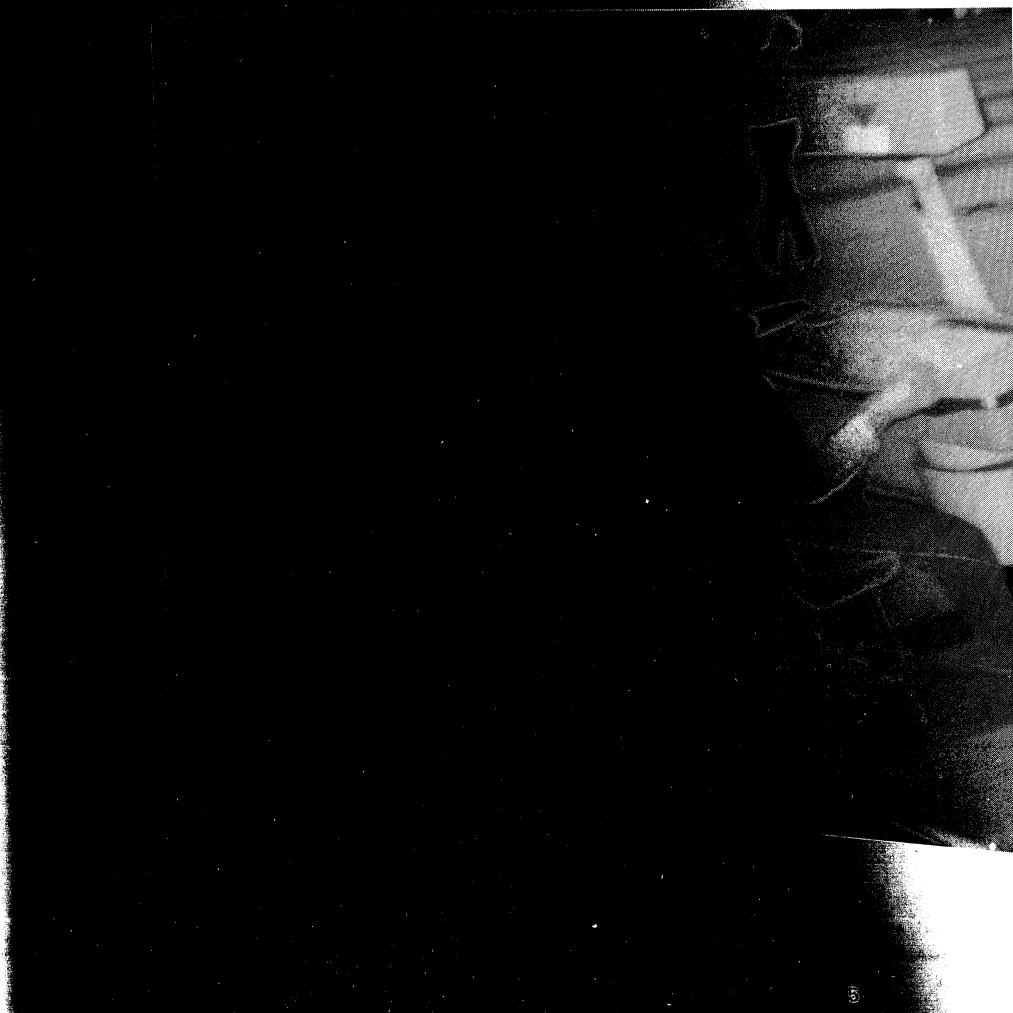

“A Time For Us” brings memorable moments

Congratulations to the outstanding Class of 1970

The traditional Honor's Day Assembly was held May 19. Awards were given for excellence in math, science, citizenship and drama. Several scholarships were presented to the students who had done exceptional work in their fields. Mr. Fleener was proud to announce that the class of 1970 had the highest grade point average for the upper 25%, upper 50%, and upper one-third of the class, and for the upper 10%, the grade average was second only to the Class of 1955.

The trophy awarded to the year's Most Outstanding Athlete is admired by winner Paul Andrew and runner-up Dave Ashby.

Student Council honors exceptional students

Twenty-seven outstanding seniors have been awarded as "Seniors of the Month" this year. At top are Greg Adams, May, Scholastic; Paul Andrew, December, Sports; Dave Ashby, May, Sports; Debbie Barthomew, October, Scholastic; Mike Billing, April, Scholastic; and Jenny Black, March, Scholastic. SECOND ROW: Margaret Brandis, March, Scholastic; Debbie Burkhead, December, Activities; Joe Calcagno, November, Sports; Debby Carlier, January, Scholastic; Eddie Chin, May, Sports; and Nancy Colbert, January, Scholastic. THIRD ROW: Marc Cutright, October, Sports; two February honorees, Don Delbert, Sports, and Dixie Etheridge, Activities. FOURTH ROW: Lila Gadbury, February, Activities; Beth Hinton, December, Scholastic; Connie Lessaris, October, Scholastic; two May Sports awardees, John Levanti and Tim Nally; and Kevin Neely, March, Activities. LAST ROW: John Parks, November, Scholastic; Mike Petry, January, Sports; the three April Activity patriots, Pam Scherer, Debbie Smith, and Barb Suggs, and Cindy Wood, November, Scholastic. These talented students were chosen by a committee composed of Student Council members, headed by Jennifer Smith.

Diamondmen end season with a slate of 7-13

Central diamondmen had a rebuilding season with a record of 7-13 record. The team under the leadership of Coach Charlie Due and his assistant Coach Lee Cabutti was one with quite a few up-coming underclassmen. Dave Ashby, Steve LaRocque, and Dan Carlier were the ones who formed the senior nucleus. Up-coming seniors are Ron Chambers, Bob Blackwell, Dave Anderson, Mike Stahl and other men that will help form the core for a new better season.

Spirit never falters

Central cindermen ended their rebuilding season 1-14. This was quite a good season considering the fact that the cindermen were mostly underclassmen. Seniors Paul Andrew and John Levanti excelled in the weights, and Tom Murray was an outstanding footman. The spirit of the team never faltered and neither did the enthusiasm. The hard work of the team was not revealed in the season record, but Central did participate in some big meets and came up with many second and third place finishes. Coach Gene Ward has a team that will come back strong next year.

Senior Paul Andrew hurls another discus for the Central trackmen.

Sophomore Ken Bode clears the high jump again for Central.

Central linksmen gain 8-8 season slate

Central linksmen ended their season with a 8-8 dual meet slate. The team was coached by Coach Richard Wooley. Tim Nally and Rob Eisner were the senior nucleus of the team. Up-coming juniors on the team will be John Katsinas, Gary VanDenBerg, Tim Hoss, and Rick Hepler. With a number of seniors and juniors on the squad, next year's season should turn out to be a very successful one.

Tennis takes talent

The tennis squad this year was led by John Parks and Eddie Chin. The team became highly skilled under the school's new coach, Mr. Brad Roos. The team definitely improved throughout the year resulting in a team record of 10-4. Eligible for state this year was Eddie Chin, who was finally beaten by the state fourth place winner.

Looking determined is Jim Lewis.

Students seem to survive a super spring scene

Restlessness and temperatures increased as the last few months of school crept along. Champaign Central High seemed to be able to survive the high temperatures unlike some schools we know. The duller moments among the tranquil halls found students plotting a lunch escape, planning an Open Arms Inn get-together, trying out for the drill team, signing yearbooks, wearing super, super shorts, running for Student Council, putting out a spring supplement. Spring 1970 has produced memories not easily forgotten.

Demonstrating for peace is Bill Dorsey.

Fans are numerous and enthusiastic at a Central High doubleheader baseball game.

Oh, spring . . . BELOW: "Jazz 70" was a great way to spend a night with our talented Jazz Band in a popular nightclub atmosphere.

"You're eating up all the profits," Steve Hayes informs Ricky Lore at the Club bake and garage sale held to raise money for jackets next year.
