Underclass

Enthusiasm and interest spark the junior class officers: Ed Miller, president; Dave Fisher, vice-president; Leslie Hamilton, secretary; and Susie Osborn, treasurer.

Junior Class

Mrs. Dorothy Potter Swindell and Mr. William Bridgeland, class advisers.

From the day school resumed in September to the very last moments in May, the junior class planned and enthusiastically executed the many projects which they undertook. Leading the class in these activities were class officers Ed Miller, president; Dave Fisher, vice-president; Leslie Hamilton, secretary; and Susie Osborn, treasurer. Advisers for the junior class were Mrs. Dorothy Swindell and Mr. William Bridgeland.

Always ready for fun, the juniors helped spark the varsity team on to victory, held a chili supper as a money raising project for the prom, and participated with great enthusiasm in various plays and musical productions.

This enthusiastic class had a serious side also. Already the pressure of college was present, and they took the PSAT and other tests to prepare themselves for the long hours of college boards ahead of them. In late spring, many juniors swelled the ranks of the CHS honoraries and were inducted into Thespians, Quill and Scroll and National Honor Society. The climax of this wonderful year was the Junior Senior Prom, an unforgettable night for all who attended. The junior class now look forward with eagerness to their senior and last year of high school.

Although college is still two years away, Bill Unzicker, Barb Egbert, Jill Haines and Allan Lappin stroll over the U. of I. campus grounds to observe the many familiar and traditional buildings of their future alma mater.

These mischievous juniors did not let Halloween go by without pulling a prank on a poor befuddled senior, Pete Bates.
