Cross Country Team Wins Twin City, District; Goes to State

The beginning of the season had Coach Dike Stirrett mumbling to himself. It started out like a disaster. Bob Wolf, number one man, contracted mononucleosis and was at first thought out for the season. His brother Guy had a strained hip and was out for the first two weeks of the season.

Rick Rundus's knees bothered him so much after a race, he could hardly walk. Other men on the team had injuries ranging from pulled muscles and broken blisters to heat exhaustion. Somehow, the harriers braved it all throughout the season.

For the first time Coach Stirrett started two-a-day workouts. These practices lasted from the end of August till the first of September. The first daily session was at 6:30 in the morning while the second was after school in the hot, humid weather. The striders ran from eleven to fifteen miles per day in these workouts. All the hard work paid off as the Maroons improved their dual meet record of 1-1.

Junior Rick Rundus grabbed the top spot by winning five races, including the City Meet. He also finished second in several races, including the District and Conference Meets.

Hot on his heels came Senior Pat Carter in the second spot. Senior ring of the season had Coach mumbling to himself. It started later. Bob Wolf, number one runner, had mononucleosis and was out for the season. His brother rained hip and was out for the season. Coach's knees bothered him so much that he could hardly walk. In the team had injuries ranging from sore muscles and broken blisters to frostbite. Somehow, the harriers persevered throughout the season. At the time Coach Stirrett started his first cross-country workouts. These practices lasted from the end of August till the middle of September. The first daily session started at 6:30 in the morning while the other was after school in the hot, humid weather. The striders ran from eleven to fourteen miles per day in these workouts. All of this training paid off as the Maroons achieved an improved dual meet record of 9-4. Junior Rick Rundus grabbed the top spot by winning five races, including the Twin-City Meet. He also finished second in five races, including the District Meet and the Conference Meet. Hot on his heels came Captain Pat Carter in the second spot. Senior Bob Wolf set an example of courage and discipline by finishing fifth in the Twin City after a three-week bout with mononucleosis. The fourth and fifth man positions were shared by juniors Mike Trippiedi and Steve Revak. Rounding out the last three spots were junior Charlie Owens, sophomore Guy Wolf, and senior Bill Parkhill. The team won the Twin-City meet for the second straight year, and reported to the Conference Meet as underdogs. But they finished second in the meet, barely missing perennial champion, Mattoon. Two days later, Central won the District championship for the first time since 1961. A week later at the Sectional, the amazing Maroons placed second. This finish qualified Central for the first time since 1962. The harriers' inexperience finally caught up with them when they finished in twentieth place, out of twenty six teams. At the end of the season, Coach Stirrett lauded the team at the banquet. "With running," he said, "you can be happy with your performances but never satisfied. If you are satisfied, you might as well quit because there is nothing to prove to yourself. Although I've never been satisfied, this team has certainly made me the happiest in my four years of coaching."

A & B Volleyball Teams Finish 7-0 Seasons in Fourth Year

What sport at Central had the most success over the past two years? The seventeen members of the volleyball team were sure to come up with the right answer. They proudly pointed out that the A and B teams of Central volleyball had season records of 9-0 and 8-1 last year and records of 1-0 and 1-0 this year. These records reflect the steady progress of the volleyball program since its beginning four years ago.

Coach Susan Cattle attributed this success to the growing popularity of the sport which attracted between forty and fifty prospective players at tryouts. Only a talented minority made the team.

Despite a budget of less than one tenth the size of that given to the boys' sports program, volleyball, along with the other girls' sports, achieved great success.

"Aquajocks" Place 2nd in District, Earn 8-2 Mark

"Aquajocks"? (ak we jok') fast swimmer or swimmers, i.e. Champaign Central Swim Team. Syn.—Teamwork, stroking thousands of yards in water.

The 1973-1974 swim team, winning all but two dual meets, had its best over-all record since 1967. Central's two defeats came early in the season, losing to Springfield and Bloomington. But the yardage the Maroons put in paid off, enabling them to win the last six dual meets of the season.

Coach Jeff Trigger put some of the distance swimmers through practices which added up to over 250 total miles.

Highlighted by 3rd place finishes at the Centennial and Kankakee invitationals, the team went on to place 3rd in Conference and captured 2nd in the District meet.

Juniors Kirk Hartley and Kirk Wolfbarger won individual events at Conference, the 500 yard freestyle and the 100 yard breast stroke. Captain Dave Edmison, Sophomores Sandy Leach and Brad Thompson also made strong showings. Junior Steve Capes placed 2nd in the 100 yard butterfly in the Conference meet. Greg Tinkey, Chuck Davis and Jamie Marikos made up this years diving team, with Marikos finishing 4th in the Big 12 diving meet and 4th in District.

→ Sue Twohey and Patty Schwerdt help take times at a home swim meet at Spalding Pool.

↑ → Junior Jamie Marikos falls toward the water in near-perfect form, a result of 2 hours daily practice.

Girls Record First Season In Basketball With TV Report

"A late report says Champaign Central's basketball team won a four-overtime game with a last-second shot, 65-64. Bloomington failed to break Central's 4 game winning streak."

Does this sound like the state tournament? Actually it was televised coverage of the first extramural Girls' Basketball Team at Central. Becky Beach sank the winning shot during the toughest game of the season in front of an unexpectedly large and enthusiastic crowd in Combes Gym on February 13, 1974.

Coach Bette Theile was responsible for the team's selection and made a successful season with her A team. She was even satisfied with her winless B team.

The Girls' Basketball Team took its place with style in the girls' extramural sports program by adding an undefeated varsity season to the undefeated tennis and volleyball seasons.

"A wrestlers work is never done" could be a cliché for the Champaign Central wrestling team. From October to February, Monday through Friday, these young men went through sweating, grimacing, weightlifting, and work beyond belief.

Unfortunately for the team, severe setbacks such as academic troubles, knee injuries and sore ribs to top wrestlers hurt the crew badly and dropped 2nd year Head Coach Dick Allan's grapplers to a 1-16 dual meet record for the season.

Even though the dual meet record was much poorer than expected, Coach Allan like last year, got outside people involved with the team. Junior Cindy Gilles headed 14 members of the mat maids. These girls helped with scorekeeping and various other jobs as well as cheering on the team. The Parents Booster Club, its third year in existence, donated warm up robes to the wrestlers. These fans helped the team find a silver lining in an otherwise frustrating season for the Maroons.

Grapplers,

JV's Rebuild As Barbercheck Goes Unbeaten

One of the most difficult coaching jobs at Central belonged to 2nd year J.V. coach Mr. Joe Burdeau. For him, every year is a rebuilding year because most of the J.V.'s would move up to the Varsity each year. Add to this another rebuilding job where injuries to the varsity exhausted the thin J.V. corps even more and the best the junior grapplers could come up with was a 2-8 record for the '73-'74 season.

There weren't many bright spots on the team, but one exception was Paul Barbercheck who went undefeated. Another exception was the large turnout of sophomores, which should ease Coach Burdeau's rebuilding job for next season.

Probably one of the most updated clubs was Jazz Band. They competed in such meets as Decatur and Eastern. On Saturday February 2, the Jazz Band packed up their instruments, including a 6 piece drum set, and took a 200 mile trip to Oak Lawn, Illinois. When they returned to Champaign, they brought with them a superior rating, and a 3 foot trophy. Central's 1973-74 Jazz Band was the first class "A" school in the 15 year history of the Oak Lawn Festival, to take first place, receiving a superior rating, best of class rating, and Best Festival rating. Three Central students were selected to participate in the "All State Band". Mary Coggins for her flute playing, Kent Shirley, alto saxophone, and Jeff Miller, drums.

While the jazz band did its practicing, Ross Johnston practiced his Original Comedy routine, which took him approximately 10 hours to write. Although not the only event he entered, it was his favorite, and earned him a first at the Eastern Illinois tournament plus several second place awards. The skit that he performed was about a television producer who went crazy over the assinine commercials that sponsored his program.

Another competitive updated club was Debate. This year's debate topic was "Resolve: That the federal government should guarantee a minimum annual income to each family." Many debaters welcomed their tournaments for the intellectual exercise or a free trip away from home and their parents.

After a declining 1972-73 season record, this squad reestablished themselves as a state power with a season that collected five first place trophies.

Afro American Club was typical as a non-competitive updated club. Their enlarged slate of activities included a trip to the Black Expo in Chicago, a parent appreciation dinner held in the cafeteria with a program afterward, and a Black Awareness Week complete with seminars.

Another updated club would certainly be Student Council. This year's Student Council sponsored the annual Homecoming dance, and Valentine dance. They also sponsored an "anti-Litter" campaign. During this campaign, the Student Council managed to clean up enough garbage to fill one whole show case. To correct the problem of no black members, the council invited the Afro-American Club to appoint 2 of their own members.

The above mentioned clubs were only a sampling of updated clubs available to students of Central.

Jazz Band Features Music From Australia In Concerts

Music from Australia was featured in this year's Jazz Band. Howie Smith, a former Central student, wrote a piece exclusively for the Central Jazz Band named "Ritual."

The band performed this new piece at the many contests and concerts they entered. The more important contests included firsts at Oaklawn, Eastern Illinois University, and Millikin University Jazz Festivals. Concerts included a Northern Illinois University concert along with Bill Chase, and the annual final concert, this year called "Jazz '74."

Success of this year's band could have been caused by the accomplished director, Richard Dunscomb. With a Masters Degree in Music Education, he was voted President-elect of the Illinois Chapter of the National Association of Jazz Educators. The combining efforts of student and director made this year's Jazz Band a winner.

Quiche Lorraine and Candy Canes Help French Club

"Quiche Lorraine, Coq au Vin, Viche sois" and Cherries Jubilee were just a few of the dishes at the French Club's supper last fall when fifteen of the members and the sponsor, Mrs. Sandor got together and fixed a French dinner at a member's house.

In November the French Club went to see a troupe of French actors perform Moliere's "The Miser" at the Krannert Center.

Candy canes were sold before Christmas vacation and because of the extra three days, they were sold after vacation too.

The 95 dollars cleared was put into a fund, and the money will be used taking the French club to a French restaurant in Chicago sometime in the spring.

Debate Squad Accumulates Eight Trophies Over Season

Dozens of well dressed young men and women flooded the halls armed with bulging boxes and grim, determined attitudes. They gave their opponents the once over, sized them up, then made with small talk. Yes, these were the debaters, ready to argue a point to the death.

After having debated throughout Illinois and Missouri, the Champaign Central High Debate Squad had accumulated a collection of 8 trophies.

As one debater laughingly remarked "the season extends from the end of October to who knows when!"

The topic for this year, with which they had so much success was "Resolved: That the U.S. should adopt a guaranteed annual income for each family unit."

Carey Fletcher, Joe Bannon, Mary Kaczowski, Mark Everette and Mike Huber were just a few of the debaters who helped the year end on a successful note.

I.E. Hits Winning Streak Throughout Ill. and Mo.

This year I. E. made a fresh start, with a new coach and a full schedule. Everybody wondered how they could miss? . . . and they didn't with a beautiful record.

The new Individual Events coach, Mr. Sarnowski, shaped up the I. E. team and got them prepared for a full schedule of meets. In these meets they competed against some of the largest schools in Illinois and Missouri.

Even with their busy program, they managed to make themselves useful around Central by giving demonstrations for English classes.

Many of the members brought home awards or trophies to make the year a satisfying one. In fact the entire I.E. squad qualified for the regionals.

Drama Club Hosts 10 Nearby Schools in Drama Fest

When the Drama Club met, heads got together and ideas started to form. Ideas of new publicity began to take shape, along with ways of elevating the theatrical department and improving the facilities that the school offered. It also gave an opportunity for actors and actresses to get together and exchange self-improvement techniques. This year Central hosted a drama festival which included Central and ten surrounding schools. They got together, performed and were judged, though it was not considered a contest.

The Drama Club put on Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for the spring play. It had been quite a long while since a Drama club from Central had attempted any Shakespeare but this didn't seem to faze them much at all.

Ideas, talents, and experiences tossed around, shaped, and lived through made the Drama Club wiser if not wealthier.

The Afro-American Club began the year with a trip to Chicago for the Black Expo where the Jackson Five was one of the many highlights. Enthusiasm showed throughout the year as they hosted several activities including dances, bake sales, and an appreciation dinner for their parents.

The club, in keeping with the national theme "Helping America Understand", held three seminars during 4th & 5th hours, with guest speakers and a play written by one of Central's own students.

The year was finished off by the annual Black Ball in the spring which was attended by several local high schools.

The events were successful only because of the interest and effort of each club member throughout the year.

FSA and OO Make Money, Visit Office Buildings, Hear Interesting Speakers

→ Answering the phone is one of Ellen Dowling's jobs as a part time secretary here at Central.

→ FSA members, like Terese Schachtli, have taken or are now in Shorthand.

↓ Many FSA members, like Roxanna Richardson and Vanetta Miller, take secretarial courses to improve their typing skills.

As few people know, the training of a secretary took a lot of time and concentration. Two clubs covered this training, Future Secretaries of America and Office Occupations. OO was part of CCE where future secretaries worked in offices half day, and went to school the other half. Most girls enrolled in OO were also in FSA.

FSA was part of the National Secretaries Association. Each month they had a meeting with a speaker, speaking on different secretarial fields.

Various field trips added to the excitement of being a Future Secretary. OO visited Carsons office building, and traveled to St. Louis to visit the Ralston Purina offices. FSA planned a trip to either Chicago or Indianapolis in the spring.

All through the year FSA and OO members sold candles, candy and had bake sales adding to their growing bank accounts, and interests.
