Homecoming 1967

The armory resounded with the echoes of clanging hammers and excited voices. This was the night time of many students during Homecoming week. The floats were under construction. The seniors' trophy winning creation was entitled "Expecting a Victory." A large white stork was perched on goal posts with a tiger victory nestled in his diaper. The juniors' were urging us to "Stop 'Em In Their Tracks." An enormous tiger paw loomed in front of the Lincoln train. For their first year, the sophomores presented a fine effort. A guiltine foretold the fate of the Lincoln players with the sophomore hope to "Head 'Em Off." In the parade on Friday, we got to display our work and enthusiasm. Our Homecoming queen was revealed. Senior Judy Baker reigned with Shirley Crouse, a junior, and Nancy Eberhardt, a sophomore, as her court.

Our Tigers put forth a valiant show in the game Friday night, but lost by a mere point, 13-14.

To top off the week, everyone went to the moon.

ACTIVITIES

That’s for Rememberance”— Shakespeare*

“Enter the Young” was the theme selected by the Rosemary staff for the 1968 Rosemary. This year, instead of dedicating the yearbook to a teacher or other personality, the Rosemary staff decided to dedicate it to you, the students of Urbana High School. We feel you are worthy of a yearbook explicitly planned and detailed just for you. “So now that you are being honored, enjoy it!”

ECHO

Vol. 56 Special Edition to Rosemary

Echo Feels the Pulse of U.H.S. School Life

Echo had many firsts this year. They were president of ISHSPA, wrote more stories affecting students, sold subscriptions in the fall to increase circulation, and wrote interviews and reviews with people students were interested in. All these things helped to make the school paper more of a paper for the students. Feature stories covering the Student Forum, gave non-participants a view of the activities at the student meetings. Jenny McFarlane, our exchange student, also had column space to write about her native country, South Africa. Sports around Urbana High School were detailed with almost the same excitement that was experienced at the actual event.

All activities around Urbana High School were kept track of by the roving reporters seen slipping through halls and hiding in doorways, trying to get the "real" story on happenings. And Echo must be credited with their objective point of view in presenting articles of major importance to students. Editors of this year's Echo were Betsy Hanson, Conna Judy, and Don Kurtz. The editors also wrote for "Corridor Gossip" which appeared each week in the News-Gazette. With the many things Echo did, each project was successful in giving everyone who read either the Echo or "Corridor Gossip" a good view of the students at U.H.S. The Rosemary congratulates our counterparts across the hall.

Art Club Revolves Around World Full of Color

Art Club enriched the school with its varied talent this year. At Christmas time, the club sold bright clay jewelry which was spotted all around Urbana High School and was received by many in their Christmas stockings. The project was started in an effort to eliminate the payment of dues, and to finance field trips throughout the year. The effort was successful as exemplified by a particular Dean of Girls who was noticed carrying a large box full of . . . clinking clay jewelry? Anyway, Art Club was able to travel to the Chicago Art Museum, Old Town, and a Jewish synagogue where a famous masterpiece hung. Art Club hoped to travel again to Chicago to view other works they missed seeing.

There's Something New at Inter-High

The old Tri-High Council became the new Inter-High Council this year. Inter-High Council, which is now closely associated with Student Council, links together the four schools in an organization to promote better understanding and relationships between students of the four schools. Inter-High Council sponsors one exchange between the schools in the winter and they try to sponsor one in the spring. This year applicants for exchanges were asked to submit information about themselves to the Council. They then were interviewed by a Council member with questions every Urbana student should know. The Inter-High Dance was held in January with all four schools in attendance.

Bands Galore

Top bands, filled coke and candy machines, and room to dance, all combined together to make a successful year for Den Council. An executive board headed by Tom Moyer proved to be an efficient organization. Around Christmas time Den Council members were planning to redecorate the "Tigers Den," for the beginning of the new year. In the fall the "Tigers Den" was the scene of the Homecoming Dance, "Everybody's Gone To The Moon." The atmosphere was a little off the traditional

SK Promotes Sisterhood!

This year Social Klub continued its diplomatic relations with the girls at Urbana High School. A Big Little Sister Party began the year's activities of SK. Refreshments and entertainment spotlighted the annual party. This party is an effort by SK to get senior girls acquainted with underclassmen girls. A small fee entitled all girls the right to participate in SK activities. These activities include a hop after a football game, Christmas tree decorating and a breakfast for senior girls in the spring. The Christmas trees that were decorated were given to needy families in the Urbana area. So find a sister in SK!

Pep Club Peps Up U.H.S.

A hard-working group of girls helped build the atmosphere of both the team and the students during game time throughout the year. A Snoopy wonderland of characters graced lockers and halls and the aroma of home-baked cookies and cakes could be smelled everywhere. Pep Club also helped the cheerleaders sell humorous ribbons picturing the "Fightin' Tigers."

JETS Advance with Science

Junior Engineering Technological Society, commonly known as JETS, is Urbana High School's amateur rocketeer society. But they not only build and launch rockets, they view lasers, study Chryogenics and organic chemistry, and take field trips to various University of Illinois laboratories. Under the supervision of Mr. Smith, physics teacher, and Mr. Matzner, chemistry teacher, JETS are able to experiment in a highly complex field of science. This year JETS Club was led by Sherwin Gooch, Pres.; Uli Frauenfelder, Vice-Pres.; Dhru Saxena, Sec.; and John Ducey, Pub. Chr.

JETS CLUB OFFICERS: Uli Frauenfelder, Vice-Pres.; John Ducey, Pub. Chr.; Sherwin Gooch, Pres.; Dhru Saxena, Sec.

"Entrez les Jeunes"

Initiation for new French Club members was held in the early fall of 1967. Slides of France were shown and french food was served. Christmas brought French Club members out in the cold winter air to sing french carols, and after caroling a party was held at Mme. Stravinsky's house where French delicacies were served the carolers. A new item that was being planned, was the presentation of a play to be given sometime during the year. In the spring, the new officers were elected at a picnic.

"Inerunt Iuvenes"

Betsy Sutton, Aedile; Steve VanArsdell, Aedile.

The renowned Latin Club slave auction was held last fall. This is the event where Latin Club members auction off their new members for sums of money. The money raised from this project is used for various other activities throughout the year. With part of the money, the club was able to travel to Chicago, Old Town, to see the Latin play "Antigone." They also hoped to see another play in January. In preparation for Christmas, the Latin Club caroled at various homes. A Latin Club Banquet, where members dressed in costumes was held, and a picnic at the end of the year was also part of the club's activities.

SPANISH CLUB OFFICERS: Wanda Thomas, Pres.; Laurie Casagrande, Sec.; Debbie Garmin, Treas.; Ralph Hursey, V-Pres.

"Entre el Joven"

The Spanish Club had a spanish singer at their annual Christmas party this year. She was just part of the activities of their party, that also featured spicy spanish food and the traditional pinata filled with candy and gifts. Also the club formally initiated its new members at the party. Spanish Club charms for members was the newest addition to the various activities of Spanish Club. Finally a spring picnic for all the members rounded out the year for Spanish Club. This year's officers were Wanda Thomas, Pres.; Ralph Hursey, Vice-Pres.; Laurie Casagrande, Sec.; and Debbie Garmin, Treas.

An Industrious A.F.S. Works Toward Their Goal

Donut sales, shorts and slacks days, and stationery depicting Urbana High School, were a few of the money-making projects the American Field Service used this year to finance a foreign exchange student. Each year U.H.S. has had the opportunity to send a student to a foreign country and to host one in our community. This year our exchange student was Betsy Hanson. She lived with her "family" in Yokohama, Japan. At the beginning of the school year Betsy spoke to the student body about her summer experience. Also at the assembly we met Jennifer McFarlane, our exchange student from South Africa, who is living in Urbana for the school year. We must thank A.F.S. for the enriching experiences these students have brought.

Student Council Ends Year with Success

Student Council sixty strong, led the school in another year of outstanding accomplishments. Here are just a "few" of the many things Student Council sponsored: in the fall, a Howdy Hop featured the new students of Urbana High School, and welcome packets introduced Urbana High School to the new students. Class elections, Student Council elections, football clean-ups, a Champaign District Student Council Convention, the "Tigerectory" and the Student Lounge rounded out the Student Council's activities for the fall. Winter brought the Christmas Basket for a needy family, and the "Winter Fantasy" which featured "Miss Rosemary." Finally the "Vice-Versa Dance in the spring ended a highly successful year for Student Council. An all-girl executive board headed by Sue Campbell, Pres., conducted Student Council's meetings.

Orchesis Dances Through the News; Terripan Takes a Trip to the City.

"The National Observer" was this year's title of Orchesis Club's annual show. This production was given Friday and Saturday evening, March 29 and 30 in Cobb Memorial Auditorium. The theme of the show centered around the action found in a newspaper. Some of the highlights were the Salvation Army, hallucinogenic drugs, world situations, the weather report, lost and found and obituaries.

Besides the show, Orchesis members danced for various community activities in the area. In December, members performed for the USO and also for an elderly citizens club. Later two dances from the show were presented for the Symphony Ball at the Lincoln Square Mall.

Twenty members, including the new members chosen in the fall, made up the cast of Terripan Club's annual show. Their show entitled "The City," was held April 2,3,4 and 5. Murder, smog, garbage collectors, beggars, traffic jams and parades were some of the activities found in "The City" that Terripan depicted through synchronized swimming skills. The use of different types of music were an added attraction to this annual affair. Long practice sessions beginning months before resulted in a professional appearing swim show.

1968 Terripan officers were Ann Mussey, Pres; Kim Keller, Vice-Pres; Lesley Phillips, Sec; and Kay Kummerow, Treas.

Senior Council Cogitates About the Class Gift; Meanwhile, Drama Club Gives a Gift of Its Own.

A representative body of seniors worked hard to end their senior year successfully. This group was elected in the fall for the purpose of guiding the senior functions throughout the year. Some activities were the class gift, class picnic, class night, senior announcements and post-post prom.

Drama Club presented three plays during the year including both a fantasy and a mystery. Their fine acting ability not only delighted the Urbana High School audiences but impressed the judges at state contests. An increased membership and good directing resulted in professional plays.

Half-Time Highlighters

"Did you happen to notice a few new faces and figures in the band this year?" If you did, then you saw Urbana High School's new Pom-Pom Girls. They, with the Banner Girls and Majorettes, led the Urbana High School Marching Band at all the games and activities the band was involved in. White and orange were the colors the Pom-Pom Girls and Banner Girls wore.

Band Director, Mr. Jorgenson, thought the addition of Pom-Pom Girls, short skirts, and brilliant colors to the band, would be a bright attraction. "I'm sure quite a few male spectators in the stands will agree!" But they not only performed on home grounds, they traveled to the Newton Band Festival and various other band activities throughout the area.

"Hey there Georgy Girl!"

Marching Band Loaded with Talent

The Urbana High School Marching Band sparked half-time entertainment throughout the football season. New dance routines and the many formations added to the enjoyment of watching and listening to the band perform. Popular songs such as "Georgy Girl" and "Music To Watch Girls By" brought some new life into the traditional marching band music.

The U.H.S. Marching Band was one of the many bands that participated in the University of Illinois Band Day in October. They also were

Melodious Voices Echo Through the Halls

A Capella placed in the state music contest with an excellent rating. Madrigals went on to compete in the IHSA State Solo and Ensemble Contest in Pekin. The separate choirs also presented fall, winter and spring concerts throughout the year. Besides contests and school concerts, A Capella performed for service clubs and luncheons in the downtown area. At Christmas time, the combined choirs and band played and caroled at teachers' homes. Orchestra and Varsity Band also performed for the school in concerts and programs this year.

Concert Band Alive with Music

The Urbana High School Concert Band presented its musical ability in several concerts and exhibitions throughout the year. November 9, the band played at Lincoln Square for the American Education Week. The winter concert was presented in February with Prof. John O'Connor, guest conductor. In the spring the band traveled to Pekin for contest. Also in the spring the band was one of ten bands in the state invited to play at Illinois State Normal University. In May, Senior Recognition was held.

A New Club Is Established for the Business-Minded.

The Future Business Leaders of America was begun in an effort to widen the scope of those students interested in entering the business world. Speakers from around school and the Urbana business area were featured at the semi-monthly meetings. Sponsors of the club were Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. Leigh.

ICE Joins Hands with Employers.

ICE, the Industrial Cooperative Education Club, was a chartered member of the state organization DECA. Dues collected in the fall, enabled club members to attend state and area meetings during the year. Several banquets were also held throughout the year. One in January was given for the outstanding student of the club, and in June one was given to honor the employers.

D.E. and Marketing Students Learn from Employers

Distributive Education met twice a month to discuss business problems, listen to guest speakers and plan for activities throughout the year. The group was able to travel to Marshall, Illinois where a state conference was held. Several other excursions were planned for later in the year. The club had various banquets including one for the senior members and an employer-employee banquet. D.E. was also in charge of the display window on the third floor.

Marketing, a new club, toured business establishments in the city and also sent delegates to the convention at Marshall this year.

Class of '68 Produces Leaders for Tomorrow

Seven seniors were chosen to represent Urbana High School at Girl's State and Boy's State this year. They were selected on the basis of scholastic average, interest in governmental affairs and personal interviews. The Elk's Awards, DAR and SAR were awarded to those students who displayed good citizenship and leadership ability.

FTA Produces Teachers for Tomorrow; FHA Presents Future Homemakers.

At the FTA Initiation in October, Prof. Gilbert Haight spoke on teaching today. Later in the year, Betsy Hanson and Jenny McFarlane spoke on school systems in Japan and South Africa. In December, the club made "tray savers" for patients at Burnham City Hospital. The Senior Observation Program began in February and lasted for six weeks. Students were able to observe classes in the Urbana elementary schools.

Initiation of new members of F.H.A. was held in early February. Refreshments and a speaker from the U of I Home Ec Department, Mrs. Trebilcock, were featured. A series of events were geared for the family of the members as well as for the members themselves. Such events as: "Family Night," "Daddy Date Night," "Mother's Tea," and "Senior Breakfast" were enjoyable and educational for the members.

GAA Builds Healthier and Happier Girls!

Tennis, track, volleyball, tumbling, deck tennis, swimming, basketball and several other sports kept GAA members busy throughout the year. Each Tuesday and Thursday students came to better their skills, practice for competition and relieve the miseries of school life through the intramural activities.

Initiation was held in February for all girls interested in the club. A pot-luck supper was held for all members. Girls from the club attended Play Days at the U. of I. and at near-by towns.

Afro-American History Club Probes into Background.

On February 7, the Board of Directors of the newly established Afro-American History Club, held their first meeting. The club studied the Negro history, its culture, its contributions to society and its growth among other things. Also the club delved into the problems of the Negro, the reason for these problems and possible solutions to them. The club felt it was important that individuals know something about the Negro history and culture before they could properly understand the problems existing now. Speakers and movies were featured at several meetings. Discussion groups were organized to talk over various topics.

Skill Exemplified Both in Art and Safe Driving

A new organization was established this year with the purpose of making teenagers at Urbana High School aware of traffic safety. Linda Wingler was the chairman of the new twelve member Traffic Safety Committee. The committee presented an assembly in the fall which featured Mr. Cheeseburg, a former race car driver at the Indianapolis 500. He showed the students a movie and spoke to them about the importance of safe driving skills. During the two-week period before Christmas, the committee sponsored a campaign for safety over the holidays titled "Don't Make This Christmas Your Last." Members decorated halls with posters and displays on the topic. In the spring, the committee hoped to hold another assembly and help the police in sponsoring a lane-check for city residents.

Many art students at Urbana High won blue ribbons at the annual art showing at Robeson's. The artifacts ranged from needle work and photographs to pottery and paintings. Marilyn Ormsbee won the highest award at the showing, the Hallmark award, for excellence in her sketch. Her sketch will now proceed to the national Hallmark contest in New York.

Debate Team Talks Its Way to Victory!

For the first time in many years Urbana High School produced a first-rate debate team. Sponsored by Mrs. Griffiths the team placed third in the sectional debate contest. Two months of research work went into the preparation of the topic. The topic was; Resolved: That Congress establish uniform regulations controlling criminal investigation procedures.

Back Stage . . .

The Production Crew worked at creating new effects in lighting, props and make-up during the past year. Exciting effects produced by the crew, enlivened the various shows. The only qualifications for crew members was that they be interested in lighting techniques and the back stage technicalities that go into presenting a show. Thunderclouds, violins and lullabys resounded through productions, and the use of simple spotlighting added to the entire effect impressed on the audience. Props rather than flats also helped in creating authenticity in plays that shouldn't be overwhelmed by elaborate backdrops.

SPORTS

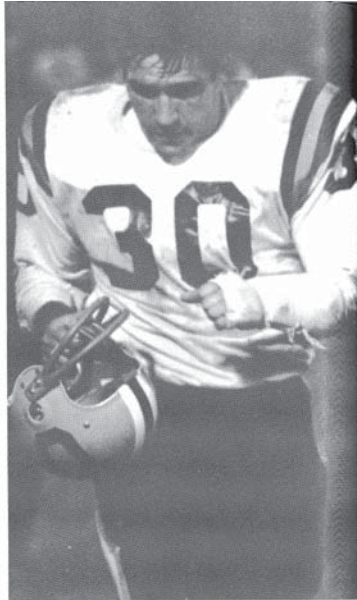

Tigers Finish in Triumph

For the better part of the 1967 season, the Urbana Tigers showed themselves to be a very exciting yet inconsistent football team. The gridders looked good in their season opener, defeating Rantoul 33-8. However, the following week Urbana fell to MacArthur. After Coach Warren Smith made several key changes, the Tigers responded with a 46-6 defeat at Danville.

The season continued its up and down ways until the Champaign game. It was in this game that Urbana finally reached its potential. Defensively, the Tigers gridders stopped Champaign's feared option play, and smothered the Maroon runners with gang tackling. Offensively Urbana opened gaping holes in the Champaign line and scored the clinching touchdown on an 89 yard sustained march which Coach Warren Smith said was, "The finest drive I've seen in my coaching career."

Another key factor in the Tiger success was the leadership of co-captains, Tom Dickinson and Dan Morris. Dickinson received the Pittman award for outstanding lineman and Morris received the Waldron award for outstanding defensive play. Overall, Coach Smith called this season a great team effort and described his team in one word, "Courage".
