

Bad Times

in a journey of no return; for that to the yearbook, and of our first (thpaste) at our destination, the t were we getting ourselves into h the little escapade that we took, ok. In fact, it was rather frighten- responsible for creating the 1989- ns like "copy" and "pics" meant rance was soon shattered by the ndure (should I send the card, or not?) because of my whimsical nature. Lastly, I would like to wish the class of 1990 the best of luck!

seemed as if we traveled to hell and back, we did have some fun on the way, since we somehow always managed to make time for a quick game of darts, or a quick round of "Let's Hit Liz." Nevertheless, we believe that aside from all the exertiating hours and horsing around, we surprisingly were able to create a stupendous yearbook, that will hopefully be cherished by the students of U.H.S., for now, and for the many years to come.

However, we could not have accomplished this great task, without the help of our patient advisor, Mrs. Cox, and without the help of our hardworking yearbook staff (at least the ones who had storn up). In addition, believe it or not, I would like to express my gratitude to my fellow co-editors, Adam and Dan, for having the strength to put up with my "forgetfulness," and who I guess, are one of the elite few (along with Stefan Edberg and Kevin Costner), who do not apply to my "Male Theory." As for my friends, especially to Sarah and Ian, I thank you for tolerating my brief moments of insanity, and the embarrassing times that you had to endure (should I send the card, or not?) because of my whimsical nature. Lastly, I would like to wish the class of 1990 the best of luck!

"Karpadaum — Seize the Day!"

My Side of the Railroad Tracks

As I reflect upon the beginning of the school year, I recall my idea that this yearbook would be a simple task of writing copy, cropping pictures, and an abundance of other trivial chores. The nights of October 18th and 19th drastically changed those absurd thoughts; after 2 nights of working on 6 hours sleep our first 16 pages were complete. Many more sleepless nights have occurred over the course of the year along with the anxiety of waiting for pictures from ROOT, playing Nerf Hoop in the yearbook office, carrying a library of books to the attendance office that were somehow left behind in the yearbook office, and all of the other memorable experiences I had while working on this book.

Through this opportunity, I now understand the true value of this book. Yes, this is a book with many pictures, captions, and copy, but this book does something we can always cherish for it represents a portion of our lives that will never be forgotten. Our high school years are the building blocks of our individual character, and they have provided us with some memorable experiences that will be a strong foundation for our future.

I would like to take this time to thank Mrs. Cox for giving me the opportunity to be an editor, and her willingness (most of the time) to do what we, the editors, wanted no matter what the cost. Mrs. Cox, I'm sorry that you lost your home and youngest child because of our overspending, but isn't this a great book? Thanks to A.W. for his needed leadership to pull this yearbook off, and his uncanny ability to "pass the buck" onto someone else. Thanks also to Liz for making those late nights much easier by being my punching bag, and thanks for the wonderful birthday cakes. By the way Liz, I hope that you will some day bring everything to school that you have left at home over the year because my mom is missing a couple of things. Lastly, thanks to the whole yearbook staff (even Gary and Alan) for putting up with us editors and for all your hard work. Enjoy your reading.

"It's your show . . ."

EXPECTATIONS

— Faculty —

"If I had a child who wanted to be a teacher, I would bid him God's speed as if he were going to a war. For indeed the war against prejudice, greed, and ignorance is eternal." - James Hilton

This year's faculty members taught their students several new lessons through example and experience. They taught their students more than just reading, writing, and arithmetic; they taught them the correct way to do a cheer during a pep assembly and even demonstrated how to do a show on WUHS.

The teachers at UHS are as unique as their students. Good natured and humorous are some, strict and demanding are others, but all work with one grand expectation in mind. That expectation being to teach the students at UHS how to get everything out of life that they always wanted.

New Additions

With the completion of the renovation we have added many new students to the student body, but the freshmen are not the only new faces around Urbana High School. With more students than ever, we needed a few extra faculty and staff members to lend a helping hand. Several teachers from the Junior High School, and other teachers from all over Illinois moved over to the High School. Almost 30 new teachers joined the staff, all of which added to the uniqueness of the school in their own way. Such teachers were Mrs. Helm, Mrs. Musser, Mrs. Hamner, Mr. Evestone, Mr. Myers, and

Ms. Greenhalgh packed up their belongings and moved in to make this their new home.

As we welcomed the new faces, we also had to say good-bye to a few of the old ones. We will sorely miss teachers such as Mrs. Conrad and Coach Oaks because of the stability they provided to the students and school in general.

It took a while for all of the new teachers and even the old teachers to actually get accustomed to the heavily populated halls of UHS. Many teachers were overheard saying, "Remember when there was actually room for us to walk to our classes?" However, as the year progressed, teachers became more relaxed and less frustrated about the crowding situation.

I can't believe you've come so far in such a few short years — I love you so!

I salute your accomplishments and hope you have a wonderful year in college. Love, Mom. P.S. You haven't changed a bit!

Bobbi,

Your Junior year passed so quickly! As always, life with you has been hectic, interesting and fun. You and your friends, (Zoey, Jackie, and even the Butt Bandit) never allow for a dull moment around the house. It's a joy to watch you grow into fine young adults. I love you, Goob. You're the best.

God Bless You,
Mom

To R.A.K.,

Wishing you and your friends all the best now and in the future. We are very proud of you. Viel Gluck! Bonne Chance!
