

During one of her Home Economics classes, Mrs. Walker, modeling a dress she made during sewing class, shows Linda Gaines how to lay out and fit a pattern on a fabric.

Charlotte Pearson and Velena Miller place rolls on a cookie sheet during a foods class.

While working at the nursery school, Penny Birt helps a little girl throw bean bags.

Industrial Arts students learn by experience

The Industrial Arts Department worked hard this year to find the different needs of every student. Through their various programs they sought new knowledge for future use and service. By their fundamental teachings of Auto Mechanics, Building Trades, Metal Processing, Printing, Woodworking, and Electricity the boys had new insights on our mechanical environment. Well-equipped classrooms made for a better working atmosphere.

Woodworking student, Pat Wall, joins wood to complete a project with necessary protection from his safety goggles.

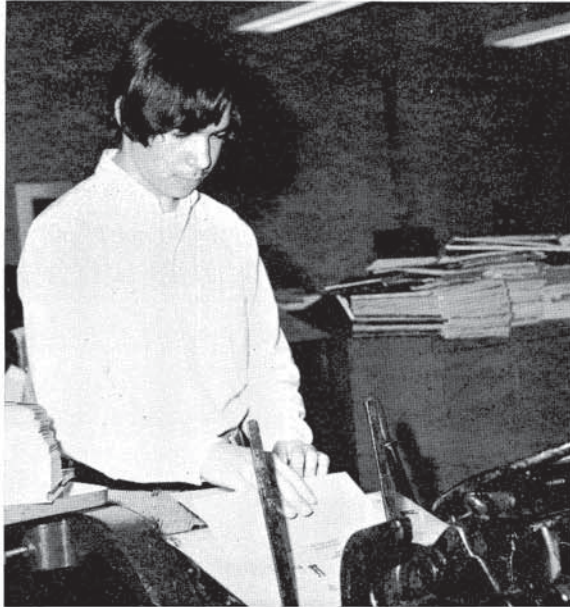

Bob Coad shows John Warmbier the interesting process of welding metal.

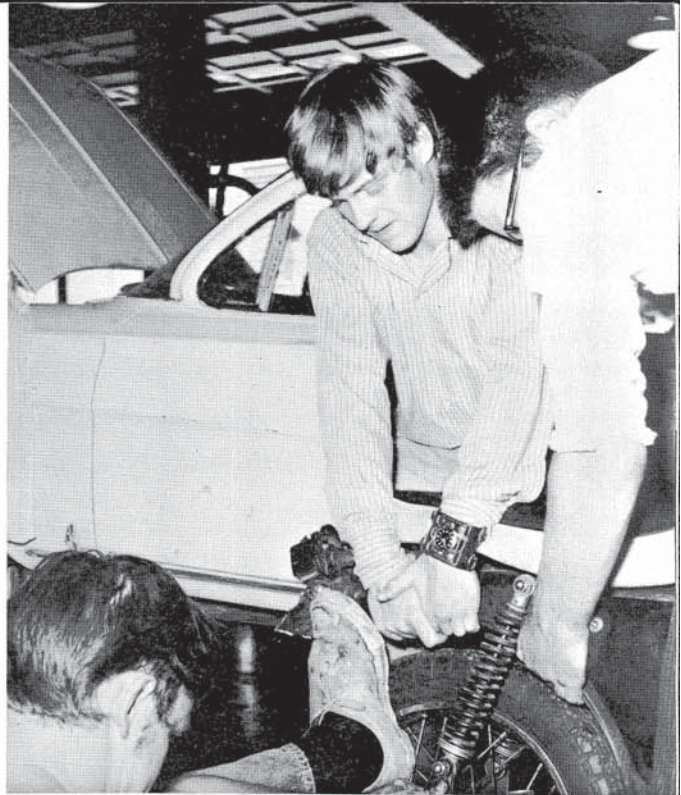

The world of photography is being opened Rick Sisk and John Hanes with the help Central's enlarger and a good imagination.

The printing machine proves to be useful to many students including Toby Walters.

Helping Pat Noonan and Bill Bruss on a motorcycle job is Mike Smith.

Building Trades students work on the project house one fall morning under the watchful eye of Mr. Robert Pittman.

Bowling abilities improve student math skills

Can bowling really improve math skills? This was the question going around teachers and students at Central. Mrs. Gretchen Norton and Mr. Richard Garcia felt the answer was yes. On December 4 they put this philosophy to a test when they took their first and second hour general math classes to Arrowhead Lanes. Where did the math come in? Averaging scores.

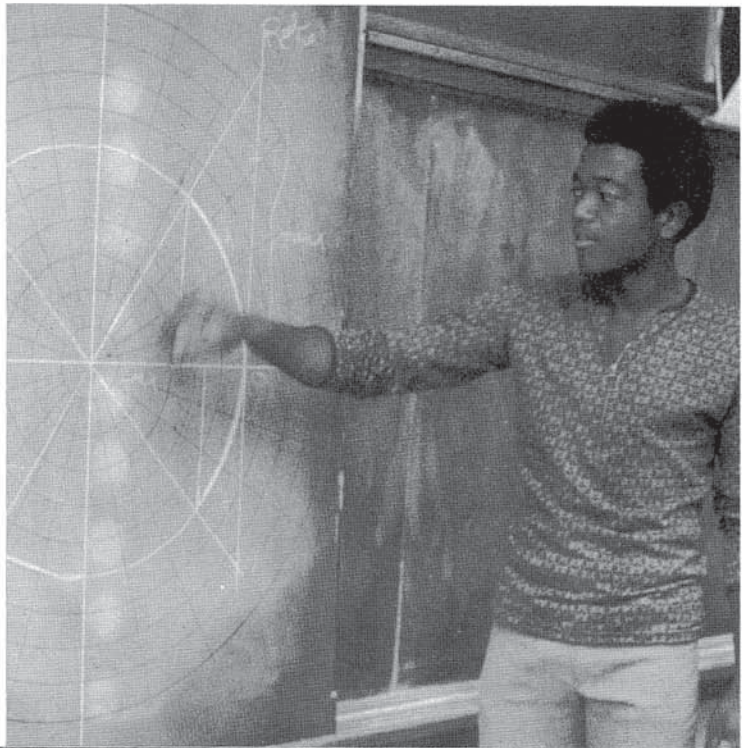

Students in Mrs. Norton's classes worked on another interesting project. The girls scaled model homes, while the boys worked on model motorcycles. Merchandise catalogs were used in finding furnishings and mechanical parts for each plan. Figuring costs, loans, and dimensions were factors promoting completion of each endeavor.

Besides the traditional learning of the Pythagorean Theorem,  $\pi=3.14$ , and the quadratic equation, Central teachers found creative and entertaining methods of teaching students.

Manager of Arrowhead Bowling Lanes, Paul Santos, explains the fundamental mechanics behind the pinsetter machine to sophomore R. Thomas during a class field trip.

Clarence Hudson finds he has this trig problem well under control as he explains it on the polar graph to other class members.

Central choirs record The Christmas Album

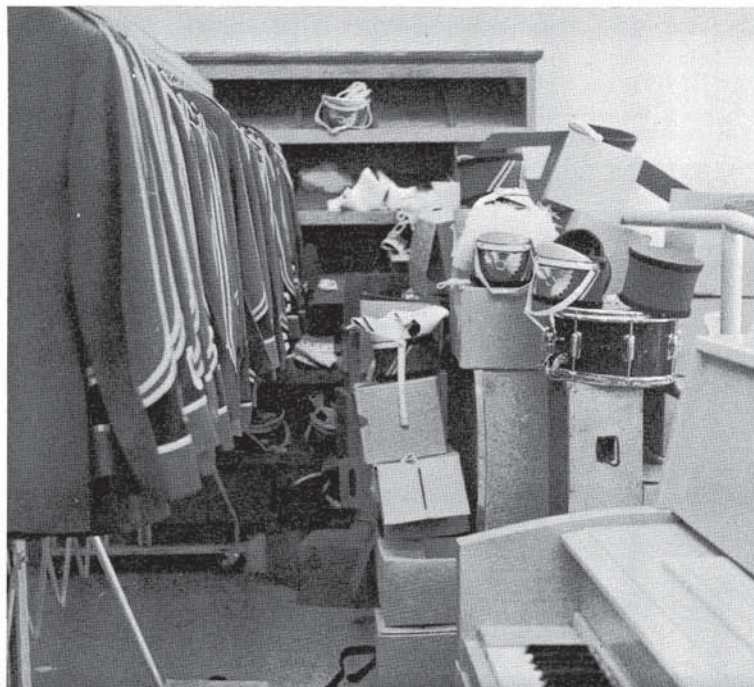

Central's Music Department has been juggling with all types of activities this year. Under the direction of Mr. Don Jecker, the choirs for the first time in Central's history recorded a Christmas music album. The album went on sale to the general public after Thanksgiving. The A Capella Choir presented the Christmas Operetta Amahl and The Night Visitors in three performances. The Madrigals divided into two separate choirs, the junior and senior Madrigals. These two choirs sang together as well as alone.

Central students agreed that the practice of the band paid off well as they performed in football, basketball half-times, school assemblies, and concerts during the year. Band members found high rewards from attending music concerts.

The traditional selling of turtles and fruit cakes added to this year's excitement for music students.

Trumpeter Don Atkins finds the only quiet place to practice is behind closed doors.

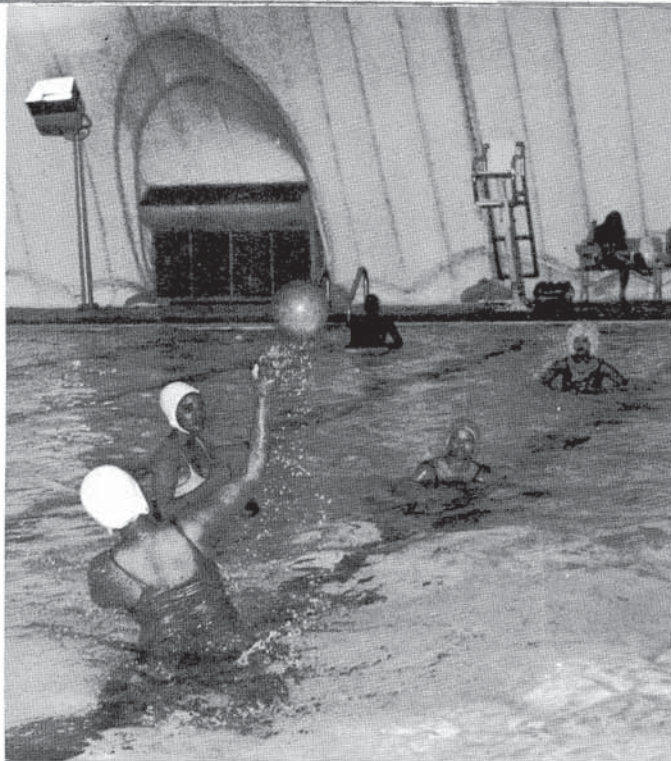

Disorganization appears inevitable in Room 122, with the distribution of the band uniforms as the school year begins.

Girls Chorus, along with the other choirs, spends dedicated hours practicing for the re-recording of The Christmas Album at the University Place Christian Church.

These second hour students find co-ed swimming class enjoyable at Spalding Pool.

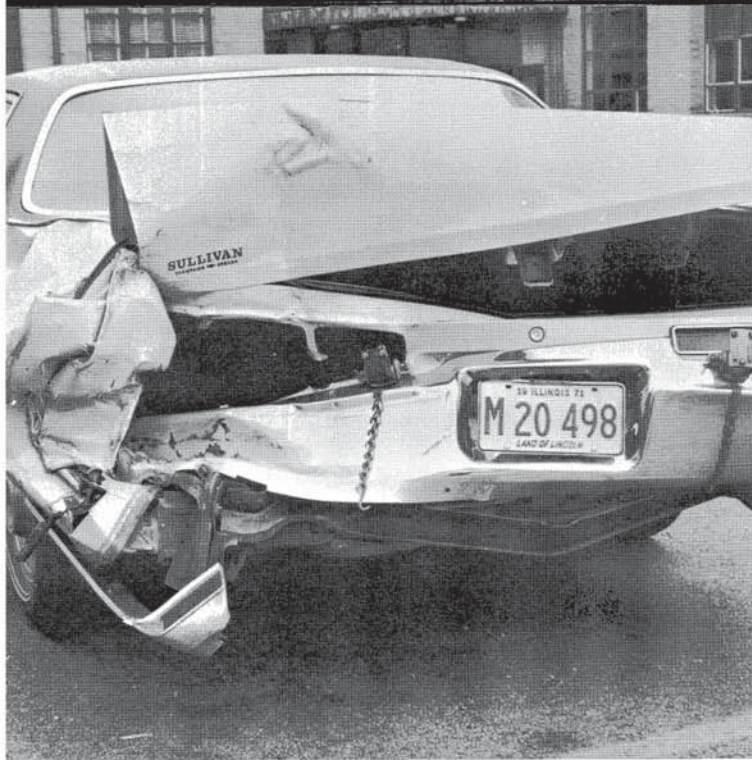

Flag Football brings exercise and excitement to these young men in West Side Park.

Brenda Goode finds that volleyball skill tes make for a better game.

The damaged Drivers Ed car sits in its parking space after being hit by a semi-trailer.

P. E. adds co-ed health and swimming

Many factors made this one of the best years for Central's P. E. Department, an important part of our school.

Day after day activities included a variety of sports like volleyball, basketball, swimming, gymnastics, and softball. Some of the new features for Girl's P. E. this year were coed swimming, girl's tennis team, powder-puff football, and dance. The daily routine in the P. E. department helped to make each day a different and exciting one.

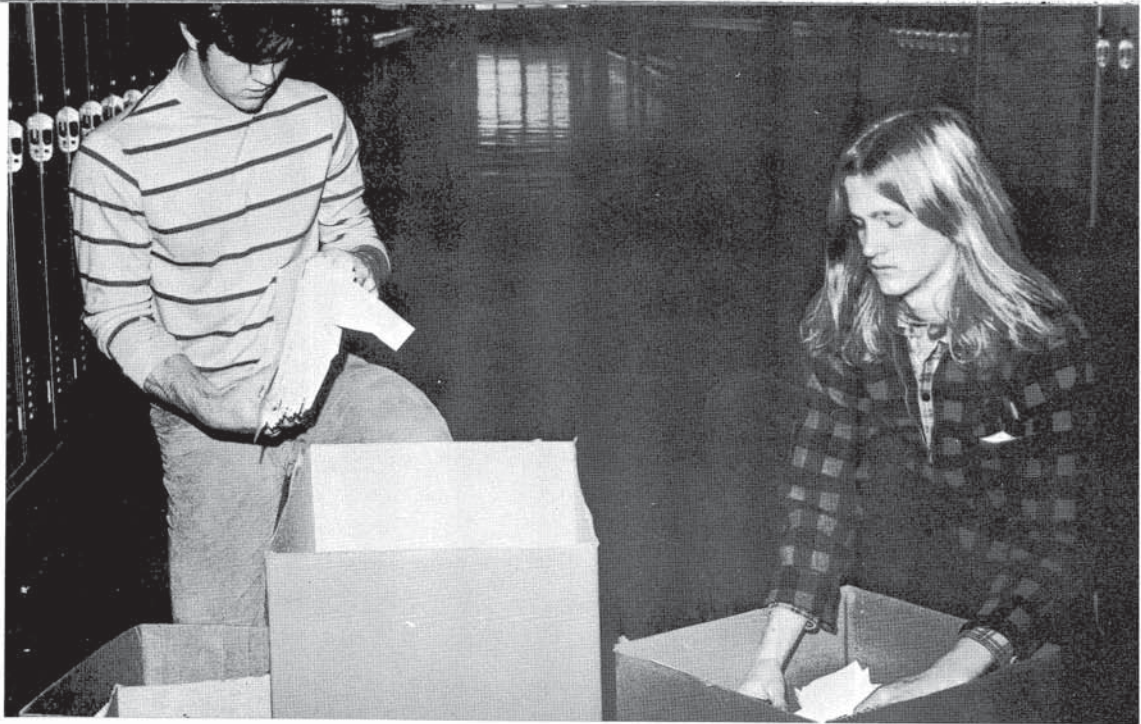

"On Guard" screams Paula Kessler as she approaches her next victim.

Miss Cattle explains the complicated rules of speedaway to her fourth hour class.

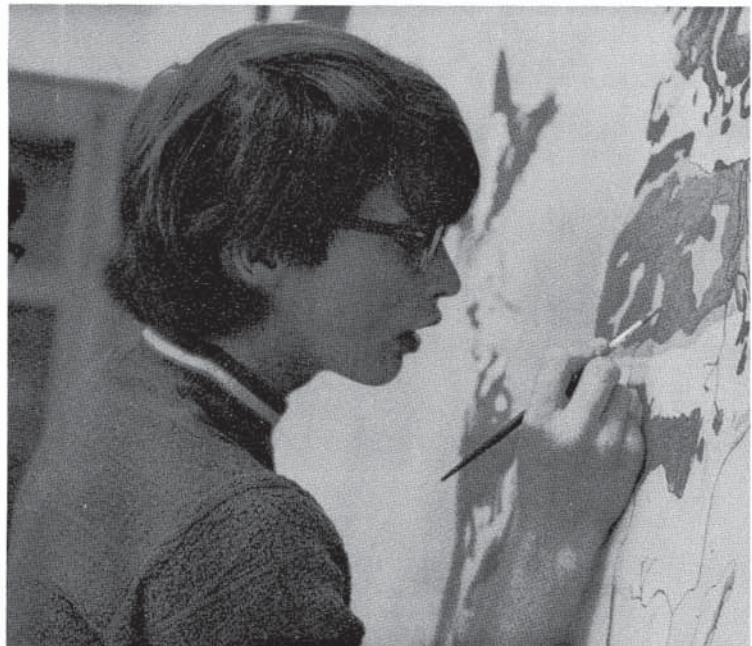

Bill Pierce and John Wolfe help to sort paper deposited in the recycle boxes placed around the school as they prepare to take it to the recycling center in Urbana.

Science classes help to eliminate pollution

The five environmental science classes under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Winters and Mr. Allen Smith constructed two 4' x 6' world maps during the first five weeks of school.

For the first time, the science department installed an aquarium. A second aquarium was loaned to the department by junior Jean Schooley. Science students thus had a first hand opportunity to observe a miniature living environment. Gold fish, snails, and plants occupied the aquariums, which students enjoyed watching and caring for.

Another project undertaken by the environmental science classes for the first time was the collecting of waste paper from teachers' rooms and taking it to the recycling center. Large boxes for white and colored paper were placed in each classroom. When a substantial amount of paper had been collected, it was delivered to the recycling center. The project was undertaken by the environmental science classes as their contribution to the anti-pollution fight.

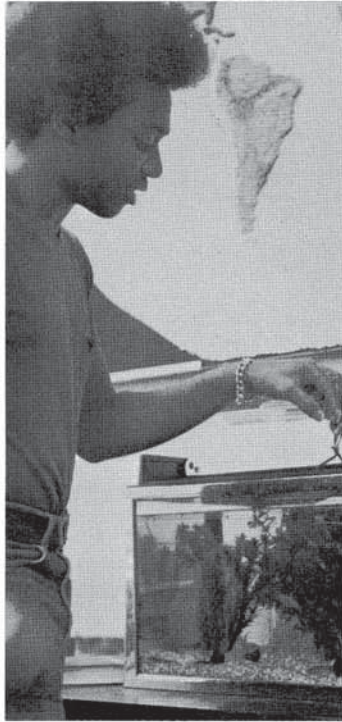

Accuracy and precision are talents demanded of Mike Broadrick as he works on a world map of vegetation and ocean currents designed by the environmental science classes.

Jeanne Brown looks reluctant as she cautiously measures ten milliliters of a substance.

Otis Chambers examines the physical characteristics of a snail from one of the aquariums exhibited in the science department.

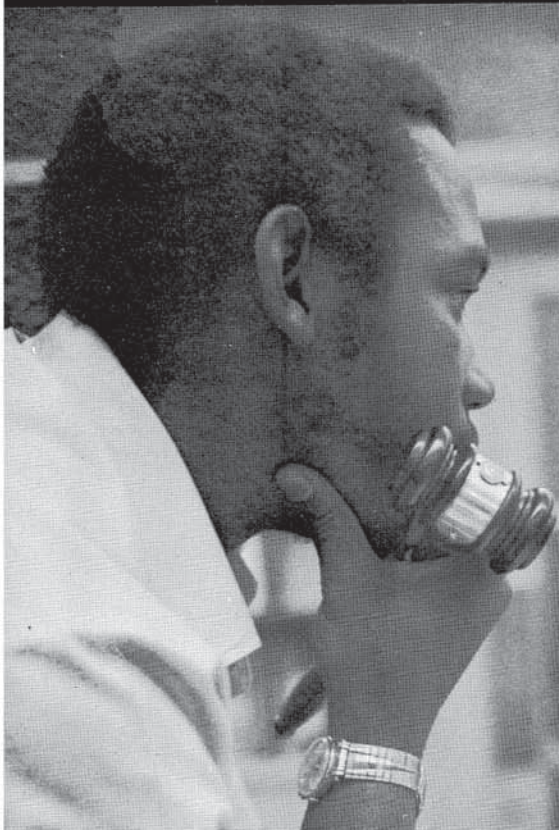

Gerlean Lindsey appears apprehensive while inspecting a hornet's nest.

Inexperienced staff produces successful Maroon

Maroon took on a new face in its design and layout style as a new advisor and a new staff made many changes.

Room 312 took on a whole new appearance with the clutter of yearbook paraphernalia, night-time and weekend appearances of staff members, and posters shouting instructions.

Many of these changes came from the editor, Nancy Walker, after she attended workshops at Ohio and Indiana Universities. Six other staff members attended workshop at Ohio University. Photographer, Becky North, attended a workshop at Ball State. All the staff members worked hard to produce an attractive and unique yearbook.

During fourth hour Maroon class Diane Manire, Susie Shulman and Mrs. McEwen discuss the junior underclass section.

A first step in preparing a page is making sure the picture fits in the slot. Sue Bohor demonstrates cropping and for the results turn to the Homecoming spread on page 19.

Editor, Nancy Walker helps T picture for open lunch pages.

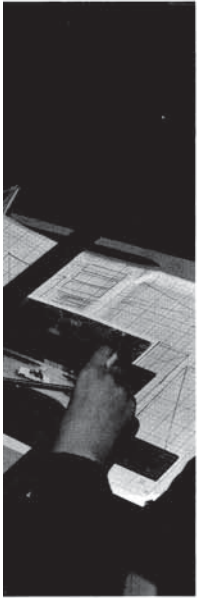

Front Row: Mrs. McEwen, spr Mattox, Mike Woodhead, Ter nette Brys, Janet Barenburg, Ar Nancy Walker, editor-in-chief; . Second Row: Nancy Paterson,

baroon

ind for the results turn to the ad on page 19.

Editor, Nancy Walker helps Terry Folts crop picture for open lunch pages.

Typing club copy, Anne Blackmon sits on a wastebasket when chairs prove scarce.

Front Row: Mrs. McEwen, sponsor; Cynthia Mattox, Mike Woodhead, Terry Folts, Annette Brya, Janet Barenburg, Anne Blackmon, Nancy Walker, editor-in-chief; Jeanne Brown.
Second Row: Nancy Paterson, Doug Gelvin, Randy Zehr, Sheila McElwee, Cathy Hallbick, Jo Tinkey, Debbie Parsons. Third Row: Becky Plotner, Sue Haley, Susie Shulman, Anna Schroeder. Fourth Row: Sheree Springer, Tim Leonberger, Terry Donovan, Becky North, Mary Frasca, Francie Lessaris, Sue Bohor. Back Row: Jerry Webber, Sherrill Johnson, Brenda Anderson, Diane Manire, Pam Emkes.

Journalism awards show Chronicle staff talents

Story assignments covered the many and varied aspects of school life, making the paper interesting and informative for its readers. Each experienced staff member relearned the fundamentals of putting the paper together in the Chronicle tradition.

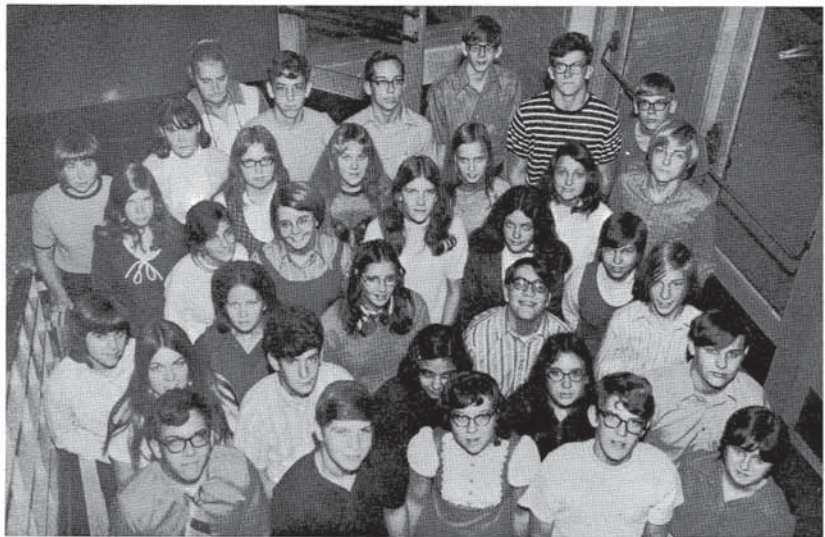

Mrs. Evelyn Kovar received the Gold Key as the outstanding journalism advisor in the state of Illinois for 1971 and was elected vice-president of the Illinois Association of Journalism Directors.

Steve Kircher, twice winner of the Champaign-Urbana Courier staffer of the year award also claimed the Indiana University Journalism award.

Throughout the year the Chronicle staff successfully published an interesting and well organized paper.

Taking pictures is easy for Mrs. Kovar with Sports Editor, Frank DeAtley assisting her.

Front Row: Frank DeAtley, Sports Editor; Steve Kircher, Editor-in-chief; Marilyn Clapp, Feature Editor; Jeff Peterson, Make-up Editor; Julie McGuire. Second Row: Rhonda Dawdy, David Greenberg, Francie Lessaris, Business Manager; Jeanne Gardner, Copy Editor; Rick Craig, Exchange and Circulation Editor. Third Row: Katrinka Steen, Sally Boswell, Rosie Goddard, Bill Graham, Charley

Cogan. Fourth Row: Cindy Mueller, Bart Young, Penny Weaver, Mary Frasca, Catherine Duff. Fifth Row: Nancy McWethy, Ronde Wilson, Vickie Osterhoff, Diane Worner, News Editor; Cathy Simonton, Don Plue. Back Row: Marg Hickman, Jennifer Jones, Mrs. Kovar, Jim Palma, Chuck Huber, Mark Heimbarger, Lou Due, Bob Britton.

Typing is an essential duty, which Marilyn Clapp uses a great deal as Feature Editor.

Photographer, David Warren can often be found in the dark room attending the dryer.

Steve Kircher generously adds to the box of work awaiting Lay-out Editor, Jeff Peterson.

Quill and Scroll serves school publications

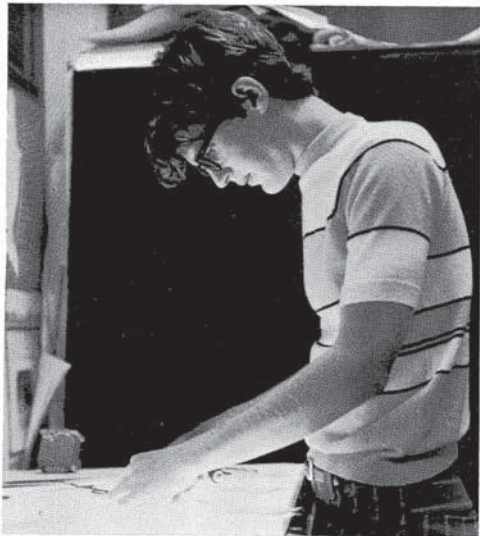

Although it was our smallest club, Quill and Scroll was a giant among our special activities at school. The club had only four members, but each one was directly responsible in the production of school news and the Maroon.

This year's president, Jeff Peterson, was the lay-out editor of the Champaign Chronicle. Steve Kircher who held office of vice-president, was the editor-in-chief of the Chronicle and president of the student body. The secretary, Nancy Walker, was editor-in-chief of the '72 Maroon. The final member, Frank DeAtley, the treasurer, was the sports editor of the Chronicle.

Quill and Scroll, sponsored by Mrs. Kovar, was an honorary club open to juniors and seniors with outstanding ability in their respective publications.

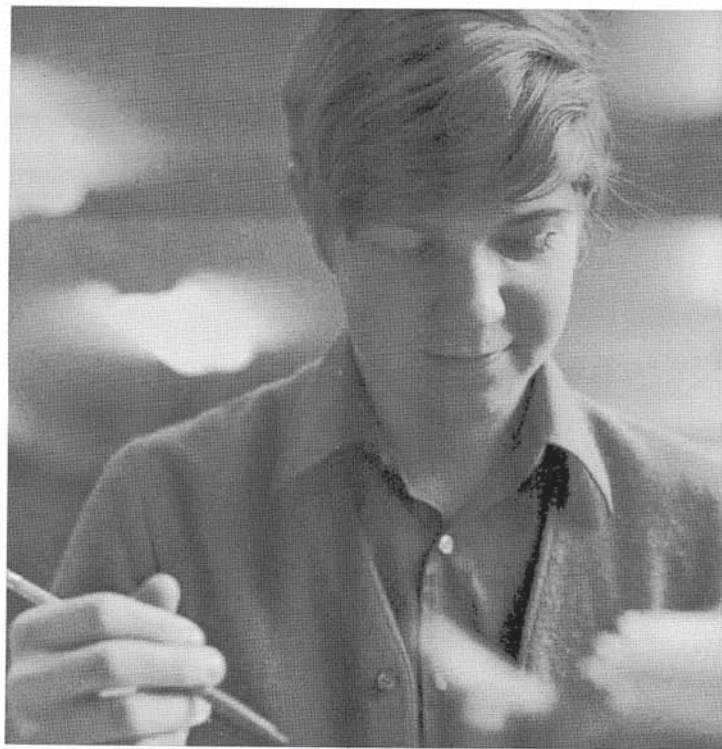

Each of these club members deserved the honor of being on Quill and Scroll.

Jeff Peterson pastes articles to assemble the Chronicle over the light table.

Bottom Row: Steve Kircher, v-pres.; Nancy Walker, sec.; Mrs. Evelyn Kovar. Top Row: Jeff Peterson, pres.; Frank DeAtley, treas.

Steve Kircher, editor of the Chronicle, pr reads copy before it goes to the printer.

Baton Clubbers sell turtles again this year

Again this year Baton Club, sponsored by Mr. Richard Dunscomb, was among those clubs selling chocolate turtles throughout the school.

The money earned was used to send Central's Jazz Band on tour.

Baton met during the sixth hour activity period. Each Baton member was a member of the bands or a choir.

Laurie Lippold and Barb Nelson exchange a box of turtles during Baton Club meeting.

Front Row: Debbie Matthews, Toni Tabaka, Lauri Lippold, Adele Shoemaker, Susie Schroeder, Henry Spohrer. Second Row: Dan Talbott, Joyce Council, Cathy Travelstead, Becky Jones, Ruth Coggins, Linda Fredrecksion. Third Row: Cathy Murphy, Curt

Alderson, Wendy Allen, Margo Ray, Bob Cook. Fourth Row: Mr. Dunscomb, Pete DePauw, Glenn Tanner, LuAnne Lippold, Steve Hadley, Tom Stewart. Back Row: John Blackwell, Rex Richardson, Danny Phillips, Neal Heagle, Larry Hill.

Concert Band displays musical ability on tour

Getting an early start on September 8, 1971, the Central High School band appeared like a mirage on McKinley Field. Under the leadership of Mr. Richard Dunscomb and drum major, Pete DePauw, the Maroons performed for football games.

They performed at a Marching Band concert in November, a Christmas concert, and a Spring concert as well as participating in the Big 12 Band Festival which was held in January at Danville. The highlight of the year was the annual music tour held in March.

At football halftime the band puts on a show, under the lights of Unit 4 field.

Concert Band: Front Row: Ruth Coggins, Linda Fredrickson, Yuki Hermann, Becky Brown, Chuck Stewart, Phil Schneider, Phil Krolick, Cheryl Haney, Becky Jones, Sylvia Cartwright, Mimi Broadsky, Luanne Lippold. Second Row: Steve Skaperdas, Phyllis Ketchum, Nanette Baldus, JoAnne Gentille, Becky Roper, David Hartsfield, Mark Edwards, Henry Spohrer, Ed Folts, Joyce Council, Dianne McDonald, Anne Worner, Wendy Allen, Ann Kaczowski, Paul Kimpton, Jan Tuck, Amy Webb. Third Row: John Bargh, Linda Lewis, Diann Malloch, Jan Johnson, Mike Gardner, Terry Folts, Karen Street, Bruce Failor, Loy Day, Joe Lateer, Tim Tucker, Richard Schneider, Nancy McWethy, George Currington, Chester Riggen, Roland

Phillips, Steve Palmer, Neal Haegele, Pete DePauw, Dave VanDenBerg, Don Atkins, Larry Hinton, Laurie Lippold, Kris Ensrud, Page Johnson, Jo Nichols. Fourth Row: Mike Street, Bill Amacher, Jim Wilson, Scott Brian, Danny Sides, Kent Shirley, Jim Gibson, Debbie Matthews, Margo Ray, Curt Alderson, Rex Richardson, Bruce Long, Bruce Barnard, Rodney Thomas, Brad Simmons, Debbie Marlow, Steve Hadley, Bill Moore, Bobby Cook, Gwain Zarbuck, Norman Nielsen, Paul Cheek, Tom Martinie, Cary Hamilton, Bob Wolf, Randy Zehr, Dan Noel, Jeff Riehle, Larry Hill, Tom Swift, Cathy Travelstead, Toni Tabaka, Angela Berger. Back Row: Jeff Miller, Dale York, Dan Talbott, Glenn Tanner.

Mr. Dunscomb waits patiently for the percussion section to finish its solo.

Drum major, Pete DePauw, poses during half-time in his regalia.

1500 hours makes for winning Jazz Band music

Jazz Band was one of the few activities where students expressed their individuality and learned to work as a group.

This year they accomplished over 1,500 hours of practice outside of school, playing for various service clubs, at community functions, giving concerts and participating in Jazz Festivals.

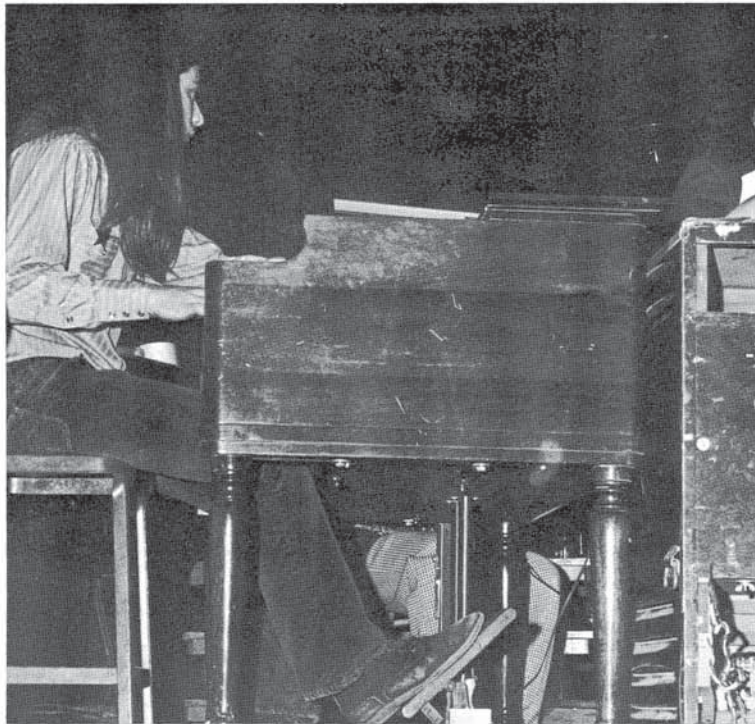

Awards and recognitions of '71 were: Chicago Jazz Festival, Superior I rating, "Best of Class" award; Eastern Illinois Jazz Festival, Superior I rating, "Best of Class" award; Illinois Music Educators Meeting, Clinic Band with Howie Smith; Illinois State University Jazz Festival, Guest Band with Stan Kento; American College Jazz Festival Guest Band.

Mr. Richard Dunscomb, director, received the honor of being named "Outstanding Band Director" at the Millikin University Jazz Festival.

Jim Wilson contributes the sound of his sax to the many solo performances.

John McDowell feels the beat and puts the organ to use at the "Central Jazz Festival."

The cymbals ring in contrast to Danny Phillips' low-pitched drums.

Don Atkins plays his trumpet boldly along with several other trumpeters.

Front Row: Gwain Zarbuck, Bob Cook, Larry Hill, Steve Hadley, Tom Swift, John McDowell, Clarence Hudson, Pam Cummings, Janny Phillips, Mr. Dunscomb. Second Row: Larry Hinton, Pete DePauw. Back Row: Bill

Amacher, Jim Gibson, Curt Alderson, Debbie Matthews, Marguerite Ray, Ruth Coggins, Luanne Lippold, Rex Richardson, Don Atkins, Dave VanDenBerg, Neal Heagle, Matt Stewart.

A Cappella gives local concerts and win awards

A Cappella had a second successful year with director, Mr. Donald Decker.

Performances this year included the Christmas, fall, winter and spring concerts, Senior Spring Musical and an Invitational Festival at Bloomington.

Once again they participated in the turtle drive to help pay tuition fees for tour. They also helped in picking up old phone books and delivering new ones.

They were named Outstanding Choir, received the Arion Award, plus various individual awards. Along with the excitement of their awards, they enjoyed the acclaim of their first record.

Front Row: Donna Richardson, Sandy Satterlee, Sherrill Johnson, Sheila McElwee, Clarence Hudson, Karl Broadrick. Second Row: Carol Langdon, Susie McDonald, Susan Benn, Heidi Musiala, Elaine Cattell, Kathy Murphy. Third Row: Sheree Springer, Ann

Higgins, Dawn Decker, Pam Cumming, Melinda Tate, Louis Kinnamon, Ken Simon. Back Row: Meredith Engert, Lu Doyl, Jennifer Butler, Greg Massanari, Frank D Atley, John Blackwell.

Front Row: Bruce Mast, Nancy Krolick, Marilyn Clapp, Francine Lessaris, Sandy Morgan, Arlayne Blackwell. Second Row: John Pingry, Nick Buffer, Pam Wilson, Karin Hayes, Kris Massanari, Tina Larson. Third Row: William Render, Neal Haegele, Mindy

Nygren, Joyce Council, Corinne Shirley, Su Ensrud, Debbie Jelly, Linda Hinton. Back Row: Jeff Morrill, Annette Merrill, Kris Levman, Sherry Moss, Jan Wehmer, Ann Raccliffe, Meg Hinton, Sybil Johnston.

Madrigals form Central's top musical talent

Experienced A Cappella members that had tried out and had been chosen formed the Madrigals which consisted of fourteen juniors and nine seniors.

The purpose of the Madrigals was to entertain at school concerts, and at various clubs and organizations in and out of town. Along with these credits the Madrigals accompanied the A Cappella choir in various concerts and helped record their first album.

All in all the Madrigals students represented the best musical talent that Central High School had to offer.

Front Row: Nancy Krolick, Sybil Johnston, Lu Doyle, Meredith Engert, Melinda Tate. Second Row: John

Pingry, Jeff Morrill, Frank DeAtley, Greg Massanari.

Front Row: Elaine Cattell, Jan Wehmer, Joyce Council, Mindy Nygren, Sheree Springer, Annette Merrill, Mimi Broadway. Second Row: Dawn Decker, Clarence Hudson, Louis Kinnamon, Kenneth Simons, Neal Haegle, Paul Edlefsen, Kathy Murphy.

Mixed Choir adds to holiday mood with concert

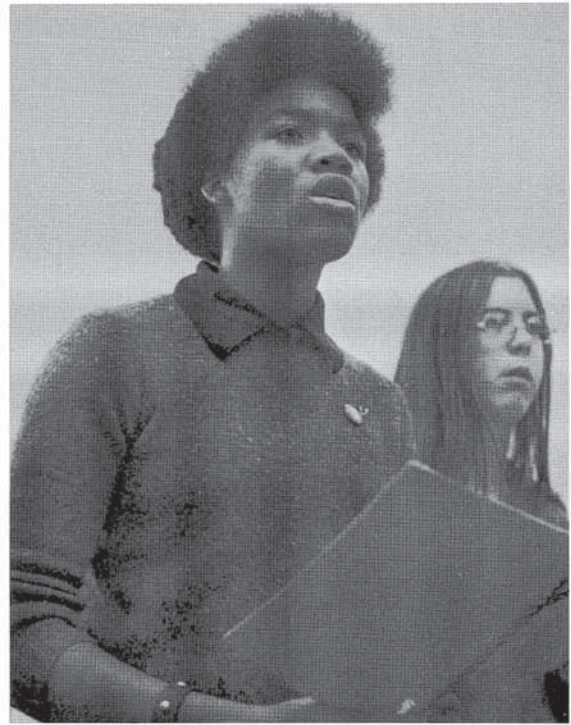

Between a Christmas Concert and Concert Tour, Mixed Choir was given much opportunity to perform. At their annual Christmas Concert, Mixed Choir filled the Little Theatre with Christmas Spirit. Excitement could always be found during third hour whether it was the choir practicing for a concert or making plans for going on tour. Under the direction of Mr. Decker choir members were given the opportunity to try out for mixed choir by singing a song and by sight reading.

Front Row: Connie Rathbun, Cynthia Mattox, Jo Tinkey, Rita Dunlap, Alan Due, John Stuff, Ed Nelson, Tim Shaw, Bill Annin, Debbie Parsons, Nancy Glenn, Marsha Holt. Second Row: Darlene Butts, Mary Hecker, Valerie

Render, Melinda Tate, Lu Doyle, Mike Miller, Kevin Sheahan, Jim Sheahan, Lisa Strohl, Phylis Sommerland, Donna Rivers, Janet Blanton, Cathi Sawtelle. Third Row: Debbie Cannon, Annette Brya, Nancy Spurgeon, Carol Norman, Janet Blanton and Cathi Sawtelle make full use of fifth hour music class.

Linda Herzog, Jeanne Brown, Bob Hunter, Jeff Morrill, Ida Motley, Marilyn Stuff, Debbie Terwilliger, Vicky Overman, Cathy Anderson.

Practice proves successful for sophomore choir

Music spirit was made strong this year with the help of the sophomore choir. Under the direction of Mr. Decker, sophomore girls worked hard to make their first year together a successful one. With a system of trial and error they earned the techniques of putting on a good show. After a year of everyday training during fourth hour, sophomore girls looked forward to future interest in A Cappella, Madrigals, and Mixed Choirs.

Under the direction of Mrs. PettyJohn the music student teacher, the sophomore choir joins in spreading spirit at the annual Christmas concert held in the Little Theatre.

Front Row: Donna Wilson, Lori Tate, Sonna Baker. Second Row: Kathy Corbett, Marsha Cruzan. Third Row: Debbie Kirby, Karen Butts, Theresa Brown. Fourth Row: Kathy Josefburg, Diane Meroney. Fifth Row: Sara Honn, Diane Butts, Richine Foote. Sixth Row: Darla Dees, Pat Kobel. Seventh Row:

Katrinka Steen, Terry Flynn, Linda Adams. Eighth Row: Janis Kmetz, Loretta Standefer. Ninth Row: Jane Kaczkowski, Rhonda Dowell, Jan Wehmer, Mary Murray. Tenth Row: Barb Drebes, Gail Glende, Rhonda Dawdy. Eleventh Row: Susie Schroeder, Mr. Decker, Sponsor.

Lori Tate shows deep concentration as she gives her first solo on Central's stage.

Sportsmen turn salesmen to finance video tape

Greg Massanari, president, presided over the C Club meetings with the help of Dan Pryor, vice-president, and Mike VanMatre, secretary-treasurer. The only requirement for membership in C Club was to have a varsity letter.

The C Club met during the activity period and discussed their money making project, the sale of CCHS decals and Basketball buttons to help pay for the video tape machine. The C Club also presented a football with all the players names on it to Coach Tom Stewart.

Kathy Simonton helps support C Club by purchasing a decal from two club members, Pat Murray and Tom Kaczowski.

Front Row: Karl Broadrick, Matthew Woodhead, Clay Robinson, Gary Berger, Greg Massanari, pres.; Jan South, Eric Graham, Steve Marikos. Second Row: Tim Leonberger, Corey Davis, Bob Britton, Ron Beldon, Benny Brown, Barc Klingel, Steve Palmer, John

Huston, Tim Wilson, Jim Petry, Bill Johnson. Third Row: Mr. Gene Ward, Marc Heimburger, Jim Gibson, Steve Malloch, Andy Beach, Mike Kelly, Mike Sullivan, Chase Leonhard, Scott Byerly, Mark Stevens, Mark Galbreath, Mike Lierman, Bill Westler. Back

Row: Lou Due, Randy Burwell, Frank DeAtley, Pat Murray, Dan Pryor, v-pres.; Mike VanMatre, sec.-treas.; Kent Seaman, Jim Cantrell, Howard Laidlaw, Mac Turner, Gar Gaither, Ken Bode, Mr. Jeff Trigger.

Front Row: Tim Leonberger, Pete Porter, Rich Korry, Dan LaRocque, John Bargh. Second Row: Pam Cummings, Marsha Cruzan, Margo Ray, Julie Storme, Sybil Johnston,

Diane Talbott, Kris Ensrud. Back Row: Joyce Council, Ginny Barthlow, Dexter Johnson, Jan Tuck.

Throat aids assist Forensic Squad to victory

Sybil Johnston and Tim Leonberger use their individual events experience in the fall play.

Probably Central's best customers for throat aids were the individual events squad members. These lozenges as well as extensive reading, research, and practice made for successful entries.

Perhaps when you walked by the debate room you noticed people behind stacks of books and magazines. Those people were members of the individual events team. They practiced 8 hours a week in order to prepare for stiff competition in the tournaments.

The squad competed and took honors at Bellville, Charleston and Normal, but they took top honors at Mattoon. In order to reach each tournament the members got up at 5 in the morning and kept going all day. This took a great amount of physical and mental energy.

Successful competition required training in dramatics and speech as well as the courage to win or lose.

"Silver and Roses" Tournament sponsored by NFL

The National Forensic League was an honorary nation-wide organization for sophomores, juniors, and seniors who were in the upper two thirds of their classes and participated in forensics events. These events included: Debate, Extempore Speaking, Original Oration, Dramatic and Humorous Interpretation, After-Dinner Speaking, Verse Reading, Original Monologue, Radio Reading, Prose Reading, Oratorical Declamation, and Duet Acting.

Central's chapter of NFL hosted a tournament, "Silver and Roses", for students from all over the state. Those people who scored well at these interscholastic tournaments were allowed to go on to District, Sectional and eventually the State Final Contest which took place in March.

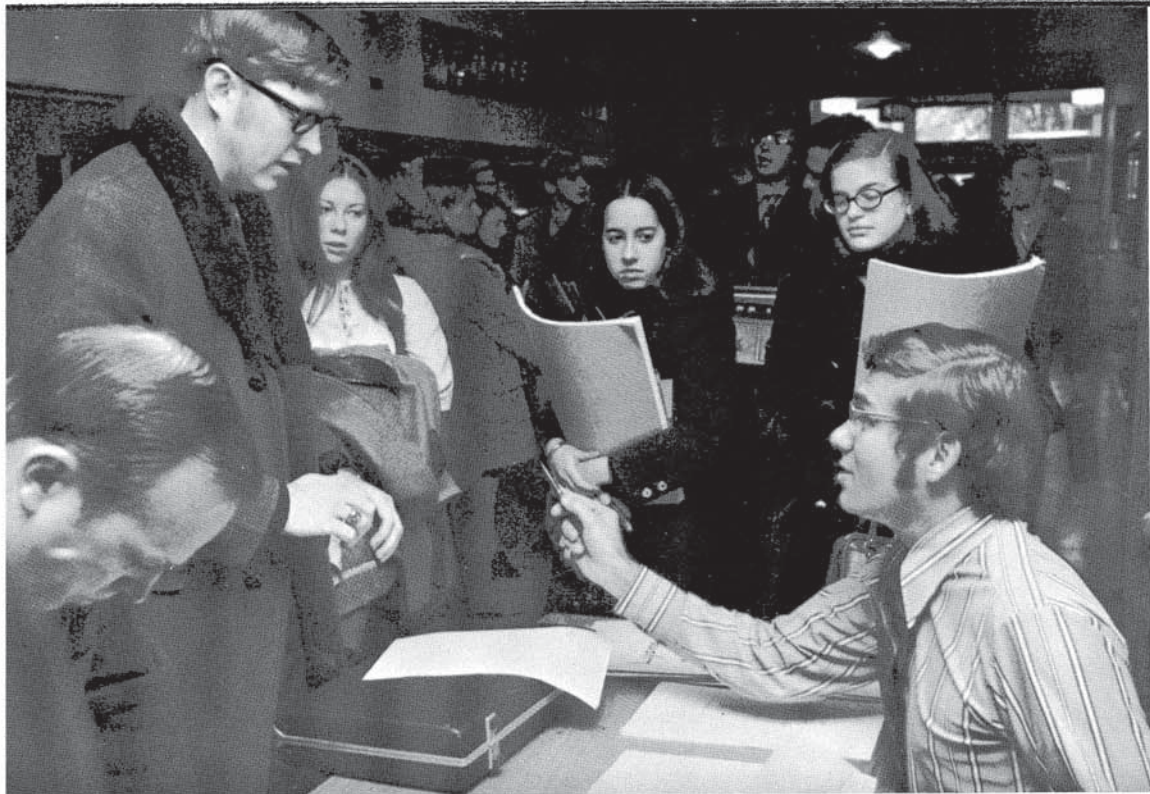

Pam Cummings and Assistant Coach Mrs. Maxey count ballots during a tournament.

Front Row: Melissa Breen, Debbie Cutright, Dan Larocque, mascot Oscar, Sara Honn, Page Johnson, Margo Ray, Pam Cummings. Second Row: Margaret Hickman, Jon Bauman, Kathy Trippiedi, Bobbi Hendrick, Sue Ensrud, Julie Storme, Karen Valentine, Sybil Johnston. Third Row: John Bargh, Amy Yount, Diane Talbott, Jan Tuck, Marsha Cruzan, Jan Anderson, Kris Ensrud, Anne Worner, Diane McDonald. Back Row: Richard Korry, Brad Simmons, Ginny Bartholow, Avery Grimes, Todd Tennant, Kent Dauten, Steve Katsinas, Jay Andrews.

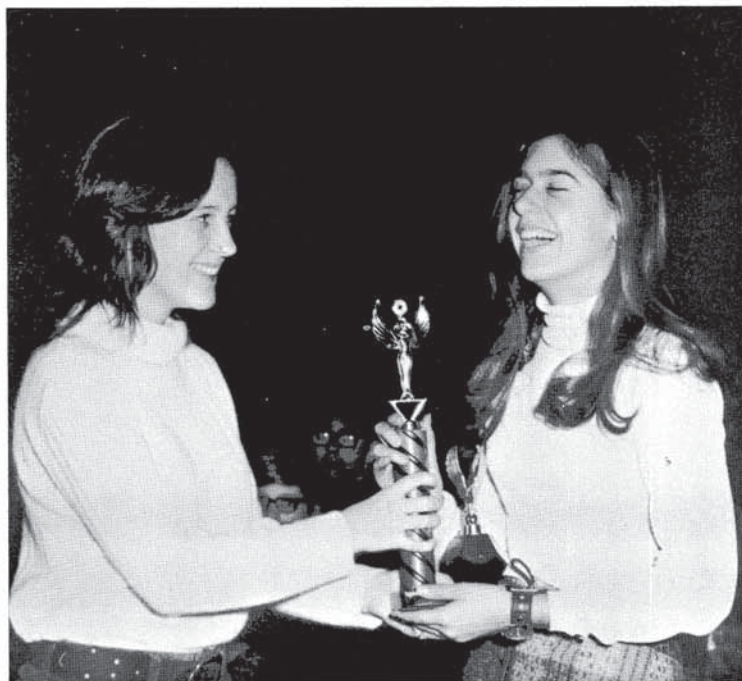

Mr. Steve Davis aids students from all over the state in registering for the annual debate tournament, Silver and Roses.

Senior Avery Grimes makes his point after referring to his evidence during a debate.

Kathy Trippiedi shows her obvious delight as she is awarded the second place speaker trophy at the Silver and Roses Debate Tournament by NFL senior Pam Cummings.

Debate squad wins 39 trophies in 1971 season

It is evident that with a record of thirty-nine trophies for 1971, the CCHS Debate team has been hard at work. Seventeen of these awards were for individual speakers. The other awards were for separate debate teams. Composed of two members, each debate team was classified in one of three categories: Novice (or first year debators), Junior Varsity, or Varsity.

Each debator debated both the affirmative and the negative side of their topic. This year's topic, which was chosen on a national level, was "Resolved: That the jury system in the United States should be significantly changed." The debators spent many hours at the University Law Library searching for evidence in the hopes that 1972 will prove to be as good a year for the CCHS debate squad as '71 was.

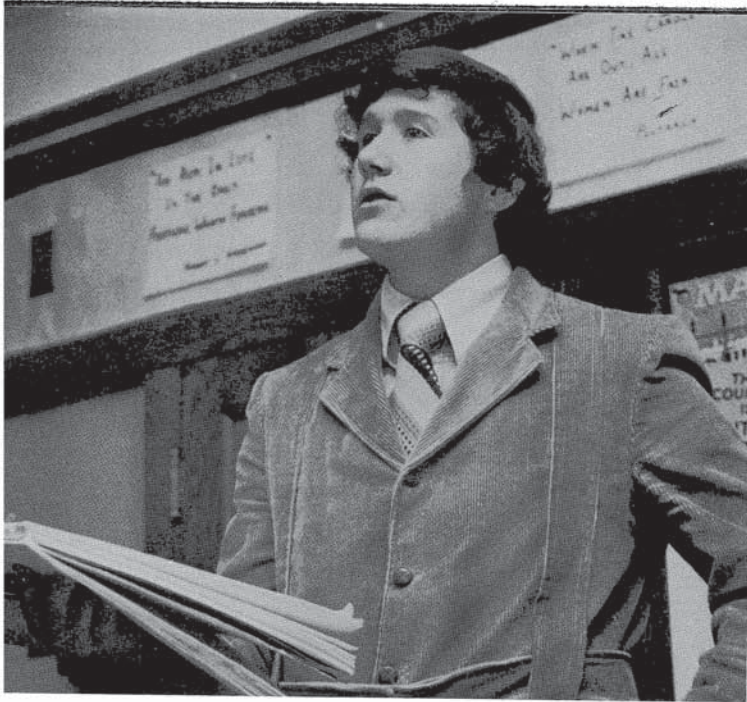

Sophomore Amy Yount looks over her notes to prepare herself for cross-examination.

Front Row: Jay Andrews, Melissa Breen, Avery Grimes. Second Row: Margaret Hickman, Karen Valentine, Marsha Cruzan, Bobbi Hendrick, Ginny Barthlow, Kathy Trippiedi, Sue Ensurd, Diane Talbott, Kent Dauten. Third Row: Amy Yount, Dexter Johnson,

Todd Tennant, Brad Simmons, Julie Storme, Diane McDonald, Jennifer Jones, Debbie Cutright, Page Johnson. Back Row: Anne Worner, Jon Bauman, Sara Honn, Steve Katsinas, Jan Anderson, Kris Ensrud.

Senior Todd Tennant uses his notes to present an effective cross-examination.

Debate debaters Bobbi Hendrick and Jonman confer at a debate meet.

Julie Storme and her partner Kathy Trippiedi compile evidence on notecards which they will file and later use in preparing for their next debate tournament.

Junior leaders learn, participate, officiate

Learning to lead exercises, officiate in sports, as well as participate in them are among the duties of the Junior Gym Leaders. These girls had to apply, be interviewed, and be accepted during their sophomore year in order to be in the advanced gym leading course which meets during second period.

Each leader was trained in all 36 activities offered by the physical education department and was tested in each of these. The girls were required to maintain a C average and knowledge of each of the 36 sports in order to become a full leader their senior year.

A lonely pair of shoes waiting for its lost leader, is a typical sight to see in the middle of the girls gym floor.

Mrs. Miller commands, "on your knees, hand at your waist, now bend back," and junior leader Margaret Hickman obeys.

Front Row: Lisa Strohl, Debbie Cannon, Cynthia Mattox, Marsha Holt, Linda Lewis, Phylis Sommerlad, Connie Rathbun, Pam Moore, Karen Whipple, Michelle Koster, Lisa Johnson. Second Row: Ann Higgins, Margaret

Hickman, Debbie Matthews, Jerry Webber, Darlene Butts, Kris Massanari, Cathy Hallbick, Kathy Doran, Jo Tinkey. Third Row: Tracy Brinkmeyer Sherrill Johnson, Sheree Springer, Ida Motley, Mindy Nygren, Karin Hayes, Kathy Cooper, Mary Hecker, Cath Trippiedi. Back Row: Vicki Overman, G. Filkin, Debbie Parsons, Joann McFarlan Meg Hinton, Linda Weberg, Lisa Dahl, St Cordes, Anna Schroeder, Mrs. Miller.

Debbie Parsons and Gail Filkin study the rules for their final in basketball officiating.

Running in place, Kris Massanari counts, "31, 32 . . . oh, I'll never make 50 . . . 35."

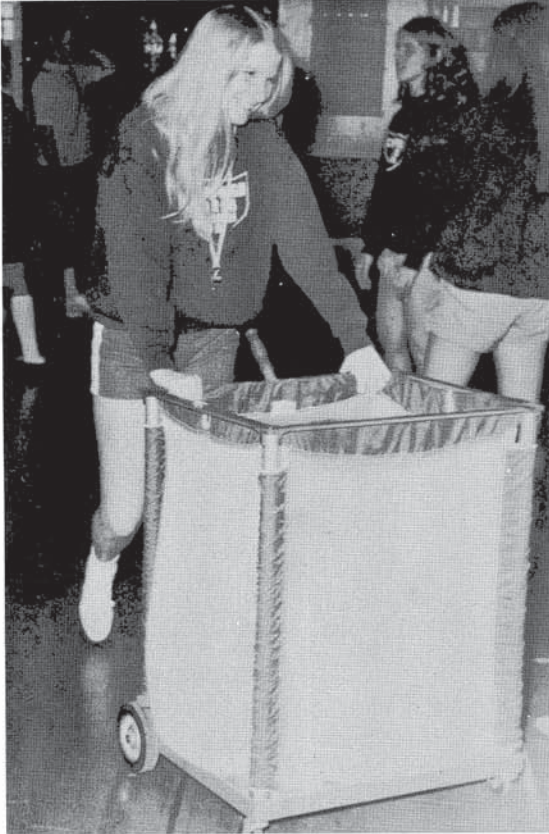

Junior leaders Jo Tinkey, Kerry Webber, Debbie Parsons, Karen Whipple, and Anna Schroeder do jumping jacks to warm up.

Senior gym leaders clean, referee, organize

Senior leader, Sue Haley, as one of her duties, passes out basketballs to her class.

Marilyn Stuff displays one of the main duties in senior leadership, taking roll.

Linda McMahon, Patti Scherer, and Susie Graham get things straight with the official and Miss Rasmussen about the timing and scoring of the All Star Basketball game.

"The cream of the crop," is what Mrs. Dorothy Miller calls her senior gym leaders, who perform various activities to help the P.E. department as a whole. First, they help the gym teachers by taking roll, helping to officiate, putting out towels, making sure everyone takes a shower, keeping the locker room clean, picking each gym awardee of the month, and second, they are responsible for running intramural volleyball and basketball. The success of these events depends upon the senior leaders. This year the girls did a good job and each event was a success.

Besides the work above, senior leaders were required to earn a letter for being in senior leadership. They earned points towards a letter by helping with pop bottle drives, contributing to bake sales, typing, and cleaning the gym for the school year.

Gym leading provided a preview of physical education as a career, and in the spring, senior leaders were given an opportunity to go to various grade schools and student teach. Senior leading provided much experience in leadership and taught responsibility, as well as giving a place to belong.

Senior Leaders Nancy Paterson, Diane Morgan, Kathie Tufte, and Debbie Cutright cheer on CeCe Ryan as they wait their turn to play in one of the All Star Volleyball games.

Front Row: Karen Christie, Jerri Lingner, Arlayne Blackwell, Mary Sawyer, Melinda Tate, Susan Benn, Teresa Francis, Ellen Good, Nancy Goller, Marilyn Stuff, Karen Lowry, Vicki Hartman, Kathy Wilson, Sue Haley. Second Row: Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Sherry Moss,

Sandy Burnett, Linda McMahon, Mary Leonberger, Diane Talbott, Karen Street, CeCe Ryan, Susie Graham, Corinne Shirley, Diane Morgan, Debbie Schaudt, Donna Tanner. Back Row: Joan Frisbee, Nancy Paterson, Sandy Morgan, Barb Bonnell, Debbie Cut-

right, Patti Scherer, Carol Newman, Cindy Morgan, Sarah Cottrell, Connie Pece, Kathie Tufte, Georgia Vriner, Ann McCulley, Becky Plotner.

Pepettes assist in school spirit for sports fans

Backing the Maroons with loads of spirit were the Pepettes, made up of Senior girls. During football season the Pepettes went to McKinley Field at 8:00 a. m. to practice with the Marching Maroons. All the girls took first hour P. E. and it was used as a practice and business meeting session.

These girls performed along with the cheerleaders at school activities, such as football and basketball halftimes, band concerts, and pep assemblies.

For three days in August a group of seven Pepettes and their sponsor, Miss Karen Rasmussen, visited a camp at Augustana College in Rock Island. They brought back new ideas and outlines that were used during the year.

Miss Rasmussen shows how early it is as she watches the Pepettes practice with the band one fall morning at McKinley Field.

Pepette Sandy Morgan waits for the announcement of Homecoming queen while around her, fellow Pepettes cheer wildly.

Pepettes perform at a pep assembly to raise spirit before the Champaign-Urbana clash.

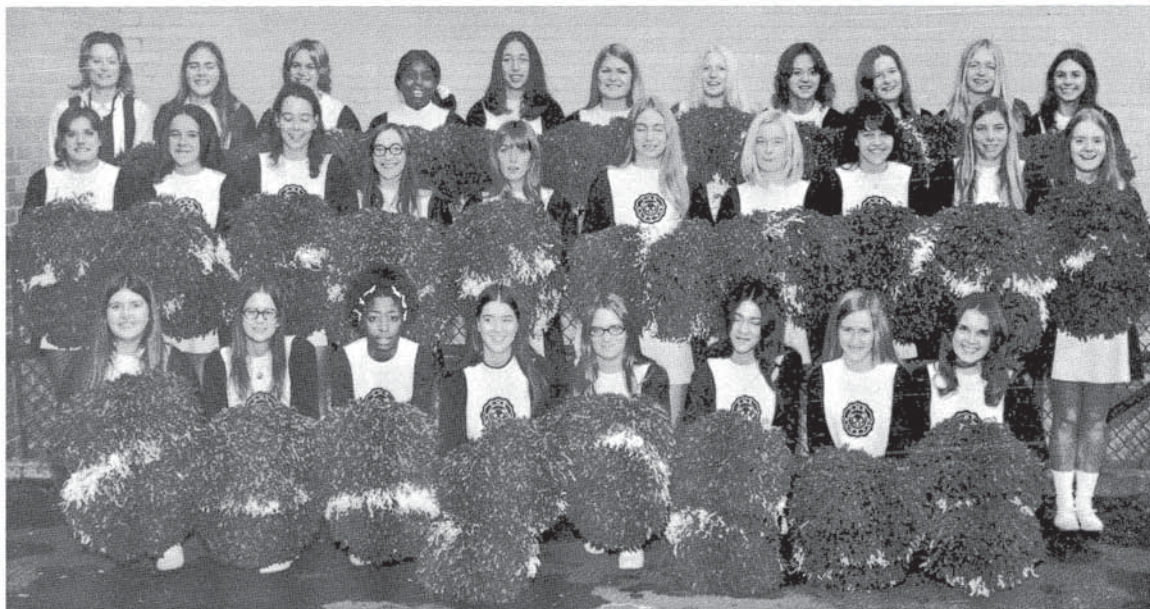

Susie "Homemaker" Haley, a member of the Pepettes, makes cupcakes to deliver to the football team to wish them good luck in their first home game against Streator.

Front Row: Mary Leonberger, Mary Sawyer, Kathy Wilson, Kathie Tufte, Susie Graham, Katie Barenberg, Sue Ensrud, Marilyn Stuff.
Second Row: Joan Frisbee, Denise Stanley,

Karen Christie, Sally Shaw, Patti Scherer, Corinne Shirley, Sandy Morgan, Sharon Lofton, Susie McDonald, Carol Langdon.
Back Row: Miss Rassmussen, sponsor;

Meredith Engert, Anne Radcliffe, Carlita Davis, Linda McMahon, Joyce Donovan, Sue Haley, Susie Vaughn, Ellen Good, Kathy Burtis, Barb Bonnell.

Ability plus hard work equals successful squad

The beaming smiles and enthusiastic pep of the cheerleaders encouraged crowds to cheer their loudest during the 1971-72 school year. The varsity squad consisted of nine cheerleaders and one mascot. They were chosen in the spring of 1971 and judged on their spirit, ability, and citizenship.

The CCHS cheerleading squad performed with the Urbana squad, and hosted dinners for each other before the twin-city games.

Many long and tedious hours were spent in preparation for the games, and the cheerleaders' efforts paid off.

Allison Widloski, the little mascot, proves to be as peppy as her older sister, LuAnn.

It was the cheerleaders' responsibility to collect the money for the away bus trips this year, and here Sherry Moss and CeCe Ryan collect money for the bus to Mattoon.

Top to Bottom: Nancy Paterson, Max Maaron-Captain; Reba Green, Donna Tanner, Lora Parrish, LuAnn Widloski, Sandy Stahl, CeCe Ryan, Sarah Cottrell, Sherry Moss, and Cynthia Mattox.

Max Maroon, Nancy Paterson, goes airborne or a few seconds while doing an aerial cartwheel during the Champaign-Urbana game.

All the basketball players and cheerleaders kissed their mothers during mother's night before the Champaign-Urbana basketball game, and here, Sherry Moss shows her surprise at being kissed on the cheek by Miss Rasmussen, the cheerleading sponsor.

Sophomore Cheerleaders spur team to victory

Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:15 always found six dedicated cheerleaders practicing their hardest for the coming weekend games which began at 6:30 followed by the varsity games. These girls who promoted spirit were chosen in the fall of their sophomore years. Many exciting events, such as the Champaign Urbana Sophomore dinner, added to their fine season.

Tina Demerise and Terri Flynn cheer the Maroons to victory during a three-minute overtime game against Rantoul.

Clockwise: Marty Vance, Brenda Ohles, Terri Flynn, Karen Valentine, Mary Paterson, and Tina Demerise.

At practice, Marty Vance learns a new cheer to be performed at the game.

Student Council helps to better school activities

Meeting four times a week during sixth hour, having business meetings once a week, and having money-making projects such as their curb painting and pop bottle drive were a few of the tasks of Student Council and Election Board. One member, Traci Nally, attended a summer leadership camp in Chile, Colorado. During her week's stay, she learned about problems that her Student Council might face. In council, there are five minor and three major committees working for the benefit of Champaign Central High School.

Election Board: Front Row: Debbie Mathews, Cindy Morgan. Second Row: Meredith Engert, Patti Scherer, Mary Hecker. Back Row: Gail Filkin, Corrine Shirley, Vicki Overman.

Front Row: Traci Nally, Sec.; John Stuff, Traci Brinkmeyer, Stephanie Morgan. Second Row: Sara Honn, Connie Moore, Nancy Crowell, Jim Wilson, Vice-Pres. Third Row: Debbie Cutright, Jeff Newman, Cecil Angel, Kathy Wilson. Fourth Row: Tim Leonberger, Rec. Sec.; Carlita Davis, Marty Vance, Donna Tanner. Fifth Row: Steve Kircher, Pres.; Andy Beach, Parl.; Mary Hecker, Sue Cordes. Sixth Row: Greg Massanari, Treas.; Gail Filkin, Danny Pryor, Stephen Thilen. Back Row: Kent Dauten, Barry Sholem, Mike Marrisos, Mr. Shifflet, Club Sponsor.

