

*It was the best of times;
it was the worst of times . . .*

Don't forget your hardhats!

At least the grass hasn't changed

*Rosemary 1988
-Volume 78*

*Urbana High School
1002 S. Race St.
Urbana, IL 61801*

Table of Contents

Enrollment — October 20, 1987	956
Editor-in-chief	Lisa Hochman
Adviser	Ray Elliott
Triumph	p. 20
The golden thread	50
Echoing footsteps.....	90

And so the story begins . . .

Jeff Moluf hates Mondays

"Who stole my lunch-box?"

Ben Cohen smiles so sweetly

Bodyguards in action

It wasn't as bad as we thought it would be. Sure, we were inconvenienced; half of Urbana High School was sealed off and under renovation. But we managed to survive. The crowded hallways simply enabled us to grow closer to one another. We will forever remember the sharing of lockers, the brightness of the tunnel, the pounding of the jackhammers, and the laughter kept throughout the construction. These are memories which made the school year unique. It was the first year of Urbana High School's renovation. It was the best of times; it was the worst of times.

The future gym stands unfinished

M. Govert forgets his fruits and veggies

Tran eating . . . something

Jason Atwood enjoys being photographed

Conrad the chemist explains the water molecule

Leon draws a masterpiece

K. Webber and L. Cowger show no more braces

It was the age of the Tiger

Isn't it a pretty schoolyard?

We were living in the age of the tiger. We proudly roared at the best of times and boldly accepted the worst of times. With the renovation rapidly progressing, Urbana High School sometimes seemed like a zoo. Each and every one of us were tigers in that zoo. We were the main attractions in the age of the tiger.

It was the epoch of belief

E. Mosely and C. Daniel hang out in the hall

Times were joyful; times were sorrowful. Our most typical times included staying up all night and getting the homework done, sharing homework with friends, running into class right before the tardy bell rings, and forgetting while waiting for the last bell of the day to ring. We knew that we could get things done; we knew that every approaching day would lead us to bigger and better things. And so the days rolled on and we had our fun. We believed in our school; we believed in the tiger. This year carried high hopes for all of us. It was the epoch of belief.

C. Kouzmanoff walks to class

Sophomores d

P.J. makes a point in class

J. Krauff is a happy student

Mr. Baldwin lights a student's way

Rick displays his locker signs

A. Zeders lounges around her locker

Is this where

Mr. Storch clow

March 16, 2011
 Motion adopted by the UC2B Policy Committee

znanoff walks to class

Sophomores demonstrate dance steps

Bouncers on the job

N. Dade resembles a jolly blue giant

S. Dunn eats in splays his locker signs

Is this where the tax money goes?

"Say cheese!" yells the photographer

ounges around her locker

Mr. Storch clowns around with students

Students get their daily junk food

T. Bowen's pride and joy

M. Draves, A. Zwettler, and C. Richardson make the three-headed senior

B. Ott hopes no film was in the camera

E. Schaller is eager to learn English

It was quite an experience

Week after week we viewed finished parts of the renovated school. Slowly but surely our school took on a new form. The building of new sections amazed our eyes as we peered through windows and watched the beams being set in place. It was a year of learning, a year of achieving and a year of growing. New aspects of life crossed our paths throughout the year. It was quite an experience.

R. Martin boards the McDonald's express

M. VonBodman asks, "Who said soccer's my only talent?"

L. Martin, T. Yasunaga and A. Rak show sophomore maturity

M. Azemun and S. Hall complete morning announcements

The torturous tunnel is rarely empty

Dr. Zeck is safe from falling debris

L. Brownlee doubts K. Lakner's performance

B. Johnson, A. Stirewalt and C. Tatman chat in the

It was a day of excitement

On October 9, the student body gathered on the bleachers to recognize members of various sports and to ready themselves for the exciting events which followed. These activities included the parade, tailgate, and homecoming game. Everyone cheered when Jeanne Bloome was named queen and Shad Barker was named king. The homecoming parade was also quite a success. There were many participants in floats and cars, and those who didn't ride eagerly viewed the event.

Tiger pride stands tall

Seniors celebrate their victory

Coach Oaks and Mr. Graham at the pep assembly

Homecoming king and queen line up for parade

Andy Elder and Tiger Jr.

The co

Cheerleaders smile in sun
rade

M. Crumney admires his

Victory

the pep assembly

Jr.

The court is driven by A. Dries

Cheerleaders smile in sunny parade

M. Crumney admires his tuba

E. Schaller and junior attendants

Sophomores stand by float before parade

The pep squad on the 50-yard line

S. Barker and J. Bloome at the coronation

C. Hall screams "We won!"

Here is the 1987 Homecoming Court

With all his might, he smashes the car

This group seems to enjoy the evening

J. Levenson and R. Katzenellenbogen give it their all

Sharon Manning

It was again a smashing success

The Second Annual a smashing success. Issues such as K-104 and respect for the tigers by year there were nominated from different organs. The Grand Prize Winner Honor Society with it tune." All in all, the many students and parents. The spirit and fight throughout the game, of fans and many groups. At the end of the year, the Ratsplitters 7 to band played and the tigers honored. Finally, the tigers conquered Ratsp

Many groups, including F.S.A., sell T-shirts

"Anybody wanna thumb-wrestle?" asks B. Yasunaga

Yeah, but can they tackle the real guys?

Everyone feels a warm welcome at Tailgreat-1987

L. Harrison congratulates

March 16 2011

Sharon Manning hugs the tiger mascot

Mr. Elliott hawks tiger posters atzenleibogen give it their ess

The Second Annual Tiger Tailgreet was a smashing success. Popular local businesses such as K-104 and Garcia's showed respect for the tigers by their presence. This year there were numerous school entries from different organizations and people. The Grand Prize Winner was the National Honor Society with their "Wheel of Fortune." All in all, the event was great and many students and parents took part in it.

The spirit and tiger pride carried on throughout the game. The stands were full of fans and many graduates from years past. At the end of the first half, Tigers lead the Ratsplitters 7 to 6. At this time the band played and the king and queen were honored. Finally, the game ended after Tigers conquered Ratsplitters, 24 to 6.

le?" asks B. Yasunaga

L. Harrison congratulates Queen J. Bloomer

Tiger fans display their symbolic paws

Tigerettes sell shakers at Tailgreet

at Tailgreet-1987

And so the days continue

The homework will get done

J. Kemp cheerfully answers the Senate phone

R. Kelley takes a break from work

S. Brierton is puzzled by a strange answer

L. Tompkins and G. Duderstadt happily pose for the camera

I. Medanic considers swiping a Pepsi

This is what we walk over each day

"Mussen wir Deutsch sprechen?" asks D. Karasick

L. Hochman and R. Knoll enjoy games at Illini Union

Spaceport is the home of some of our favorite video games

I. Medanic, G. Beard, and J. Kaufman love playing pool on Friday nights

Student life outside of school

It is 3:10 on a Friday. Although the day is not officially over, students gather their belongings and impatiently wait for that last bell to ring. The teacher tries to hold the attention of the class, but before the bell stops ringing, students are racing out the doors. Surprisingly, students do have a life outside of Urbana High School. Some activities include movies, campus strolling, relaxing, shopping, parties, eating, and much more. As the weekend closes, homework begins. And on Monday morning, student life starts its weekly routine.

Bowling is an enjoyable activity for A. Cook and G. Birt.

L. Mekiernan hits the arcade.

P. Bunch leans against the Alma Mater

Tacos are a favorite food of T. Grassman observes M. Azemun

The crowd enjoys the football game at U.H.S.

1

5

10

14

18

It wa

It was so long ago . . . guess who?!!

G. Beard and J. Kaufman love tennis on Friday nights

Mekernan hits the arcade.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18

19

20

21

Baby pictures - 17

Guess who?!!

22

23

24 & 25

26

27

28

29

30

31

32

33

34

35

36

37

38

39

41

42

43

44

45

46

47

48

49

50

Guess who?!!

These are the young faces of people just starting on a journey that began long ago. Now they turn their faces to a future of journeys, but not without reflecting on the sad times and the joyful times they experienced at Urbana High School.

Seniors

- 1... Stephanie Slade
- 2... Dave Karasick
- 3... Chris Miller
- 4... Missy Everette
- 5... Virginia Hall
- 6... Darcie Emmert
- 7... Lisa Clover
- 8... Lara Cowger
- 9... Melanie Draves
- 10... Joe Powell
- 11... Julie Aric
- 12... Lisa Hochman
- 13... Nechele Johnson
- 14... Tina Glass
- 15... Kelly Pohlig
- 16... Jennifer Bach
- 17... Cathy Subick
- 18... Krista Webber
- 19... Laura Poor
- 20... Michelle DuPree
- 21... Katie Maggs
- 22... Kenda Lawless
- 23... Julie Kemp
- 24... Stacey Carder
- 25... Stephen Carder
- 26... Lisa Laumann
- 27... Kevin Yonce
- 28... Hiwote Tamrat
- 29... Tessa Bowen
- 30... Christie Erickson
- 31... Anne Dries
- 32... Debby Mechtly
- 33... Lori Baldwin
- 34... Jeannie Bloome
- 35... Shawndela Washer
- 36... Carla Helmick
- 37... Mike VonBodman
- 38... Matt Crummey
- 39... Nancy Garrett
- 40... Ben Cohen
- 41... Nicolle Hofmann
- 42... Stephanie Deloney
- 43... Monica Burrus
- 44... Susan Poole
- 45... Brad Cortright
- 46... Tammy Paul
- 47... Frances Hoff
- 48... Kari McPeck
- 49... Robin Tepper
- 50... Danielle Peverly

A decorative border surrounds the central text, featuring a mix of floral patterns and sports-related icons. On the left side, there is a soccer ball, a tennis racket, and a tennis ball. At the top center, a tennis racket is depicted. On the right side, a tennis racket and a tennis shoe are visible. At the bottom center, a tennis ball is shown. The floral elements include various leaves, vines, and small flowers, creating a lush, ornate frame.

T

riumph